

SCHOOL BOARD APPROVES IDEA OF AN INSPECTOR

Applications for Position Considered But Final Action Deferred CHOOSE NAME FOR VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Tenders for New Building Must Deposit $5,000 With Bids.

The appointment of an inspector for the school buildings of the city was decided on at a meeting of the School Board last evening. Several names were eliminated from the list of applicants and another meeting for final decision was agreed upon.

The board accepted the report of the committee having in charge an investigation into the advisability of having an inspector and then proceeded to discuss the applicants. After more than an hour of deliberation it was decided to seek further details of the qualifications of the men and consider them at a later meeting.

Vocational School.

Tenders for the Saint John Vocational School building are to be called immediately and must be in the hands of the secretary of the Board of School Trustees before 4 p.m. on Monday, April 6. Other details in connection with the tenders were also approved at a special meeting of the trustees at last evening. The name of the school was also decided as "Saint John Vocational School."

Dr. L. M. Curran, M.L.A., chairman of the School Board, said that he was not sure as to who had authority to call for tenders so he asked the members of the vocational school board as well as the trustees to be present.

Sections of the Vocational School Act were read, and it was decided that the trustees had authority to contract the building. The proceedings then began as a meeting of the Board of School Trustees.

Details of Tender.

F. Neil Brodie submitted plans for proposed work on the grounds of the new school and suggested that a price be obtained for this work as well as the main contract. The form of advertisement as submitted by the architect and forms of tender were approved by the meeting. It was decided that each contractor for the whole job deposit a check for $5,000, and that the successful contractor be bonded for five per cent. of the contract price. The details of the advertising were left with the secretary to arrange.

Mr. Green asked what name was to be attached to the new school. There

WILL TOUR CANADA

Chick Evans Will Head Party of United States Golfers—Many Coming.

NEW YORK, March 24.—A tour of Canada, which will take them over a 3,000-mile route, is planned by United States golfers this summer. According to plans made known today, Chick Evans, well-known amateur star, and Captain E. P. Carter, product of the English courses, will head the party.

Many have already expressed their intentions of making the trip, and by summer a sufficient number to complete two trainloads are expected to join in the Canadian tour.

The Cheaper Way.

(Answers.)

Gray: "Having your car repaired to match your wife's gown, isn't it rather expensive?"

White: "It's cheaper than buying down to match the car."

There were several suggestions and the name "Saint John Vocational School" was finally approved.

N. B. Material.

Material for the construction of the new vocational school here will be largely from New Brunswick if the wishes of the Board of School Trustees are observed according to a decision reached last evening when it was decided to have all tenders specify where they would procure their material. The hope was expressed that much of the expenditure as possible be made in the province.

Power to Committee.

The committee in charge of appropriation of the site in Douglas avenue was authorized to negotiate with J. E. Cowan, Jr., in regard to projections on his dwelling which encroach upon the site. Mr. Cowan is to secure a part of the lot next his building.

The meeting then went into committee to discuss the applications for the position of inspector of school buildings.

Those present at the meeting were: Dr. L. M. Curran, chairman; Mrs. D. P. Chisholm, Mrs. E. R. Taylor, M. D. Coll, Thomas Magie, E. R. W. Ingram, H. Colby Smith, W. F. Palmer, G. H. Green, H. A. Porter, Alex. Wilson, George P. Hennessy, A. A. McIntyre, A. G. Leavitt, and S. A. Worrell.

VISUALIZES LIFE 10,000 YEARS HENCE

European Scientists Predict Whirlwind Travel, and Vision Across World.

LONDON, March 24.—What will the world be like in a thousand years from now? This question Dr. Fournier d'Albe, Anglo-French scientist, sets out to answer in "Quo Vadimus?" which he has just published.

Life will be strenuous. Londoners will be able, thanks to the vastly improved means of communication, to lunch at the North Pole, take tea on Mount Everest, and enjoy an early dinner at Capetown before coming home to bed. There will be no customs and passport difficulties on these jaunts, because the whole world will be under one government, and there will be a universal language for official use. Luggage also will present no inconvenience; new fabrics will be invented, as warm as fur and as soft as silk, so that our descendants will carry their changes of costume in their waistcoat pockets—always supposing they wear waistcoats.

See Across World.

But why travel? Every one will have his radio-telephone by which he can talk to a friend in any part of the whole world as easily as he rings up a neighbor nowadays—perhaps even more easily, for there will be no wrong numbers. Radio-telephones will bring before him the features of the man or woman at the other end of the world. Alibi will be very difficult.

Dr. d'Albe predicts that the houses of 1,000 years hence will be built of a transparent material, but, he concedes, "there will be means of darkening the whole house, if desired."
