THE NEW SENATORS

The appointment of Messrs. Costigan and Gillmor to the senate vacancies has been so persistently foreboded in the Ottawa despatches that the event occasions no surprise. Nor was the appointment of Hon. George W. Ross of Ontario unexpected. It will be noted that both the Ontario men, Ross and Beith, are of Scotch parentage. Mr. Beith is a farmer and an importer of thoroughbred horses, and sat in the house of commons for nine years, 1891-1899 as the successor to Hon. Edward Blake. In 1900 he was defeated, but was re-elected in the by-election in 1902. The Hon. George W. Ross has been since the defeat of the opposition in the Ontario legislature, but for some time past there has been much talk in the Toronto press regarding a possible successor. Such an one must now be found. The new appointments bring to the senate two men of very long parliamentary experience—Messrs. Ross and Costigan. Mr. Gillmor has yet to prove his mettle as a legislator. It has been said that New Brunswick should have a larger representation in the senate by men who actually live in the province. The new appointments do not remove this cause of complaint, if so it may be termed.

THE TARIFF

Toucing tariff matters, the Montreal Shareholder observes:—

"Strong representations have been made to the finance minister, by those whose interests are affected, with a view to obtain increased protection, and some changes will be made where justice has been unjustifiably done, but otherwise the government measure as introduced will be enacted. The manufacturers are filled with orders, so much so that they are unable to meet the requirements of the country. Under such circumstances, it is in the interest of the consumers that the duties on goods imported to meet the circumstances under which the tariff is being made should be such as will not press unduly upon the consumers, and should be such as will meet the revenue requirements of the country. The tariff commission has acquired a valuable amount of information bearing upon all matters connected with the industrial and other situations of the country, and is fully understood not only what there is needed but what will be advantageous. The different interests which were heard by the commission will now speak through their representatives in the house. The discussion should be freed entirely from political bias and should have as its aim the enactment of a tariff which will confer the greatest good upon the greatest number."

FOR STOUT GENTLEMEN

From Notre Dame, Indiana, comes a welcome reminder of an old friend. The Rev. A. B. O'Neill, C. S. C., formerly of St. Joseph's University, but now assistant editor of The Ave Maria, published in Notre Dame, one wrote for a college journal a bright and breezy treatise entitled, "Trying a Fall with Obesity," taking for his text the line from Thompson: "A bard here dwelt, more fat than bard becomen." This treatise has now been issued in pamphlet form with an introduction by the author, who commends it to all, but "especially to persons oppressed with an abnormal weight of superfluous adipose matter." "Let such as these," he says, "walk in our author's footsteps, and they will soon be relieved of their burden."

The essay is written in colloquial style, and describes the (then) corpulent author, "somewhat arduous, progressively enjoyable, and measurably successful half-year's campaign against the world, the flesh and the devil—the world of totally unsympathetic, not to say cynical and scoffing, onlookers; the flesh that comes with unweelcome superabundance to most middle-aged folk in sedentary professions; and the 'hoon-day' devil of whom the Psalmist makes special mention, the particular infernal fiend who tempts to gluttonous over-indulgence and subsequent slothful ease, to physical inertia and mental vacuity."

With this racy introduction the author sets forth with scientific accuracy the dangers as well as discomforts of too much flesh; tells of his own awakening to a realizing sense of the fact that 200 pounds was too much weight for a man five feet six and a half inches tall; and of the measures by which he reduced his weight to 154 pounds, with great joy and comfort to himself. It was largely a matter of daily long walks, hot baths and careful diet. All this is most entertainingly forth, with colloquial touches that appeal to the underling mind, and in a vein of humor that is very delightful.

The writer of this review remembers with keen pleasure a voyage some years ago from Liverpool to Rimouski, with Rev. Father O'Neill as a fellow-passenger. The latter was the "chaplain" of a group of Canadian students, who were on a voyage. Dr. Patrick was also a passenger. Father O'Neill was returning from a summer jaunt in Europe, to his labors at St. Joseph's, and he was one of the entertainers at the customary concert given on the steamer before her arrival in the St. Lawrence, reciting a metrical composition from his own clever pen. And so, this treatise, though the recipient has not been able, in the course of a varied journalistic career, to accumulate too much of anything but experience, is as welcome as if he had converted that experience into superfluous adipose tissue.

With the new steamship berth, the age enquiry, the new armory, the new Y. M. C. A. building, the talk resulting from some real estate transactions, and sundry other matters of general interest the year has opened in St. John with promise of notable developments from the standpoint of civic betterment before its close. The citizens are hopeful and there is a healthier feeling abroad.

The trouble between church and state is becoming acute in Spain as well as in France. The general situation presents hitherto unexpected difficulties. The pope describes it as "war between the clergy and hell," and "a tremendous conflict against the church," and appeals to the Catholic world to remain firm in its faith and sympathy in this trying time.

Now that the senatorships are removed from the list of possibilities the governorship may be considered. Is the globe about to nominate Premier Tweedie?

Mr. Andrew Allan agrees with Mr. Arthur Piers that the proposal to have a fast Atlantic service via Black Bay, in Ireland, is impracticable. It would involve too many transfers en route.

There is perhaps no topic of such universal interest in Halifax at present as the tides in St. John harbor. These tides, it may be pointed out, are very useful. They prevent the formation of ice.

Fredericton has now become the centre of interest in the Tenymson Smith campaign, and a lively time seems to be assured.

SLOT MACHINES SEIZED

People off Chelsea Mich. Revolted Against Gambling Devices in Saloons.

CHELSEA, Mich., Jan. 12.—State treasurer, Frank P. Glazier, who is president of this village, with the city marshal and a deputy sheriff, today headed a party of 200 molders from Mr. Glazier's stove factory, in a raid on the eight saloons of the village to secure all the slot machines operated in them. A total of fourteen machines were captured and carried to the village square. Then, under the direction of his father, Harold Glazier attacked the machines with a sledge and broke them to pieces. The debris was burned.

SACKVILLE

SACKVILLE, Jan. 11.—The marriage of Miss Janet Brownell, of Bain Verte, and John R. Maxwell, of Glace Bay, Sydney, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brownell, on Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.; Rev. J. H. Brownell was the officiating clergyman. The bride looked charming in a becoming dress of cream tulle, with lace trimmings. She wore the conventional bridal veil, and was given in marriage by her father. Miss Agnes Prescott played the wedding march. The parlors were tastefully decorated for the event and presented an attractive appearance. After the ceremony and congratulations a bountiful luncheon was served after which the happy couple took the train for their future home in Sydney, amid showers of rice and good wishes. The bride was the recipient of many elegant presents including cut glass, silver, etc.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, of the Midway, the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday evening, when their daughter, Alice Maude, was united in marriage to Wm. Johnston. Rev. J. L. Dawson tied the nuptial knot in the presence of a large number of guests. The bride was becomingly gowned in white tulle, and was unattending to the ceremony a wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will reside at Cadman's Corner.

A. F. Tomlin, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Port Elgin; Mrs. Tomlin and daughter, were in town today en route from Cambridge.

R. C. Williams, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Sackville, and Mrs. Williams, have returned from a pleasant visit to P. E. Island.

Lebanon Lodge, F. and A. M., were entertained at Sackville restaurant last evening by Stewart Campbell and E. A. Wilson. After a delicious oyster stew had been dispensed, speeches were in order. Among the speakers were Messrs. Goodwin, Turner, Jordan, Wilson and P. B. Black. The singing of Anld Lang Syne brought the pleasant gathering to a close.

Westmorland parish school convention was recently held at Point de Bute. Field Secretary, Rev. J. B. Ganong, was present and gave some valuable suggestions. Rev. R. J. Colpitts gave an interesting address. The officers of the association for the ensuing year were elected, resulting as follows: President, Frank Trueman; vice-president, Leonard Goodwin; secretary, Grace Carter; additional members of the executive, Bushy Oulton, Joseph Dixon and Howard Trueman.

QUEEN'S ROLLAWAY

At the Queen's Rollaway there is a band tonight. Tomorrow night is "Ladies' night," and Wednesday night, between the 5th and 6th bands there will be a 40 yards dash between O'Neill of the St. Peter's Society and Small, of the St. Peter's Society. These two men raced in the St. Andrew's Bink a few weeks ago, but the ending was rather unsatisfactory and since then the friends of both have been arguing as to which is the best man. In order that there will be no chance for criticism, as in the previous race, "alleys" will be run the entire length, and as the Queen's Rollaway is about 85 yards in length there will be ample room to finish, and the question of superiority should be settled Wednesday night.

THE GREAT DIVIDE

At last, at last, O Great Divide, born strong of the will of the strong New World. We about to the summit with the shafts of morn, To the top-most peak where the clouds are curled, Below in the splendor of the sun-clad seas. A kiss of welcome on the warm West breeze blows up with a smile of the fragrant pine. And a faint sweet fragrance from the far-off sea. —Joanna Miller.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

THE MOTOR BOGGY. "Why are you teaching your little boy to count already? Surely he is much too young for that yet." "Oh, no, he isn't; I am teaching him so that he can take the number of a motor car if one runs over him."

SUPERSTITIOUS.

Wife—Aren't you ashamed to come home like this at 2 o'clock in the morning? Husband—Don't be cross, dear, I really couldn't help it. We were unfortunately at a table, and nobody wanted to be the first to go.

EXPECTED TOO MUCH.

Warden (to female prisoner sentenced to death)—Is there anything else you would like to have? Prisoner—Yes, I would like my execution dress to be made by Worth.

QUITE ENOUGH TO DO.

Benevolent Gent (to beggar)—Why don't you work? Beggar—I've quite enough to do begging all day. It leaves no time for work.

QUITE ANOTHER STUD.

"Browne must be very well off. You should hear him talking about his racing stud!" "Not at all, old chap. He means the stud that rolls under his dressing table and causes him to race for his morning train."—Ally Sloper's Hall Holiday.

WHAT HE WANTED.

Customer—Have you any white outing flannel suits on hand? Tailor—Yes, but great Scott, man, this isn't summer! Customer—I know it isn't, but the weather man is predicting a cold wave.—Florida Times-Union.

ANOTHER GOOD TIME AT EVERY DAY CLUB

Saturday Night's Programme Most Enjoyable—Temperature Meeting Last Night.

The Every Day Club continues to grow in popularity at a rapid rate and the efforts of the committee to provide comfortable rooms and good food for the men of the city are being fully appreciated. On Saturday evening the attendance was larger than on any previous evening, and every seat in the large hall was occupied by men who heartily enjoyed themselves. The club there will be a brief entertainment and committees will be appointed for carrying on the work which has been so well begun.

One of the best features of the programme Saturday night was the physical drill exhibition given by some of the members of the Scotch Company Boys Brigade, under command of Col. Buchanan. The floor space was rather circumscribed, but the lads moved in perfect union and were rewarded with generous applause. A large part of the numbers on the programme were Scotch. H. V. McKinnon played a fine selection of Scotch airs on the piano. Ald. Baxter gave a Scotch reading and Rev. L. A. McLean sang Will Ye No Come Back Again, and Annie Lawrie, in excellent style. Rupert E. Walker also gave a fine reading.

After the programme, the boys gathered round the piano and held a sing song. The reading and game room was well filled with men during the evening who appeared fully delighted with the things provided for their entertainment.

Mayor Sears presided at the very interesting temperance meeting held from 8:30 until 9:30 in the hall of the Every Day Club last evening, the first of a series of such Sunday evening meetings.

There were people present from various churches, and the large number of young men was commented on by the chairman and speakers.

His Worship led the meeting in the Lord's Prayer, after which he delivered a very interesting brief address. Then the audience sang Onward Christian Soldiers, and Mrs. R. T. Worden sang Just For Today.

Robert Maxwell, M. P. P., was the speaker of the evening, and delivered out of his own knowledge and experience of life of men a most impressive and eloquent appeal for total abstinence, and for sympathy with the man who is down.

Miss Edwards sang a sacred solo, and A. M. Holding, speaking on behalf of the Every Day Club, referred to some criticisms, and asked that those connected with the club be given a fair chance to work out their problem in their own way.

Mayor Sears referred in kindly terms to Rev. A. B. Coho, who was present, and asked him to say a few words. Mr. Coho spoke of the great opportunity for work to help men, which the Every Day Club affords. The meeting closed with the singing of the doxology. Mrs. Coho played the accompaniment for the music rendered during the meeting.

A COMEDY BILL AT KEITH'S. This week's bill at St. John's popular vaudeville theatre is advertised as one of the best, special attention having been given in its selection to comedy, singing, dancing and instrumental work. This change, from a period of the mysterious and the psychic, which was provided last week, to the other extreme of light amusement, is all a part of the Keith entertainment scheme to ascertain as far as possible the tastes and wishes of their patrons.
