

It Will Always Pay You to Buy Your Furniture At S. L. MARCUS & CO. The Ideal Home Furnishers. 166 UNION STREET. You Can Save 20 p. c. by Purchasing at This Store. Have a Look at Their Complete Bedroom Set at $21.25 S. L. MARCUS & CO. 166 Union St. 166 Union St.

M. McGRATTAN & SONS Manufacturers of Granite Monuments and Building Monuments 55 Sydney St., St. John, N. B. Phone 2290

MARRIAGES

McLAUGHLIN - FERGUSON - At the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception on the 24th inst., by Rev. D. S. O'Keefe, Edward McLaughlin to Annie Ferguson, daughter of John Ferguson.

DEATHS

HENRY - In this city, on June 7, Arthur Henry, leaving one brother and two sisters to mourn. Funeral today, Monday, at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Thomas O'Brien, 102 St. Patrick street. Friends invited to attend.

IN MEMORIAM

MARSHALL - In loving memory of William Marshall, who died June 9, 1909. Gone but not forgotten. SISTER.

RECENT DEATHS

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Brittain, widow of Thomas Brittain, occurred on Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Williamson, Campbell Settlement. She was in the 84th year of her age. Interment will take place this afternoon in the Presbyterian cemetery at Campbell Settlement.

Boston, June 8. (Special) - The death is announced of Edwin M. Baker, formerly of St. John, at Billerica, near Lowell. He was 45 years old and lived in Charlestown for some time.

Many friends in the city will regret to hear of the death of Arthur Henry which took place on Saturday. There survive him one brother, John, in Seattle, two sisters, Miss Mary and Miss Sarah Henry of Charlestown, Mass. Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, of this city, a niece, and P. L. O'Brien Henry a nephew of the deceased.

John M. O'Malley of Halifax, formerly of the I. C. R. freight department died on Friday after an illness of five weeks of paralysis. He was forty years employed with the I. C. R. and a few months ago received the long service medal, and at the same time was superannuated. He was sixty-three years of age. He leaves three sons and three daughters. One son is T. E. of the I. C. R. freight department in Halifax.

Burfield Springer, aged 42 years, of White's Cove, died on May 24, leaving his parents and one son.

The death of W. Vincent McIntosh, aged 60 years, took place on Thursday at his home in White's Cove. He is survived by two brothers and three sisters.

The death of Dr. F. L. Pedolin, one of the best known medical men in New Brunswick, occurred on Saturday morning. He was found dead in his chair where he had sat down to rest after an exhausting night call. Dr. Pedolin was born in Fredericton 68 years ago and has practiced in Newcastle for twenty-eight years, and has served as mayor of that town. He is survived by one son and three daughters.

George F. Smith died on Saturday evening in the Woodstock hospital, his death following an operation for hernia. He was a native of Amherst but resided in Woodstock for eighteen years, where he was engaged in the jewelry business. He is survived by his wife and daughter and his parents.

R. Harcourt Smith, aged fifty-four years, died at his home in Quebec yesterday. He was a member of the lumber-union of John Sharples & Co.

Burfield Springer, a respected resident of White's Cove, passed peacefully away on May 24. He had been in poor health for about ten years. He was out forty-two years old. He leaves a wife and one son, besides his father and mother. He was buried in the Episcopal churchyard and services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Toben.

W. Vincent McIntosh passed away suddenly at Mill Cove on Thursday morning. He had been in poor health for out a year, but was able to walk out and on Thursday visited his farm in a neighbor, and while resting he suddenly passed away. He leaves two others and three sisters. The brothers - Daniel of Woodstock and Stephen of White's Cove. The sisters are Mrs. Robt. Reid, Mrs. Brim Smith of Young's Cove, and Mrs. Andrew Smith of Cumberland Bay. He was about sixty years of age. He was buried on Saturday in a Episcopal cemetery, Mr. Toben officiating at the service.

Mrs. Alex. McGregor of Upper Reax, who had spent the last four months in Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, returned home last week. Mr. Sundell, electrical engineer, has been engaged by Kent Electric Company in connection with their electric light business. Mr. Sundell has just arrived from Eden.

COMMERCIALS IN THE LEAD IN THE EAST END LEAGUE Alerts Are Well Along - The Batting Averages of The Players

LOCAL NEWS

Kitchen boy wanted, Royal Hotel. 6533-6-11.

EVERY GROCER RECOMMENDS RED CLOVER SALMON

The annual business meeting of Ludlow street Baptist church, West End, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

Boots and shoes repaired while you wait. Best of material used. Steen Bros., 227 Union street.

Trusses, all kinds, fit guaranteed - Moore's Drug Store, Brussels street.

FREE DEMONSTRATION. Miss Black, of Toronto, will demonstrate Pure Gold Quick Deserts at McPherson Bros' store, Tuesday.

The Danger Signal, two-act drama, City Hall, West End, June 10, 1913; admission, adults, 25c; children, 15c. 6616-6-11.

Our men's $4.50 shoes and our women's $3.50 shoes will appeal to your purse and your good judgment. - Wicks, 248 Union street.

We delight in saving your money. No, we do not sell cheap goods - we sell good goods cheap. We are out of the high rent district, corner Bridge and Main streets - C. B. Pidgeon.

FISHING TRIP. D. B. Pidgeon and F. W. Munroe of North End returned home today at noon after a week's fishing trip at French Lake. They met with much good luck and brought home a well filled basket.

SUMMER PRICES. We are now quoting summer prices on American Anthracite and Scotch coal; large quantities of Scotch coal coming on first boat. C. E. Colwell, Union street, West End; phone West 176. 6415-6-16.

CONFIDENCE. Put in the same old confidence you always had and strengthen it. Come to our store and buy your ladies' and men's clothing, footwear, headgear and all your shopping. You will save more than ever at Bassen's, 207 Union street, Opera Block.

LATEST STYLES AT MARR MILLINERY CO. Untrimmed hats $1. White, black and tussan, nothing less than the best quality tagel, chip and mohair in the latest New York styles which this season has produced at Marr Millinery Co's, second floor.

PROVINCIAL PERSONALS. Campbellton Graphic - It is understood that Captain A. E. G. McKenna will be promoted to be adjutant of the 7th Regiment, Lieut. LeBlanc stepping up to the captaincy.

Miss O'Leary and Miss Marguerite O'Leary, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Leary, have returned home after an extended tour of Europe.

Carlton Sentinel - Miss Marie Lynd will leave on Saturday for Winnipeg, where she will take part in an interesting event, after which she will go to Calgary.

Richibucto Review - Mrs. D. J. McKay, of St. John, is visiting relatives at Harcourt before leaving for Winnipeg, where she will spend some time with her son, Robert McKay.

Newcastle Leader - Jack Crehan has gone to St. John where he will study law during the summer months in the office of H. A. Powell, K. C.

Freehold and Leasehold Property BY AUCTION At Chubb's Corner, Saturday June 15, at 12 o'clock, noon

That Leasehold Property No 48 Brook street, North End, Lot 80x80 feet, more or less, with two and a half storey wooden dwelling containing 8 rooms in upper flat and 9 rooms in the lower flat, electric lighting, bath rooms, etc. concrete foundation; rental $800 per annum. Part of purchase money can remain on mortgage.

Free hold lot 40 x 100 feet, Duke street, near Pitt street.

Freehold lot 40 x 100 feet on Broad street, near railway.

T. T. LANTALUM Auctioneer. Office: 45 Canterbury St. 6595-6-16

GLASSES make all the world seem BRIGHTER Our skillful fitting and adjusting will satisfy the most critical.

D. BOYANER Optician 35 Dock Street

GILMOUR'S 68 King Street

Drawing of Prizes First prize, $40.00 in gold; second prize, a return trip to Boston. All our patrons who will have had dental work performed at either of our St. John offices from Jan. 1, 1913, up to June 30, 1913, inclusive will be entitled to chances for these grand prizes. This is the last month before the drawing. All purchasers of our tooth paste or mouth wash entitles purchasers to a chance for the Boston trip.

A New York Physician's Wife writes gratefully of the curative powers of ZEMACURA Dear Mr. McLaughlin: You do not know the blessing your safe has been to me. My nervous system has been so weak but occasionally I have a slight tingling of the feet. I hope I may have a letter from you some day.

50 Cts. Package THE ROYAL PHARMACY 47 King Street

James L. Wright BOOT AND SHOE MAKER Repairing a Specialty A Full Line of Boots, Shoes and Slippers WANTED - A First-Class Shoe Maker. 22 Winslow St., West St. John

Military Inquiry Campbellton Graphic - Colonel Mercereau, with Captain Jones of Dalhousie and Lieut. Mercereau of Campbellton will hold a board of inquiry here as to the loss of clothing and equipment from the Army of P. C. 3rd Regt. The building was broken into on the night of April 19 and some clothing and equipment taken away.

FINED $10 FOR SHORT SKIRT Hem Must Not Be More Than 12 Inches from the Ground

Milwaukee, June 8. - Milwaukee women who wear hats whose hem is more than twelve inches above the ground are liable to arrest and a fine, Judge Page decided in a district court when he fined Elizabeth Geiger, 34 years, $10 and costs. Patrolman Ryterkiel who arrested the woman, asserted that her skirts were so short she attracted the attention of men for several blocks around.

"I feel a fashion cannot make the courts permit such improper costumes as these women affect these days," the judge said in complaining of the tight form displaying skirts now worn.

The Best Quality at a Reasonable Price

Diamond Rings

Wear a Diamond. They are always in fashion and are always a good investment for the prices are continually increasing.

Wear a Diamond. Wearing one denotes prosperity, good judgment, pride.

Wear a Diamond. It will add a certain amount of weight and distinction in the business world.

Wear a Diamond. Buy your diamond here, we have an excellent assortment of the better grades of stones for you to select from. The prices are right.

L. L. Sharpe & Son Jewelers and Opticians 21 King Street, St. John, N. B.

Some Cash Specials for Tonight

SUMMER DRINKS Special bottle Lemon Syrup, 9c. 35c. bottle Lime Juice, 25c. 35c. bottle Raspberry Wine, 25c.

EXTRA SPECIALS 1 lb. Shredded Coconut, 19c. 1 lb. Shelled Walnuts, 32c.

SATURDAY SWEETS 1 lb. Assorted Kisses, 15c. 1 lb. Cream Almonds, 23c. 1 lb. Maple Walnuts, 25c. 1 lb. Crispy Fluffs, 24c. 1 lb. Kreamy Toffee, 40c.

Store closed Saturday afternoon from 1 o'clock until seven p. m.

Gilbert's Grocery

NOW WEALTHIEST OF THE SENATORS This is Distinction Borne By Former New Brunswicker VERY POOR IN YOUNG DAYS An Entertaining Sketch of Isaac Stephenson, Born Near Fredericton, Who Now is the Cressus of the United States Senate

(Boston Post) With the departure, from the United States Senate, of Simon Guggenheim of Colorado, Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin, takes his place as the wealthiest man in that body. He is said to derive an income of $3,700,000 a year from his fortune of $74,000,000, which will make him one of the heaviest contributors in the country to the new income tax. As he receives more than $300,000 a month, he will probably have little difficulty in paying the $148,000 which he will be assessed.

Senator Stephenson, or "Uncle Ike" as he is known to residents of Wisconsin, is one of the unique characters in the senate. Like Lorimer, he recently was tried for wholesale bribery in procuring his election, but unlike the senator from Illinois, he was allowed to retain his seat. Had Senator Stephenson not accumulated millions in the lumber he might have made a considerable fortune on the vaudeville stage. Few people living have such a retentive memory. He can answer correctly nine times out of ten any question that relates to his life since his third birthday, even giving the day of the week and the month in which any event took place. He can tell off-hand just how much he got for lumber fifty years ago, he can even tell the exact amount of a check that he made out in payment of a bill when he was a young man.

Senator Stephenson was born near Fredericton, New Brunswick, in 1829. His parents were so poor that he was able to gain but a mediocre education and long before he was out of his teens he was compelled to go to work to help support the family. At the age of eleven he went to Bangor and a year later he was taken to Wisconsin.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

It Pays To Buy At Wasson's Four Rexall Stores. Preserve Eggs Now For only twelve cents you can buy a tin of Water-Glass. This mixed with water will keep eight dozen eggs fresh for one year. Buy Water-Glass at

WASSON'S "WHERE GOOD THINGS ARE SOLD" KING STREET MAIN STREET HAYMARKET CARLETON.

JUNE WEDDINGS

This is the month of June weddings. Come in and let us furnish your new home with high grade Furniture, Carpets, Squares, etc. We are experts in furnishing homes. Try us.

All Brass Beds, from $15.00 up to $65.00

Buffets, from 18.00 up to 90.00

MAKE YOUR WEDDING GIFTS IN FURNITURE Willow Rockers, Cobbler Rockers, Leather Chairs and Rockers, Parlor Cabinets, Music Cabinets, Shaving Stands, Hall Trees, etc.

English Oilcloths and Linoleums Carpet Squares in all sizes.

OPEN EVENINGS

AMLAND BROS. LTD. 19 Waterloo Street

MILL END SALE

of White Shirting, White Flannel, Apron Gingham, Chambrays and Dress Gingham. We have just put in stock the above Mill Ends, marked at about two-thirds the regular price. In order to make room for alterations, the balance of our Grey Cotton Mill Ends will be sold at three quarters of the marked price. Our "Special" five yard ends of Striped Flannel, for 60c.

CARLETON'S, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 15,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

He is probably the closest rival to former Senator Clark of Montana in the amount of money that he has spent in politics. He served several years in the Wisconsin state legislature and three terms as congressman. Then he decided to run for the senate.

He was naturally a conservative of conservatives, but he thought that Senator Spooner and the other regular republican leaders of his state had enured him out of the office upon which he had set his heart. He had spent large sums of money and had even sent a special train of Wisconsin residents to San Francisco to witness the launching of the battleship named for the state which was christened by one of his daughters. Despite his lavish expenditures, Spooner was elected to the vacancy, and Stephenson turned upon his former friends.

He contributed liberally to the insurgent cause which was then headed by Robert M. La Follette, and finally, in 1907, he was chosen to succeed Senator Spooner. He was too conservative to continue leashed to Senator La Follette, and the Wisconsin senators have seldom found occasion to vote upon the same side of measures.

Gold puts out a fire as soon as the carbon is consumed; sophisticated sin keeps it in a red glow. There is no dust or noise from the falling embers, and Carleton's, 245 Waterloo Street, Cor. Brindley Street. Store closed 7 p. m. June, July, August.

For several years he worked on the farm, in the woods with the lumbermen and as a common sailor on ships that sailed the Great Lakes. By the time he had reached his 23rd birthday he had saved enough money to purchase an interest in a timber and saw mill. Senator Stephenson now owns practically all the stock of this concern, which has several mills and owns millions of acres of land.

In 1867 he devised a plan for running logs on the Menominee River and built the boom that handles more logs than any other in the world. He became president of the largest retail lumber company in Chicago, president of the Stephenson National Bank of Barometer, president of the Peabody Lumber Company, and president of the Stephenson Manufacturing Company, which cuts 1