

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL MEETS

Educational Societies Are Doing Much For the Labor Men.

The regular monthly meeting of the Brantford Trades and Labor Council was held last evening in Union Hall, with a fair representation of delegates present, President Moore in the chair.

The society of Amalgamated Carpenters sent a communication with a new list of delegates' credentials from their society, which was ordered accepted and delegates seated.

A communication was received and read from the Calgary Trades Council, regarding the Royal Commission's report on technical education, which was appointed by the Dominion Government, and which report, it was claimed, had not as yet been acted upon by the government, and asking the local council to send a resolution to the Government asking that they take steps to comply with the report of the commission.

Toronto Union Label Stores of Toronto, sent a communication regarding the class of goods they are handling, and asking co-operation in the purchase of the same.

President Moore read a lengthy report of the proceedings of the Ontario Labor Educational Association convention, which was held recently in St. Thomas. The report showed that in matters educational and otherwise this association is doing a grand work among the union men of the province. Special mention was made of the publicity campaign carried on in connection with the passage of the Workmen's Compensation Act. The report, as a whole, was interesting, and at the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered President Moore for his able report of the same.

A resolution was passed by the council calling upon the Whitney government to appoint labor representatives on the Workmen's Compensation Board, as it was considered that the laboring classes should be well represented on such a board.

A resolution that had been left over dealing with the refusal of the Public School board to have a fair wage clause inserted in its contract in connection with the new school, was not taken up, as it was explained by the president that such a clause had been inserted in the contract before it was finally signed.

Several other matters of importance were laid over to be dealt with at the next regular meeting in July, when the annual election of officers will also take place.

A "LOCKOUT."

CINCINNATI, June 4.—Armando Marsons, outfielder, and Dave Davenport, pitcher, of the Cincinnati National League team, yesterday demanded new contracts, which will contain a new mutuality clause and likewise more money.

They informed Manager Herzog of their demands shortly before the game with St. Louis, notified him that they would give the manager two days in which to answer and that in case their demands were not met they would quit the team at the expiration of ten days.

Manager Herzog immediately ordered both of them off the field and stated that he would have to have more time to determine what other steps should be taken.

President Hiermann of the club refused to discuss the incident, stating that Herzog was in complete control.

CRICKET.

The following has been picked to play against Highfield College Hamilton on Saturday next, 2.30 p.m., at O.I.B. grounds: A. Bland, captain; W. West, F. W. Hutchings, F. W. Derbyshire, F. W. Stewart, G. Johnston, E. Winyard, Archdeacon, J. Usher, G. W. Whitwell, J. Frost.

BASEBALL FLIES.

The New York Giants have forged ahead of Pittsburgh and are now leading the National League.

Manager Kelley of Toronto Leafs arrived back in the Queen City from Buffalo. The team had a disastrous trip, winning only two out of seven games. In the five they lost they scored enough runs to win any ordinary game, but the pitchers failed to stand up, Rogge being the only winning pitcher. Herne will work for the Leafs to-day against the Royals.

"GUNBOAT" SMITH GOES TO ENGLAND FOR BOUT WITH FRENCH CHAMPION

"Gunboat" Smith, the California heavyweight, who is matched to fight Georges Carpentier, of France, in London, is shown above as he left for England. The big fellow, who was in fine condition, said that he would train in England for the bout, which will take place during the last week of June or first week of July.

Smith, who was accompanied by his bride of a few months, looked to be in fine condition and he felt confident of his ability to defeat the French champion, who is now one of the most popular boxers in Europe. If he is successful in his match with Carpentier, the "Gunboat" will seek a contest with "Jack" Johnson, heavyweight champion, who is preparing for a bout with another American, Frank Moran.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't Stay Gray! Here's an Old-Time Recipe That Anybody Can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or ture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant. Agent T. George Bowles.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright 1913 by W. G. Chapman.

With long sweeps of his giant muscles Tarzan sent the little craft speeding toward the beach. Its prow had scarcely touched when the ape-man leaped to shore—his heart beat fast in joy and exultation as each long familiar object came beneath his roving eyes—the cabin, the beach, the little brook, the dense jungle, the black, impenetrable forest. The myriad birds in their brilliant plumage; the gorgeous tropical blooms upon the festooned creepers falling in great loops from the giant trees.

Tarzan of the Apes had come into his own again, and that all the world might know it he threw back his young head and gave voice to the fierce, wild challenge of his tribe. For a moment silence reigned upon the jungle, and then, shrill and weird, came an answering challenge. It was Sabor, the tiger, and the deep roar of Numa, the lion, and from a great distance faintly the fearsome answering bellow of a bull ape.

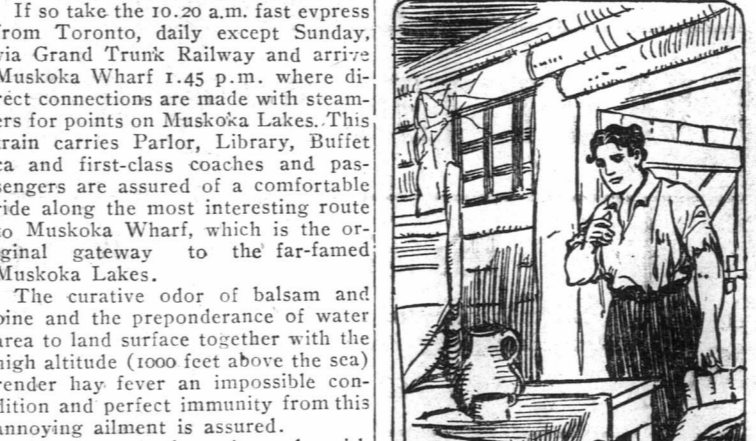

Tarzan went to the brook first and slaked his thirst. Then he approached the cabin. The door was still closed and latched as he and D'Arnot had left it. He raised the latch and entered. Nothing had been disturbed. There were the table, the bed and the little crib built by his father; the shelves and cupboards just as they had stood for over twenty-three years; just as he had left them nearly two years before.

His eyes satisfied, Tarzan's stomach began to call aloud for attention. The pangs of hunger suggested a search for food. There was nothing in the cabin, nor had he any weapons; but upon a wall hung one of his old grass ropes. It had been many times broken and spilled, so that he had discarded it for a better one long before. Tarzan wished that he had a knife. Well, unless he was mistaken he should have that and a spear and bows and arrows before another sun had set—the rope would take care of that, and in the meantime it must be made to procure food for him. He coiled it carefully, and, throwing it about his shoulder, went out, closing the door behind him.

Close to the cabin the jungle commenced, and into it Tarzan of the Apes plunged, wary and noiseless, once more to a savage beast hunting its food. For a time he kept to the ground, but finally, discovering no spoor indicative of nearby meat, he took to the trees. With the first dizzy swing from tree to tree all the old joy of living swept over him. Vain regrets and dull heartache were forgotten. Now was he living. Now indeed was the true happiness of perfect freedom his. Who would go back to the stifling, wicked cities of civilized man when the mighty reaches of the great jungle offered peace and liberty? Not he.

While it was yet light Tarzan came to a drinking place by the side of a jungle river. There was a ford there, and for countless ages the beasts of the forest had come down to drink at this spot. Here of a night might always be found either Sabor or Numa crouching in the dense foliage of the surrounding jungle awaiting an antelope.

loped or a water buck for its meal. Here came Horta, the boar, to water, and here came Tarzan of the Apes to make a kill, for he was very hungry.

On a low branch he squatted above the trail. For an hour he waited. It

A CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Tortured Four Years Until He Took "Fruit-a-tives"

RIDGETOWN, ONT., May 21st, 1914. "Your 'Fruit-a-tives' cured me of Rheumatism. It was the only medicine that made any impression on me. I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism, and was laid up for four winters with Sciatica and Muscular Rheumatism, and was a cripple completely, not being able to do anything. I doctored with four different physicians, but they did not help me. Other advertised remedies were equally unsatisfactory, and I have taken several.

Some neighbor of mine told me that "Fruit-a-tives" helped him, and I took them faithfully every day and the result was marvellous. For over two years now, I have been free from any Rheumatic pains whatever, and give "Fruit-a-tives" the full credit for making a remarkable cure."

er's figure. When one has the recent blossoms of ever shortening days have it is accompanied by all fulness fast disappearing. I have noticed several persons on the street. The most sensation one is a pair—one costume of the the partlets of black satin which flared with astonish quite six inches above, and white checked with a thin waistcoat with yellow very smart little pockets beneath the Eton coat, and a starched linen collar what on the order of the the old-time country squashed the neck.

Girdles Are Lowered.

The hat was a rober's varnished straw with two. If the wearer had been less resplendently fresh-faceted and more in tune at the effect of the garb. Another hint of future to me in two important rows girdles, which were minutest fraction of an in. In these days of style one must take account of so many unimportant details. Or since the big transformations had fitted basques. Some have been made to wear of Now with the new style of front of the newest girdle cal to expect a semi-rigid waist of all sorts of sizes. It is the time when the summer frocks are being a source of all sorts of suits. I cannot remember a set much style and charm in slipped in these gowns, and colorings are still draperies and ruffles and ruffles all make it possible both smart and picturesque.

I was shown the sweetest frock at the modiste's clever woman could duplicate house with the aid of a pen. It was developed in this known as watermelon pink was plain with a shaped flared at the knees in a soft effect.

Frocks of Dimity.

It was edged in narrow and put on with a cord. The bodice had kimono deep white organdie cuffs waistcoat or veste of the flaring of the lower portion of girde of black satin with a pink stripe, tied at one of of the bows pointing up bodice and two loops extended to the ruffle. At each side where it joined the veste groups of pink crystal buttons in black.

Another frock in this argument was of dimity. Little pile poeies on a cream ground charmingly summery, one with three ruffles of the topmost one having a satin and being placed over the hips and the knees. The way between the knees and the bodice was a simple white batiste. There was soft satin in a simple style matched the flowers. One safe in a style way if she were to wear it. I have seen some lovely kind. One had the skirt of the tunic and Eton blouse knickered in rose.

Useful Hints

By

If the edges of a sunny buttered, the contents will. When putting a stopper always give it a half-turn in. This will prevent it.

It is a good plan to help thickly just where any furniture has to rest on it, to keep motion, etc. away. The creaking of a wheel constantly stopped by rabbit with a piece of soap is the looks of the paint as used.

Directly tea is split and cover the stain with warm it for a while, and when washed all stains will have.

The reason that some men not jell is probably because been boiled enough. Many great deal more boiling requires from two and a half hours.

To keep a coffee-cup sweet spoonful of baking soda in two-thirds full of water for an hour. Then rinse very. If this is done about the pot will remain sweet clean.

If a small piece of soap in a bowl or glass of water found to float on the water, it will prove it is sweet especially as compared to a tincture, and its smell not agreeable.
