

The Teacher Taught

THE War taught us many things for our good.

It showed clearly that efficiency was the key to successful results. It made it plain that training was essential to progress—to attainment.

So it is in the Great Work of the Sunday School

Sunday Schools everywhere are realizing more and more that the teacher trained for the Master's work has the greater ability and influence in the moulding of Christian character.

The New Standard Teacher Training Course was devised over a year ago to meet the need for a simple, practical course for teaching teachers—for training to greater efficiency.

The four books of the first year—so simply and ably written by eminent men—have had marked success in teaching how to teach.

With good reason, it is felt that the four books of the second year will be just as successful in accomplishment.

While group training is advised, an individual may be self-taught through these splendid little books.

One beauty of the course is that you can start any time.
