BASEBALL Local Notes. D. Jones, of the Boston National League Club, has re-named played in the 1913 season. He is going for the Boston Rock after his suspension.

The Toronto ball team players in the northern squad. P. Dwyer, Maxwell, Udolph, Lash, Herbert, (Ottawa), Kibler, (St. John), Hearn, (Central), Bregman, (Col.), Dube, (College), Tompkins, (Col.).

Herbert was last year with Ottawa. He promises to make a great center. He has been in the home team since last season but he developed better curve ball earlier in the season than the big league scouts came to Canada to look him over. He has mastered control, a nice fast ball, and a knuckle ball that fades away like Christy Mathewson's famous heater.

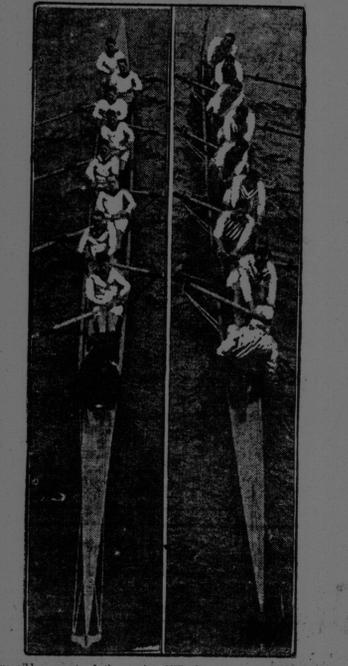

Spokane, Wash., March 18.—Governor Ernest Lister of Washington has accepted an invitation extended by an organization of 1,000 Spokane baseball fans to open locally the 1913 Northwest league season.

THE OXFORD-CAMBRIDGE RACE

The blue ribbon event of the rowing world, the Oxford-Cambridge boat race, was held on March 19, on the historic bit of water, the River Thames, between Putney and Mortlake.

Annually since 1829, the dark and light blue have tested their own and each other's mettle over the four and one-quarter miles of water and in the 38 of the contest Oxford has flashed home in front, saw Oxford leading by six lengths at the light blue won 30 times, and once, in 1877, they rowed a dead heat.

Badger State Produces High Class Middle Weights

By TOM ANDREWS The Badger state seems to have jumped to the front all of a sudden in the middleweight line. Three husky Wisconsin boys have broken into the limelight. I might say four—about the same time. They are Eddie McGorty, the Oakshof wonder, Gus Christie, the Milwaukee boy whom Teddy Murphy developed, Jimmy Clabby, another Milwaukee product, and Bob Moha, who was a heavyweight a short time ago but reduced to the commission weight and won what he claimed is the title at that weight.

Moha started all the hurrah by giving Cyclone Johnny Thompson a defeat at 175 pounds, but it developed afterwards that Bob weighed only 165 pounds, and he announced that he could easily make 180, and if necessary, the middle weight of 185 pounds. This has resulted in the matching of Bob with both McGorty and Jack Dillon, the two contests to be decided in the near future. If Moha makes the weight easily and his hands hold good he will make all the middle take notice. George Chip, a sensational fighter whom Jimmy Dine found in Newcastle, Pa., stirred things up by knocking out Tommy Gavagan, a Cleveland boy, who was going along so nicely and winning by a knockout.

The greatest surprise of all, however, was brought off at Fond du Lac, Wis., a few miles from Eddie McGorty's home town, when the latter and Gus Christie met for a ten-round battle. Christie had been trained to the minute by Eddy Murphy, while McGorty, thinking he had easy picking, was fat and slow. The result was the same as in many similar matches before this one—McGorty found Christie a hard proposition no matter how he took him—case where a top notcher fought his hardest battle for a meagre purse and before a fair sized crowd. Gee, but what a fight that would have been for Madison Square Garden, New York! It was a good draw also, another good one. He will not be so careless in the future. It also brought out another good middleweight, and from now on Gus Christie is liable to make all of the 185 pounders take off their hats to him. Like Jimmy Clabby, he is a real middleweight, scaling 158 ring-side easily.

THE ST. PATRICK'S DAY ENTERTAINMENTS IN CITY

An audience which filled every available portion of St. Peter's Hall in Elm street last evening greeted the members of the Y. M. C. A. Dramatic Club in their first presentation of the four-act comedy-drama, "An Irish Outlaw," a story of early days in the Emerald Isle. The performance was all that could be desired, and the large audience seemed to thoroughly appreciate every effort of the amateur actors for applause, laughter and keen attention were given throughout, an evidence of the reliable presentation. Each member of the cast acquitted himself in capable manner, the specialties and orchestra music were well received, and the scenic arrangements were the best seen in any March 17 performance in the hall.

The part of Maurice Delaney, a young man who defied the government in oppression of the people was ably played by Frank T. Walsh, who gave a clever and finished performance, displaying marked ability in several trying scenes. James Martin made himself heartily disliked by his enactment of the role of Major Barlin, a scheming military official, and since this was what the requirement of the part demanded, it speaks well for his portrayal. Much honest amusement and laughter were created by J. V. Ryan as Larry Flynn, servant in the Delaney household, and J. B. Dever, as Terry McGuire, an Irish peasant, both of whom made the most of their opportunities to provide fun and they succeeded very well, indeed. T. C. Olive gave a thoughtful presentation of Squire Delaney, the stern father of Maurice, but one who was softened through seeing that his son was doing all for the best. Mr. Olive won much praise for his playing, as did J. J. McGovern as Moriarty, secretary to the old man, and John J. McDonnell, as Mr. Skinner, an English detective, each of whom made an excellent impression. Arthur Howard as Luke Flynn, and Joseph Dever as Mickey Dolan added greatly to the success of the piece and made up a nicely balanced cast.

In the second act there were several features which caught the fancy of the large audience, and the presenting of a real Irish night gave much pleasure. There were specialties by Wm. J. Conway, as an Irish fiddler, Harry McQuade and Joseph Marry, in Irish songs, and Harry McMahon in lively step-dancing while the whole body associated gave an entertaining resemblance of an old time dance on the green. Specialties were also introduced between the acts and those taking part were warmly applauded. Amongst the numbers given were selections by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra under the leadership of John McBride, and they gave a fine programme of Irish melodies, vocal selections by Miss Catherine McQuade and T. C. Olive, and mixed singing by several.

When washing new curtains you will generally find that they are full of lime. A great deal of trouble may be saved by soaking the curtains overnight in water in which a little salt has been dissolved. The salt draws out the lime, and makes the curtains quite easy to wash without too much rubbing and soap.

Was a Victim of Bronchitis.

HAD TO BE PROPPED UP IN BED.

Bronchitis is an acute inflammation of the membranes lining the air tubes of the lungs, and begins with a tightness across the chest, and a difficulty of breathing, accompanied by a hard dry cough which later develops into the raising of a greenish or yellowish phlegm.

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and thereby preventing it becoming chronic and perhaps turning into some serious lung trouble. Mrs. John Forester, Salisbury, N. B., writes: "A year ago I was a victim of Bronchitis. I was so bad I could not lie down, and had to be propped up in bed. As the doctor failed to do me much good a friend, who came to visit me, advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The first bottle helped me so wonderfully I took five bottles in all, and was cured. I have not had an attack of it since."

Prices, 25 and 50 cents a bottle. See you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
