Consumers' COALTRANSPORT SINKING, WHOLE
REGIMENT CHEERFULLY SANG

London, March 28.—The British transport Tyndarus, with a battalion of the Middlesex Regiment aboard, struck a mine on Feb. 9 off Cape Agulhas, the southernmost point of Africa. The men were paraded on deck, and after roll call began to sing while they waited for the ship to sink.

The Tyndarus, however, was saved, and the troops were transferred to two rescuing steamers, having upheld, as expressed in the official admiralty report, "the cherished tradition of the Birkenhead."

RECENT WEDDINGS

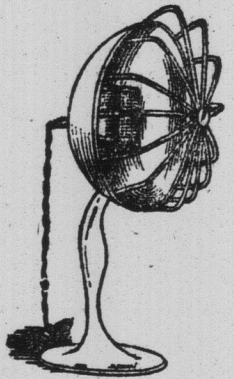

MacKenzie-Carleton.
A wedding of much interest was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Carleton, King street, West St. John, when their daughter, Miss Laura Carleton, was united in marriage to Albert MacKenzie, of Penobscot. Rev. J. H. Jenner officiated, only a few relatives and close friends witnessing the event. The bride was attired in white silk with lace overdress, and carried a bouquet of carnations. Many out of town guests were present including Mrs. Sarah Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. McElroy and Mrs. Matthews, Sussex; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cosman, Mrs. Freeze, Miss Murray and Norman MacKenzie, Penobscot.

IS IN FRANCE.
Mrs. J. B. Lounsbury, of Fredericton, received a cablegram from England that her son, Capt. E. J. Lounsbury, has gone over to France. Capt. Lounsbury enlisted with the 10th Battalion at Truro and after going to England he was transferred to the 26th.

ST. LOUIS RAN AT FURIOUS SPEED

Saw Evidence Three Ships Had Been Sunk

Captain Did Not Leave Bridge for Three Days and Nights—First Armed Americans to Cross to England

London, Monday, March 26 (Delayed by censor). (From a staff correspondent of the Associated Press).—The St. Louis, the first passenger vessel carrying the American flag to cross the Atlantic since Germany's declaration of unrestricted submarine destruction, and the first American armed liner to enter a European port since the war began, arrived this morning. She carried a large number of passengers—33 all told—but her holds were filled to capacity with non-contraband freight.

The St. Louis came through without interruption. No submarines were sighted, nor was there any time any indication that German undersea boats were after the big liner. If any of them saw the St. Louis they made no attempt to destroy her, but kept carefully away from the guns of the American ship.

For three days and nights the captain did not leave the bridge, and never in her twenty-two years of existence has the American ship been driven so furiously as she was from the time she passed into the zone until she was picked up by a pilot.

The journey was virtually without incident until the war zone was reached. Unusual precautions were taken as soon as the liner passed the lightship, but as she neared the danger point, even the life rafts and collapsible boats were made ready for immediate use. Reflectors were strung up fore and aft and the lights were turned on the rails for use in the event the St. Louis became the victim of a torpedo or gunfire.

A government tender carrying the American consul-general, admiralty officials and immigration officers, met the liner.

Got All Steam She Could Stand
From the moment the St. Louis entered the danger zone until she reached comparatively safe waters, the word in the engine room was to give her all she can stand. For 48 hours the big vessel tore along at top speed, while the passengers slept fitfully, remaining in the reading room with life belts ready.

Long before daybreak yesterday, with the land still far below the horizon, most of the passengers were on deck watching just as anxiously as the men on the bridge for signs of hostile submarines. When suddenly out of the horizon shot British patrol vessels. Instructions were signalled. The St. Louis responded and continued her journey, while the submarine hunters bore away on their ceaseless vigil.

For two days after the St. Louis left port there was a howling gale, accompanied with fog and frequent squalls, but the liner held steadily to the course which had been determined on. Every precaution was taken. Even on the first night out deck lights were shielded and cabin portholes shaded so that no glimmer of light showed. Lookouts swept the horizon frequently with their glasses.

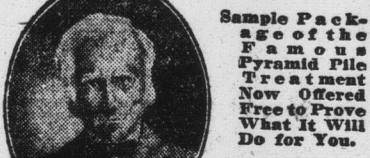

The passengers were taken in hand and drilled daily in donning lifebelts and assembling quickly at their appointed places at the lifeboats. Crews for the lifeboats were assigned to their stations and instructed as to their duties.

Workmen Chose
The lifeboats were provisioned long before the prohibited zone was reached and were swung out, partly lowered and lashed so that only a moment would be lost in dropping them into the water.

Until Friday the trip was without incident other than the encountering of floating ice, including one huge iceberg. Two whales followed the ship for some distance. From the time the barred zone was entered until late last night, while the big steamer was making her way over the last few hundred miles of the journey, few passengers were in their cabins.

No ceremony marked the arrival of the St. Louis. On the dock were the usual representatives of the American Line, the port authorities, a small group of friends and relatives of passengers and a few newspapermen. As the liner was warped into her berth workmen raised a cheer for the good old U.S.A.

RECENT DEATHS

Samuel Hector.
The death of Samuel Hector, a well known resident of the city, occurred Monday morning at East St. John. He was a native of the city and had reached the age of seventy years. For many years the late Mr. Hector was employed in the Sleton Cutler mill. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Kelly and Mrs. Corn Allen, both of Central Falls (R. I.). Mrs. Kelly arrived in the city yesterday to attend the funeral of her father which will be held at 8:00 o'clock Friday afternoon from Chamberlain's undertaking rooms, 162-164 Mill street.

JUST THE THING FOR LITTLE ONES

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach; banish constipation and indigestion; relieve colds and simple fevers and make teething easy. Concerning them, Mrs. Herbert Johnston, Maymont, Sask., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past four years and find them just the thing for babies and young children." They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SMUGGLING PENALTIES.

Penalties aggregating $800 were imposed by Collector of Customs C. B. Lockhart on a principal and four accessories found guilty of attempting to smuggle automobile tires and patent medicines into the port of St. John from the United States. The men were obliged to pay the full cost of the articles, plus the cost in Canada and the duty on the imported articles. This is the first case of smuggling that has been detected since the first of the year, and the officers have been doubly diligent since the beginning of the war. The seizures were made something over a week ago, and investigations have been in progress since that time both here and at points along the border.

MAJOR LEAGUES MAY YET MEET OPPOSITION

New York, March 27.—Reports late last fall that it was proposed to form the three A.A. leagues into an organization independent from the other minor organizations which form the National Association have been confirmed by a statement made by Vice-President Wathen of the American association.

USE THE WANT
AD. WAY

Mr. Wathen says that the idea of having the International League, the American Association, and the Pacific Coast League advance had by no means been abandoned.

The major leagues naturally have been against having the class A.A. leagues receive all the powers now held exclusively by the majors, but it long has been apparent that the interests of the class A.A. leagues are separate from those of the major leagues in many instances.

Minor leagues in the National Association have for years held the whip hand for the simple reason that they outnumbered the class A.A. leagues. Policies which the International League and the American Association wanted carried out were blocked because they did not appeal to the "Little Leagues." For years the class A.A. leagues have tried to bring out new conditions.

There has been, however, the opposition of the leagues of lower classification dragging them back because of a fear that they would advance too high in the baseball world, and the majors for the same reason seeking to keep the class A.A. leagues in check.

Wathen insists that the time is ripe for carrying out the new scheme and that next fall will see it brought about.
