The Rambles Bicycle club is a comparatively new institution in Halifax, but it certainly seems to have taken hold on the public, though it has taken this hold it certainly deserves the popularity, for it was an extremely enterprising thing for such a young club to go to all the expense of last Saturday. The day turned out beautiful and the crowd was large. The grand stand was more than crowded and the patrons had a little place roped off for them in the usual orthodox style. The Liverpool band was in attendance. The sports were well contested but somewhat marred by the fact of there being so many scratches, which in some races left very few contestants. The St. John men did not do very well in the important events but in spite of that made some very plucky races and finished strong.

Miss McGarry's concert on the fifth of September will be an event both for her friends and for the public. Miss McGarry will be assisted by some local talent, chief among whom will be Mrs. Kennedy Campbell, whose Halifax audience has not had an opportunity of applauding for some time. Miss McGarry had a very pleasant experience in the way of success during her stay in England, and while in Paris had the honor of reciting at the English embassy. I hear she is shortly to be married, but she is not likely to relinquish a profession in which she is a success, on that account.

The marriage of Mr. Charles Wainwright and Miss Lough takes place in a fortnight. This very charming young lady has many friends in Halifax, who will be glad to welcome her as a resident.

If the Masonic bazaar began in a rainstorm it ended in a deluge. Just at the time of the closing exercises on Monday evening the rain and wind were beyond description, and by the time people were ready to leave they had a very serious problem before them of how they were to get home. There were no lights in the streets, the electric lights had been cut off on account of the danger. The broken wires, the rain fell in torrents, and it was impossible to stand against the wind. People lucky enough to get cabs went home in them with the horses going at a walk, and some of the more nervous among them preferred to struggle through the mud as best they could, without trusting themselves in a carriage. Many people were sitting by telephone wires, branches of trees were flying every where, and the whole effect was more like a world gone suddenly crazy than anything else.

I hear that the affair took in $9000 in solid cash, and that the promoters expect to make $7000, when expenses are paid. The great draw far and away beyond the market, was the living whale. It was new, it was curious, it was a sight to see. The time of the afternoon when idle people have nothing to do, and busy ones can steal a moment, and it took more people to the bazaar than did the rest of the attractions all put together. Halifax is progressing in its amusements, and the next thing to be done for charity will probably be amateur shirt dancing. By the way, what has become of the Hallor's Home entertainment, which was to have been taken up in this autumn?

Not as many people have gone from Halifax to the tennis tournament at St. John, as would have been the case last year, though a good deal of interest is taken in it, there are not so many tennis enthusiasts about it as there were last summer. Mr. Putnam and Mr. Bonney, who represent the amateurs of the King's regiment, will probably play a good game, but St. John ladies will probably be too much for Halifax ladies. The tournament was one of the events of the season here last year, and many people preferred it to the cricket tournament.

I hear that Lieut. Twining, R. E., son of Mr. Edmund Twining, has received an excellent appointment at Kingston for a term of five years. Mr. Twining, who has spent the past ten years chiefly in India and Java, will doubtless find a pleasant change in a Canadian winter.

In consequence of Monday's storm the garden party to have been given on Tuesday by Mrs. Leach had to be indefinitely postponed. Trees were down across the avenue, and the garden was simply devastated. All the garden parties of the year have suffered from the weather, but none so far have been postponed. The necessity was more to be deplored in that Tuesday proved a perfect afternoon.

The Garrison regatta is fixed for the sixteenth of next month, and will take place at Oaklands, Colonel Leach's residence. The ladies race should be very pretty and it is rather rare to see a boat race with lady coxswains, and a lady pulling the bow oar; the stroke is to be by man and the coxswain chooses. In the evening everything which can be lit up will be illuminated, boats, yachts at anchor, launches, and the shores of the pond. If only there is a fine night, and if the regatta committee supply a band, the Arm will indeed have a gala occasion.

A couple of dinners were about all the gaiety of this week in the very first circles. One of these was given for Mrs. Aspley Smith, wife of the military secretary, and was very smart and pleasant. The other took place on Saturday evening, at Government House, and was really only the prelude to a theatre-party.

Two picnics were arranged for Wednesday and Thursday, both on the other side of the North West Arm. Both were for children of a larger growth, who are just now most enthusiastic about the open air.

Wednesday evening was an ideal one for a promenade concert, and the public gardens were usually flocked to the public gardens. The fireworks were the great attraction. After the concert there were some small and informal suppers, but none of any size.

Invitations are out for a tennis party at Bellevue House on Thursday next. This is Mrs. Montgomery Moore's first at Bellevue, and it will, of course, be largely attended. I hear that Mrs. Moore has instituted a guild for charitable purposes among the ladies of the Garrison.

Among the late arrivals from England are Dr. W. L. Lewis, Mrs. and the Misses Keith, and Mrs. and Miss Wickwire.

The cross country ride are very likely to be resumed this autumn, as there are several energetic spirits in the Garrison who will take the same interest in arranging them as did Captain Jenkins.

MORRIS GRANVILLE.

The "Constant Reader" Finds Fault.

TO THE EDITOR OF PROGRESS.—Concerning a small paragraph in Morris Granville's letter last week about the Masonic Fall, I wish to make a few remarks.

Mentioning the names of a few young ladies who looked particularly well in their Masonic costumes, is not out of place, but since he confined himself to members of the Scottish Rite and Virgin Lodge, why should he omit one or two of the former, whose pretty appearance was so remarked on, much more so than the few who were named? One is the daughter of a popular captain, another the daughter of South Park street, opposite the bank. And again, why should he name among other boys be added—for instance, some of St. John's and St. Andrews and also of the Knight Templars? Every one is entitled to his own opinion, but your readers in this city would prefer credit given wherever merited, and not to a favored few. While on the subject, I would like to add, that the costumes of St. Andrews and St. John's booths were exceedingly becoming and pretty, and considered by many the neatest and prettiest of all. The march was well done, the uniforms of the Scottish Rite showing to advantage. After careful observation of the different movements, I believe, were best executed by the Knight Templars and Royal Arch companies. A prominent military gentleman would give the palm to the latter, and I concur in his opinion.

NEW GLASGOW.

[Progress is for sale in New Glasgow by A. O. Pritchard and H. H. Henderson.]

Aug. 22.—The concert given in James church hall last evening was a great success. Miss MacDonnell who is always a favorite with a New Glasgow audience, sang beautifully and was heartily cheered. Miss Bonn of Pictou rendered two violin solos exquisitely and more than sustained her reputation as a violinist. The great attraction however was the singing of Mr. Mason B. Mackay a former New Glasgow boy and now a member of one of the leading male quartettes in Boston. Mr. Mackay possesses a rich tenor voice and was heard to special advantage in the duet he sang with Miss MacDonnell. The accompanist was Miss Annie MacDonnell, whose well known ability in that line needs no comment here.
