

TWO NEW BRUNSWICK MEN KILLED IN ACTION

VAN HORN PAID $700 BY CAPT. VON PAPEN

Interesting Evidence of Expelled Attache's Part in Conspiracy Revealed by Documents Taken from Him at Falmouth, Eng.—Van Horn's Commission as Lieutenant in German Landwehr is in Possession of United States Department of Justice.

London, Jan. 14.—Copies of correspondence seized from Captain Franz Von Papen recalled German military attache at Washington, when he reached Falmouth on his way to Germany, have been turned over to the American embassy for transmission to the State Department. They show that Von Papen made frequent payments to persons charged with the responsibility for blowing up munitions, works and bridges in the United States.

Van Papen's cheque stubs, bank books and letters from his bank, the Riggs National Bank, of Washington, show about 500 items, many of which had to do with routine expenditures. Others, however, revealed payments to various persons who have figured prominently in the activities of German agents in America, and to at least one spy, who committed suicide in a cell in an English prison.

Several large payments were made to Captain Von Papen by Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador at Washington. Most of these were for salaries or bonuses. A number of entries showed payments made by the ambassador to the military attache for "war intelligence offices." One of the payments on this account, made in October, 1914, was for $2,300.

One entry shows that Captain Von Papen gave $700 to Van Horn, arrested in connection with the blowing up of a Canadian Pacific Railway bridge at St. Croix, Maine. The day before this cheque was issued the German embassy paid $2,000 into Captain Von Papen's account.

Another cheque stub shows that about two weeks before the explosion in Seattle on May 30, 1915, Captain Von Papen sent $600 to the German consulate at Seattle. In Feb. of 1915 he sent $1,200 to the German consulate in that city.

Among the letters taken from Von Papen there is little of interest, with the exception of a letter from the German consul at New Orleans, confiding him on his recall from Washington and criticizing severely the attitude of the American government.

In January, 1915, Von Papen gave a cheque payable to Amick and Company, New York, but with the name of E. Kneperle in brackets on the stub. This is believed to have reference to the man named Kneperle, who, after being arrested in England on a charge of espionage,

RAILWAYMEN'S UNION AGAINST CONSCRIPTION

News Agency Despatch Says Union Threatens Strike if Measure Goes Through House of Commons.

New York, Jan. 14.—A news agency despatch from London published here this afternoon says: "The National Railwaymen's Union, one of the strongest labor organizations in Great Britain, defied the government to enact the conscription bill. In the most drastic resolution yet adopted by any labor body the executive committee of the railwaymen declared that their organization will resist conscription to the uttermost."

"They hinted at an immediate strike of all the railway workers of Great Britain if the bill passes parliament. 'Unless the government is prepared to confiscate the wealth of the privileged class for the more successful prosecution of the war,' read the resolution, 'the railway workers will resist to the uttermost the conscription of men, whose only wealth is their labor power.'"

"The executive committee declared that the railway workers are overwhelmingly opposed to any form of conscription. They have not receded, they said, from the position they took several months ago when they warned the government that an attempt to enforce conscription would be followed by a general strike."

"The drastic action of the railwaymen, coupled with the anti-conscription resolutions adopted by representatives of 800,000 miners yesterday, unquestionably has caused the government deep concern. Premier Asquith conferred informally today with members of the cabinet. It was rumored that efforts were being made to amend the bill, before the final vote is taken, to eliminate objections of the railwaymen and miners."

Seamen's Strike Settled. Glasgow, Jan. 14, 2:05 p. m.—The committed suicide, leaving a written confession in his cell. As an example of the size of the captain's financial operations, his bank book shows that in January of 1915 he received approximately $6,400 and paid out $5,000.

Boston, Jan. 14.—Counsel for Werner Van Horn, who claims to be a lieutenant in the German Landwehr, said tonight that the reported discovery of a record of payment to their client, found in the effects of Captain Franz Von Papen in London, was of much interest to them. But the evidence was not needed, they said, to prove their contention that Van Horn acted as a military officer when he dynamited the international bridge at Vanceboro, Maine.

Former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, of counsel for Van Horn, said: "If the Department of Justice would disclose all it knows in Lieut. Van Horn's favor, it would establish that he acted as a military officer and that the blowing up of the bridge was a pure act of warfare, and not punishable by the courts. This latest development ought to be followed by the discharge of Van Horn, if the United States is to pay any respect to the principles of international law."

Mr. O'Connell added that the Department of Justice had in its possession the commission of Van Horn as a lieutenant of the Landwehr. Van Horn, who is confined at a hearing soon before the Federal Court of Appeals on his petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Bernstorff, of Course, Denies. Washington, Jan. 14.—When Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, was shown London despatches tonight telling of the correspondence and accounts taken from Captain Von Papen, the former German military attache here, his comment was: "I don't believe it. Further than that the ambassador declined to be quoted for publication. He did make it plain, however, that he doubted that any documents of an incriminating nature had been taken from Von Papen although he advanced no theory of how the correspondence and accounts described in the London despatches had been connected with him."

TRIAL OF DIAMOND SMUGGLERS OPENS IN NEW YORK COURT

Father and Son Charged with Smuggling $700,000 worth of Gems Into U. S. from Canada.

New York, Jan. 14.—Herman J. Dietz, a jeweller formerly in business in this city, and his son, Charles, were placed on trial before Judge Huntington in the United States district court today on a charge of smuggling $700,000 worth of diamonds over the Canadian border between 1912 and 1914. The government contends the ramifications of the case extend into the bankruptcy court, in which seven or eight firms filed petitions after the Dietz firm was found to be insolvent. Several Canadian houses are alleged to have lost heavily through complicated note transactions.

It is charged that Dietz and his son had the diamonds shipped from Antwerp to Montreal, and that they were brought from there in lots valued at $25,000 or less.

U. S. MUST SUPPLY CANADA FIRMS ON REASONABLE SCALE

Washington, Jan. 14.—Formal notice was given the State Department by the British embassy today that the embargo on dye wood exports from Jamaica and British Honduras had been raised, and that the export of the product to the United States would be continued, provided the manufacturers of the country resumed supplying logwood extract to Canadian users on a reasonable scale.

A statement from the embassy announcing this action follows: "The British embassy have informed the State Department that the governor of Jamaica has issued a general license permitting the exportation of logwood chips and extract to the United States, as well as to Great Britain, France and Italy, and that the governor of British Honduras has been instructed to take similar action. "The export of these materials from British possessions to the United States will, however, only be continued on condition that the supply of extract from the United States to Canada be resumed on a reasonable scale."
