Most and most a tractive that town is the owner of a vicious parrot; incidentally a great deal of a young neighborhood, so much, in fact, that he is hated. But this always hated parrot, and one sort of point between him and the owner. He has the parrot in question, and the young lady that so green as it looked, surely cause trouble because he can easily believe that he is in the habit of making. At night, the bird did once "sweetheart, but very" "Polly was promptly pounced, who snapped his head back and covered his face for an entire day. Social and Personal.

There has been nothing particularly startling in the social world this week, as of course the exhibition has enlivened the time and attention of everybody. A great many people are entertaining friends this week and a day at the fair was quite the correct way to treat visitors—and fatigue them so that dinner, tea or dances were not quite so pleasant to think of as they are under ordinary circumstances. Everybody went to the exhibition and visited every department from the tea show to the live stock exhibit. Indeed I think the general public saw every thing and went everywhere—except into the press room. The smart set sent large delegations nightly and on Tuesday evening I noticed a particularly large number present. I dislike to prophesy but I fear that next week will be unusually dull as every body will be too exhausted mentally and physically to even dream of social gaieties.

The largest party of the week was that given by Mrs. (Dr) Travers on Wednesday evening in honor of the Lieut Governor and Mrs. Fraser. There have been many receptions of late that Mrs. Travers decided to vary the amusement by a whist party, as more conducive to social intercourse than the more formal reception. The evening was a brilliant one, and not a dull moment was spent from the arrival of the guests between eight and nine, until their departure at a late hour; there were nine tables of whist. Miss Frances Travers sang during the evening and contributed largely to the evening's enjoyment. Ice cream and claret cup were dispensed, and a delicate supper, which included almost every delicacy, was served; the table decorations were unique and beautiful, being of ferns and scarlet salvia, with a pretty arrangement of scarlet ribbon brought from the centre piece to the corners of the table. The ladies present were beautifully gowned. Mrs. Travers received her guests in a handsome black silk; Mrs. Fraser wore a grey silk with maroon velvet trimmings. Mrs. C. W. Weldon wore a particularly lovely dress of black silk, with large yellow silk sleeves draped with chantilly lace. Among the guests were the Lieut Governor and Mrs. Fraser; Mr. C. W. Weldon, Mrs. Weldon, Mr. John McMillan, Mrs. McMillan, Mr. John Parks, Mrs. Parks, Miss Parks, Mrs. Tuck, Mr. W. Vroom, Mrs. Vroom, Col. Tuck, Mr. Douglas Hazen, Mrs. Hazen, Mr. R. J. Ritchie, Mrs. Ritchie, Mrs. Straton, Mr. D. P. Chisholm, Mrs. D. P. Chisholm, Mr. Stanley Ritchie, Mrs. Ritchie, Mr. Gordon, Mrs. Gordon, Mr. Warren Window, Mr. Gilbert Pugsley, Mrs. Pugsley, Mr. Warren Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Kiss, Miss Wheeler, Dr. Inches, Mrs. Inches, Mr. DeWolfe Spurr, Mrs. Spurr, Mr. D. R. Jack, Mr. Grant.

On Wednesday Miss Tack entertained a number of young lady friends at an informal tea, at which the following guests were present, and spent a pleasant afternoon: Miss Hathaway, Miss Edith Kaye, Mrs. Keltie Jones, Mrs. Dimock, Misses Bayard, Miss Parker, Miss Travers, Miss Gordon, Misses Blair, Miss Fowles, Miss Campbell, Miss A. Paddington, Misses Pugsley, Miss Gertrude Allison, Miss Dyer, Miss Kay, Mrs. Borge, Mrs. J. B. Coffin, Miss Stanley Ritchie and others.

The only dinner party of last week was that given by the Countess and Countess De Barry, in honor of the Lieut Governor and Mrs. Fraser; the party was not a large one, but congeniality of the guests made it very pleasant and successful. On Thursday the Misses Bayard gave a tea for the entertainment of their guest, Miss Parker.

On Thursday evening there was a small dance at Judge Barker's; the evening was very merrily spent in dancing to excellent music. Last evening the Countess De Barry also entertained her young friends at a dance, given in honor of her guest, Miss Campbell. Quite a number of young folks were present and enjoyed themselves very much.

Priestley's BLACK DRESS FABRICS

"Are they not exquisite in their soft richness?" is the constant remark of ladies touching Priestley's famous black dress goods. And that is the truth, but it is not the whole description, for they have a character for refinement, for wearing and draping quality, which no other dress goods can lay claim to. The Priestley's appear to have gathered up all their excellences, and concentrated them in "Eudora," the latest black dress fabric they have given to the world. In every respect equal to the famous Henriettes, it surpasses them in extra width, and weight, and in dust-repelling quality. It is wrapped up in "The Vanished Board" and Priestley's name is stamped on every five yards.
