

Two Minute Talks About PANDORA RANGE for Coal or Wood

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking.

The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability.

If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.

Take Care of the Forests

An interview with an engineer given recently in a Western paper to the effect that there is abundant timber on the line of the Hudson Bay Railway, is an illustration of the misapprehension in regard to this matter that exists in the public mind. Because there are large areas of land in the north on which there is timber of some kind, the conclusion is reached that it is all of present value, and that the country has an unlimited supply. As a matter of fact, a careful inspection of the timber along the line of the Hudson Bay Railway, made in the years 1910 and 1911, by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, shows that there is not enough mature timber along the line of that railway to build the road. There are no prairie districts of any extent along the route; there are trees everywhere, but owing to repeated fires, the forest is, except on the merest fraction of the area, too small for commercial purposes, and unless it can be protected from fire until it reaches maturity, will never be of any use to the country. Explorations in other parts of the northern forested districts tell the same tale. Everywhere fire has worked havoc, and the forest is a mere wreck of what it might have been if fires could be prevented. And unless adequate measures are taken now to protect the young and immature forests which form the major part of the stand, the outlook for the future is none too good.

If the northern forests are to continue to be a permanent source of wealth to the country, it is absolutely necessary that the fire-rang system should be extended, and that proper methods of management of the forest should be applied, and public education to the value of the forest is even more necessary.

Sweden, which has large extents of northern forest, practically uninhabited, similar to those in Northern Canada, has about eliminated the fire danger in such districts mainly by educating her people to the value of the forests.

One of the most popular features at the International Live-stock Exposition, Chicago, which will this year be held from December 2nd to 9th, are the mighty Six-horse Team Exhibitions.

Recollections of this brilliant scene at the Chicago Stock Show inspired the following lines from the pen of Will H. Ogilvie, of Kelso, Scotland, whose writings on live-stock subjects are well known to many readers:

There's a murmur ripples among the crowd,
There's a stir at the entrance gate,
Where, biting the bit-bars, prancing and proud,
Swift's Percheron geldings wait;
Then, shining harness and lights ablaze,
As slow to the rein they swing,
With foam on their bits the sturdy grays
Come champing into the ring.

There's a muffled thunder of tramping feet
And a roar like the roar of the tides,
And someone shouts and the rest repeat,
"Here come the mighty Clydes!"
And the hearts of the Scotsmen throb
and "lep,"
As the teams no wealth can buy,
Spurning the dust with their "heather step"
As the pride of the North, go by.

It is far and far to Chicago now,
And the glitter of yonder teams;
I shall never see them again, I trow,
Except in the land of dreams!
But oft and oft when all sounds are stilled
I can hear the cheers roll down,
And see the ring with splendor filled
Of the teams of much renown.

"Have you any ancestors, Mrs. Kelly?" asked Mrs. O'Brien.
"And phwat's ancestors?"
"Why, people you sprung from."
"Listen to me, Mrs. O'Brien," said Mrs. Kelly, impressively. "O! come from the rale shlock av Donahues that sprang from nobody. They sprang at thim."

Two Germans, who were crossing the Luxembourg frontier, thinking to play a joke on the customs officials, said to them, "We have with us three bottles of red wine each. How much is there to pay?" "Where is it?" "Well, inside us!" The official looked gravely at his tariff book and read out—"Wine in casks, twenty shillings; in bottles, forty-eight shillings; in donkeys' hides, free." "Gentlemen," he added, looking up, "you can pass!"

GRIPPE LEFT HIM A CONFIRMED INVALID

But he found a cure in Dodd's
Kidney Pills.

Quebec Postmaster was confined to bed when he started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills—They cured him.

Tippins, Pontiac Co., Que., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Postmaster F. Tippins, of this place, who for three years has been more or less of an invalid, and who for some time was confined to his bed, is up and around again, a healthy and hearty man. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

"After recovering from an attack of Grippe," the Postmaster says in telling the story of his cure, "I took a pain in my back, and I suffered for nearly three years, finally getting so bad that I was confined to my bed."

"One day I told my wife to go and get me some Dodd's Kidney Pills, as that would be the last medicine I would try. After using about half the box I began to feel better, so I kept on taking them. When I had taken two boxes I was able to get up, and ten boxes cured me completely."

The principal danger of Grippe is the after effects. The way to guard against this is strengthen the Kidneys so they can strain all the dregs of the disease out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills are always the last medicine anyone takes for Kidney Disease. It always cures, and no other medicine is needed.
