Poetry.

[SELECTED FOR THE CHRONICLE.]

ODE TO MAY.

Loveliest season of the year!
Welcome with thy buds and flowers!
How beauteous does thy morn appear
While sunbeams deck the golden hours!
Thy presence human care beguiles—
At thy approach all nature smiles.

Hail, sweet delightful child of spring!
Amid the beauties of the grove,
To thee the woodland minstrels bring
Their songs of harmony and love—
Clothed in the gift thy treasures yield—
Creation springs in every field.

O breathe thy fragrance on the gales,
Imprint thy footsteps on the plain—
And every hill and every rale
Shall prove the influence of thy reign.
Touch'd by thy hand the bud and flower
Confess thy life—imparting power.

Celestial visitant! to thee
Mysterious attributes are giv'n:
Thou set's imprison'd nature free,
As in the morning light of Heav'n!
O welcome with thy garlands gay,
Enchanting joy—inspiring MAY!

WE ARE DREAMERS ALL.

We are dreamers all. The babe that lies
Asleep on its mother's breast,
In a dream of peace will sweetly smile,
As if its spirit were e'en the while
By angel ones caressed—
We are dreamers all.

We are dreamers all. The lover dreams
Of a fair one by his side:—
Of the happy hour when he shall stand
Before the altar, to claim the hand
Of his bright and beauteous bride—
We are dreamers all.

We are dreamers all. The poet dreams
Of the laurel-wreath of fame;
He struggles and toils for weary years,
And awakes at last with sighs and tears,
To grasp but an empty name—
We are dreamers all.

We are dreamers all. The Christian dreams
Of a promised rest above;
Of the pleasant paths of paradise,
Of a home of peace beyond the skies,
Prepared by the Saviour's love!
We are dreamers all.

We are dreamers all. But, oh! to me
The Christian's dream be given;
For, bright as his dream on earth may be,
He wakes to a blest reality,
When he opens his eyes in heaven!
We are dreamers all.

Horse and Cattle Medicines.

Don't permit your Horses or cattle to die, when the means of cure are within the reach of all!

The undersigned has spent several years in the study of Veterinary practice in "London and Edinboro'," he has also availed himself of the researches of Leibig, and other celebrated men, who have contributed so much towards a judicious treatment of animals; the principles of our practice consists of the rejection of general bleeding and the total rejection of all medicines that experience has shown is be of a dangerous tendancy. These remedies are in harmony with the vital principle, and when given according to the directions which accompany each article they are capable of exciting and increasing the natural functions, without diminishing or destroying their power, hence are safe in the hands of every one.

Dr. James Coxetter,

WOULD inform the hundreds who apply to him for the cure of delicate diseases, that he holds out no delusive hope that he will cure them "in two or three days." He is called upon daily to witness the sad effects of so wicked a deception. He would, however, assure those who may come under his care, that they may rely upon a pleasant and speedy cure.—Advice to the Poor, gratis.

☞ Office in Prince William street, three doors above the Post Office, on the opposite side of the street.—Residence, foot of Charlotte street, Lower Cove.

REVIEW OF THE WORK.

Marriage requires the fulfilment of several conditions, in order that it may be really the cause of mutual happiness. Could the veil, which covers the origin of domestic wretchedness, be raised, and as true source in every instance disclosed, in how many could it be traced to physical disqualifications and their attendant disappointments. Excesses are always injurious; the gift, which when used in moderation is fraught with advantage, becomes, when abused, the prolific source of mischief, and of greater or less injury to the constitution and vital powers. The particular excesses, on the nature and consequences of which this Treatise professes to dilate, are productive of greater misery to the human frame, than any other to which it is subject.

The Work contains an accurate and complete account of the Anatomy and Physiology of the Reproductive Organs, and of their relative conditions in health and disease. Not are these the sole contents of the Work, the means of escape, as well as the nature of the danger are pointed out in clear and intelligible language. It deservedly requires the closest attention and study, for what subject can be of more importance than the preservation of health, and the physicial capabilities of which every man should be possessed. It unfortunately happens that the unhappy victim of excesses indulgence and vicious habits, whether acquired in early life, or from the follies of advancing age, while suffering from their invariable consequences, unwisely entertains a feat of applying to the qualified physician for relief. Shame and the dread so frequently but erroneously entertained that these complaints are beyond the reach of art, alike restrict him, and prevent his seeking for assistance where alone it can be procured. In acting thus, he forgets that actuate discrimination in ascertaining the causes of disease, sympathy with the sufferer, and above all, secrecy, invariably characterize the intelligent and practical physician, and to the medical man, who can show by his possession of the requisite legal qualification that he is entitled to esteem and respect in his professional pursuits the utmost confidence should be extended. DR. LA'MERT has obtained the highest medical honours, as his diplomas testify, and the great extent of his practice for many years is a guarantee for his professional experience, which has reference almost solely to the treatment of these diseases.

The work may be had in St. John, of H. Chubb & Co. price 2s. 6d. stg.; Halifax, Messrs. Morton & Co.; Quebec, Mr. Neilson.
