

hereinafter mentioned: Provided always, that nothing herein mentioned shall be construed to extend to prevent persons having stores or warehouses, in the city or liberties, from selling flour in the usual way, nor to prevent farmers from selling wheat, &c., in any other part of the city or liberties after the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, if they have been at the said market with their wheat, &c., and have been unable to dispose of it in the said market.

SEC. XX. That no person having any shop, stall, or standing in any of the markets of the city, shall underlet the said shop, &c., or shall place or leave any one in the same, under pretence of taking charge of the same, without the leave of the chamberlain of the city first obtained in writing.

SEC. XXI. That no farmer or other person shall dispose of any article of provision usually sold in the market upon any of the streets of the city, unless they have first been to one of the regular markets, and paid the fee hereinafter mentioned.

SEC. XXII. That the clerk of the market shall be entitled to demand and receive the following fees, viz.:—From the owner of each sleigh, waggon, or other carriage, in which there shall be any fresh meat exposed for sale in the city or liberties, sevenpence-halfpenny; and from all persons bringing produce or other articles of provision into the city or liberties for sale, if brought by a two-horse waggon or sleigh, the sum of sevenpence-halfpenny; if by a one-horse cart, sleigh, or cutter, the sum of fourpence; if brought on horseback, or in a wheelbarrow, the sum of threepence; and if by hand, the sum of one penny; and from all persons bringing lumber or shingles to the city or liberties for sale, the sum of sevenpence-halfpenny; and any person neglecting or refusing to pay the aforesaid fees, shall be subject to the penalties hereinafter mentioned; provided always, that wheat, barley, or flour, driven to the market as provided in Section XIX, before the end of the year 1846, shall not be chargeable with any fee.

SEC. XXIII. That any person guilty of any infraction of the provisions of this act, shall, on conviction, before the mayor or any one or more of the aldermen of the city, forfeit and pay, at the discretion of the mayor or aldermen convicting, a sum of money not exceeding five pounds, nor less than five shillings: and in default of payment of any fine imposed for any breach of the provisions of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the mayor or aldermen as aforesaid, to issue his warrant to levy the amount of fine and costs by distress and sale of the offender's goods and chattels; and in case no sufficient distress to satisfy the amount of fine and costs shall be found, it shall and may be lawful for the mayor or aldermen, as aforesaid, to commit such offenders to the gaol of the Home District, for any period not exceeding one calendar month.