Miles and Miles of Smiles

Have you ever stopped to think that others see you as you see them. This is hard to do when driving; but next time you're out for a spin, just "take in" the motorists you meet. If you think they wear "funny" expressions, remember, you may look "funny" yourself. These motorists wear faces to suit their moods, and so do you.

There's the man whose expression spells despair. Have you stopped to consider the strain the poor fellow is under? He is constantly in dread of his tires failing him. "Poor chap," you say. "He looks aged with worry."

Then there's the man with the smiles. Lots of them, miles of them. HE KNOWS that whatever place he starts for, his tires will take him there and back without trouble. Ask him what tires he uses—"Maltese Cross," he says.

Every mile is a mile of smiles for the motorist who uses Maltese Cross Tires.

AT THE TRIAL

Down in Maryland Rastus sat through the trial without paying a cent of attention to the arguments of the prosecuting attorney, or to his own defence, for that matter, and was "miles away" so to speak. The judge wanted to be easy on the old man, for it was his first offence, and during the course of the argument, while the old man was dreaming away, unmindful of what was going on around him, the judge asked: "Rastus, do you drink?" Rastus immediately was all attention. "Judge," said he, "can I ax you is dat an inquiry or an invitation?" Another pop-eyed negro on the witness stand had been content during his examination in chief to answer "Yes" or "No" to all questions, but a controversy now arose between his lawyer and the lawyer for the other side. Wide-eyed, he listened while they hurled long, jaw-breaking words and impressive-sounding Latin phrases back and forth between them. The opposing counsel turned to him suddenly. "Gabe," he demanded, "you have followed carefully this intricate discussion touching on the various aspects of medical jurisprudence involved in the issue we have here before us for adjudication, and in view of that I now desire to know whether you do or do not find your evidence still coincides with the theory advanced by my learned brother?" The witness cast a triumphant side glance at his own attorney. Then he puffed out his lips and his chest. "Most doubtless!" he answered.

Whatever You Do Don't Neglect Your Eyes, Says Dr. Lewis, Who Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50% in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes more eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used to say: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

BAD NAUHEIM

COULDN'T BE MUCH WORSE

Gambling in Germany is Reported Entering Into "Plunger" Stage Now

Frankfurt-on-Main, Aug. 16.—Gambling is on the increase throughout Germany to an alarming extent, according to German newspapers. This is said to be due partly to the high living of individuals who made fortunes during the war by government contracts or otherwise. At Bad Nauheim three gambling houses have been running day and night for some time and the German newspapers refer to the place as a second Monte Carlo.

The Frankfurter Zeitung says:—"The demoralizing effect of the three gambling resorts erected in Bad Nauheim during the period of the soldiers' council is now seen in its grossest form. Following the scene of a week ago when a summer guest threw his revolver in the centre of the gambling hall at the Villa Heilmann after losing 80,000 marks in an hour, another guest said to be from Frankfurt, was found murdered in one of the parks. The investigating committee summoned from Gies-sen ascertained that the murder had been committed by a thief; the murdered man had won 70,000 marks at the "Club 1919" in the Grand Hotel on the night he was killed. On the way to his quarters he was shot in the back and all his money stolen.

"At the Bristol hotel it is said that a German woman recently lost 85,000 marks by gambling and could not pay her hotel bill, so she was obliged to auction her clothing and valuables. Another man from Frankfurt lost fifty thousand marks one Sunday afternoon at the Villa Heilmann, and a few days before another guest lost as much as 700,000 marks."

BRINGS ROBES OF PRIEST OF THEBES

Egyptian Relics Dating Back 700 B. C. Given to New York Museum

New York, August 16.—Some of the personal effects of Pedu Bost, mayor and chief priest of Thebes, Egypt, about 700 B. C., arrived today on the Duca d'Aosta, consigned to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The jewels and robes of this ancient Egyptian were uncovered by Ambrose Lansing of 153 East Eighty-eighth street, who is associated with the Egyptian Art Department of the Museum, and who has been excavating for more than a year.

Mr. Lansing returned on the ship. He said he had brought out a few of the things for the Egyptian collection which he found. Most of the relics were left in Italy until arrangements can be made to bring them to the United States.

Mr. Lansing said an interesting discovery of his excavations was that ghasts existed in ancient Egypt, as well as in more modern times. When he uncovered the grave of Pedu Bost, at a depth of forty feet, he found evidences that grave robbers had broken way into the tomb, apparently soon after the death of the Theban official, and had carried away some of his jewels and robes of office.

"I imagine they were frightened off before they were through, as we found many rare relics," Mr. Lansing said. "The excavating in Thebes, which is now known as Luxor, was most interesting. We found from inscriptions on the mayor's tomb which we deciphered that Anneris, whom opens lovers regard as the queen in Adia, was the real queen of Upper Egypt when Mayor Pedu Bost died."

MENNONITES MUST OBEY SCHOOL LAW

Manitoba Court Declares Sect Has No Special Rights—Province is Supreme

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—Mennonites in the province of Manitoba have no educational privileges not extended to all citizens, according to a judgment handed down today by the Manitoba court of appeal. The rights which the Mennonites have heretofore claimed, to educate their children as they pleased, are based on "authority" from the federal government given in 1873, which the court declares are beyond the power of parliament to confer.

The court refused an application for permission to carry an appeal from this decision over the supreme court of Canada to the privy council, holding that the matter was so clear to the minds of the members of the court that they did not feel that they should interfere with the usual course of appeal. The matter came before the court by way of appeal from a conviction of John Hildebrand and Dedrick Doerkson, by Magistrate Milne at Morden on July 17.

By the judgment the court decides that the government intended to give the Mennonites, as they claim, the right to their own schools, but that even if this had been done the dominion government would have no such power, as the province of Manitoba has the exclusive right to deal with matters pertaining to education. It is therefore held that the government of Manitoba had the right to pass the school attendance act. It is further decided by the judgment that the school attendance act is binding on the Mennonites and that they must attend the schools in accordance with the terms of the law. The court, by its judgment, further holds that even if the dominion government had passed a statute giving the Mennonites the right that they claim, that such an act would be beyond the power of the parliament, and in no way interfere with the rights of the province of Manitoba to deal with educational matters as it had done.

A souvenir friend appears to have been discovered by the Windsor Magazine which reports: "She held out her hand and the young man took it and departed."

SOLDIERS WELL FED.

At the Red Triangle in Charlotte street more than 3,000 meals were served to the visiting soldiers and last night the fifty beds were all occupied. Under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Young, the ladies of the West Side did wonderfully well in the way of serving meals in quick succession. Under the supervision of Mrs. J. W. V. Lawlor, the Women's Institute in Union street served some 650 meals and the doors of the Institute were open for the recreation of the men during the afternoon. At the other lunch stations generous provision was made also for the men.

DURING the last few years people have had to be content with many lines of goods that were inferior in quality to those procurable before the war.

To-day, people are demanding the better grades again. Those who from a mistaken idea of economy tried to be satisfied with common teas are coming back to Red Rose Tea. They realize that they cannot be satisfied with anything less than Red Rose Quality.

And Red Rose probably will cost them no more than common tea, because Red Rose not only tastes better—it goes farther.

Consisting chiefly of Assam teas—the richest and strongest grown—three teaspoonfuls of Red Rose goes as far as five of ordinary tea. A brewing will prove it.

Sold only in sealed packages.
