In addition to the above, we include the following stock, &c., which we would prefer being valued by competent judges, as our valuation might give offence, but as security. Ayrshire cattle. Durhams. Pure bred or imported Leicester, Cotswold, and Cheviot sheep. Improved Berkshire hogs. Also, Anglo-Saxon and one two-year-old Stallion. One yearling, do.; one, do. mare; one mare-colt; shares in three other colts,—all by Anglo-Saxon. Three brood mares, hired. Two brood mares. In less than three years the two stallions can pay off the whole debt, and be retained, if all is well. From our horses alone, we are convinced that, a large fortune may now be made; at the same time enhancing, to a great extent, the value of our exports. To produce any great improvement in stock, there must be some leading animal. Now, for utility, beauty, docility, action, and hardness of constitution, for stock and value, our horse stands unrivalled. We have labored perseveringly, for years, to raise him to his proper place, and this year has matured our design with complete success. The result is, his stock is now sought after. There is no central place in Canada where this stock is now raised. Thousands are required to supply our own country, yet the Americans take them from us. We believe a law will be passed, to put a tax on stallions, which will drive thousands of the inferior animals to the plough, and increase the demand for superior animals. This stock, in a great measure, commands the key of improvement. From the first year that he has been in our possession, there remains but one horse-colt in Canada, and that from an inferior mare that we do not commend; there will be some from inferior mares of last year that we do not commend. Surely this amount of stock, and this enterprise, assisted by myself and 10 children, accustomed to stock and the work of the farm, should command the use of $1000 at a lower rate than 24 per cent. per annum.

As we do not wish to dispose of stock yet, but rather to add to it, and extend our business, we now offer to the Public—200 AGRICULTURAL EMPORIUM NOTES of $5 each, amounting to $1000. The Notes will bear interest at 8 per cent., payable one year after date, at our Office in London. Each Note will be numbered, and the name of the holder entered in the Emporium stock-book, to prevent fraud. We make the amount small to enable numbers to take them. These notes will be accepted at any time, before coming due, for accounts, notes, etc., coming due to us at the Emporium. Holders of the notes will be expected to take our paper, where the monthly progress and management of the Emporium will appear they may also have a voice in the management, and a share in the privileges of the Institution. The permanent site of this Emporium may not be decided on until after the sitting of Parliament, and then may be established at the most suitable place offering; the present property might be advantageously kept as the breeding-ground, or otherwise. The security is such that you can be no loser. Many of you have a surplus amount of cash with which you can take a share; the more there are interested in the advancement of the plans, the surer and greater the success. If we did not require money and feel sure that we would use it advantageously, we should not issue this prospectus. We hope to meet with a ready response from those interested in our Agricultural advancement.

Applications may be made at Mr. F. Clark's Office, Richmond Street; the Huron and Erie Loan Society's Office; Mr. E. A. Taylor's Bookstore, Richmond Street; or by letter, addressed to Mr. W. WELD, Farmer's Advocate Office, London.

Negotiations may be made with influential gentlemen, seeing the advantages that may accrue to themselves and the county in which they reside, for the removal of the stock now held, and the paper now started, to be removed to a more suitable place, not further East than Montreal, nor further West than London.

REMARKS OF LEADING AGRICULTURISTS.

Mr. George Robson, the largest breeder in Durham cattle in Middlesex, says, Anglo-Saxon has produced better stock than he is himself. Mr. Dean Tiffany, Lobo, who has raised more horses than any man in this country, states that all Anglo-Saxon's colts, which he has seen, are of a superior class. Mr. J. Pincomb, Westminster, the largest breeder of Devon cattle in Canada, says that he believes that our Agricultural Emporium will become of more benefit to the country, than the Provincial Agricultural Association now is. J. P. Wheeler, Esq., President of the Provincial Agricultural Association, said that he believed, by a suitable mare from our horse, stock could be raised, not only to surpass anything in Canada, but on the continent. Mr. Wm. Doxtater, Delaware, asserts, he has on his land between 30 and 40 horses and colts, and one of Anglo-Saxon's colts can go by any of them with ease. Mr. J. Peters, London, keeper of a blood-horse and breeder of Durham and Devon cattle affirms that he is satisfied that a fortune may be made from Anglo-Saxon. Every person that we have seen, who has a colt from our horse, is highly satisfied with it. Mr. LeClare, Secretary to Lower Canada Agricultural Association, says, they imported seven stallions, this season, from France, but are satisfied with the superiority of our animal. Mr. W. F. Stone, Guelph, the largest importer and breeder in Canada, states that just as good stock can be raised in this country, as elsewhere." We are positive that this Institution only requires establishing, to enable us to save our exported money, and to command the market of a great part of the continent of America. Mr. Alexander Pintey, London, late of Toronto, President of the Gardeners' Association of Upper Canada, affirms that he has discussed the merits of our paper with Editors and others, capable of judging, and it is admitted that it may be easily made to command as large or a larger circulation than any paper in the Province. Mr. Beattie, Editor of the Leader, asserts that, "there is a good opening for the paper, and such a paper is much wanted." Mr. George Godfrey, Land Agent, Delaware, is positive that "he could make a fortune in five years, by carrying out the plans we have commenced, by advertising lands for sale on commission." T. Scatcherd, Esq., our member of parliament, assures us that we are doing much good for the country and deserve support. G. G.
