It had been arranged in the course of the preparations for the celebration that the assembled warships should steam past the Hohenzollern in review, but for some unexplained reason, it was decided later that the Emperor's yacht should merely steam through the lines of the German and foreign fleets lying at anchor. This was accordingly done, all of the ships saluting the Hohenzollern as she passed. All of the ships were literally crowded with flags, and in the bright sunshine made a magnificent spectacle.

thing About the Port Crédit Mystery.

Toronto, June 21.—The authorities have set to work in earnest upon the Port Credit tragedy. When Neille Wye and Robert Hamilton were first found on Sunday evening it was supposed that it was simply a case of suicide. There was a rumor that a strange man had been seen leaving the couple but a short time before they died, but no one could be found to substantiate the statement. Yesterday it transpired that the story was perfectly true. The police have an accurate description of a man who was seen leaving the couple within an lour of the time of their death. He was seen by a Toronto merchant, who had been out to Oakville to see his brother. Later in the day the same man was seen at Port Credit, and he has since been traced to Hamilton. The police are following him up, and it is hoped that he may be able to throw light upon the mystery. mystery.

Purvis, who is a Whitecap, was convicted of murder and sentenced to be hanged. He was placed on the scaffold and the drop actually sprung, but the rope broke, and the sheriff, losing his nerve, yielded to the entreaties of the crowd not to hang Purvis again. He took the condemend man back to lail, where he has remained ever since. Purvis' attorney made a motion for an arrest of judgment on the ground that the day and term of the court having passed at which he should have been resentenced, the court had now no further jurisdiction in the premises. The motion was promptly overrued by Judge Terrell, and Purvis was commanded to stand up to receive the sentence of the court, which was that he should be hanged on Wednesday, July 31st. Purvis seemed perfectly cool and collected, and heaved a sigh of relief when the sentence was concluded.

Detroit, Mich., June 21.—The published assertions of A. F. Martin, of the Manitoba Legislature, in his discussion on the school question, have aroused the A. P. A. members here. Wednesday night W. J. H. Traynor supreme president of the association, sent a despatch to Mr. Martin denouncing his reported reflection upon the daughters of American citizens as maliciously false. John S. D. Stevens, Michigan president of the association, also sent to Mr. Martin a message, demanding to know whether he had been correctly reported in stating that he had testimony regarding the education of girls in the public schools of the United States which he considered was unfit to be read in public. Mr. Stevens demanded proof of the allegations or an apology.

London, June 21.—A grand international demonstration was held last night by the W. C. T. U. in the Royal Albert Hall, Lady Somerset presiding. It is estimated that 10,000 persons were present. A bodyguard of sailors of the nawy, proteges of Miss Agnes Weston, national worker among the sailors, escorted the speakers to the platform. Lady Somerset's address was enthusiastically received. Miss Weston followed, the seamen standing during her remarks. Upon the conclusion of Miss Weston's speech several of the sailors had medals conferred upon them in recognition of their many years' abstinence from intoxicating liquors.

Miss Frances Willard responded to the address of welcome. The polyglot petition was draped about the hall, besides a dozen great rolls that were piled in front of the platform.

sented by officers in brilliant uniforms.

At 11 o'clock shouts of "Der Kaiser kommt" arose. The Emperor, whose arrival was the signal of deafening cheers, was in admiral's uniform, and walked to his place with martial bearing. He acknowledged the enthusiastic greetings smillingly. His Majesty, having taken a standing position before the dais, Chancellor Hohenlohe asked the Imperial assent to commence the proceedings and then read a document relating to the ceremony, after which the Kaiser approached the stone, and receiving a mallet from the Bavarian plenipotentary in the Bundesrath, tapped the stone thrice. The stone also received blows from the royal prince present, from the members of the Rundesrath, Migisters of State, and a score of other state officials.

The stone being laid, the Kaiser returned to his place on the dais. At the conclusion of the ceremonies at the keystone, fine Emperor went on board the Hohenzollern, where he took luncheon. Salutes to His Majesty were fired by several of the warships in the bay.

Shortly after the laying of the keystone, the park de of all the German and foreign warships took place, the Kaiser, on the Hohenzollern, reviewing them. The parade lasted two hours, and was a most brilliant function.

It had been arranged in the course of the preparations for the celebrator.

Ottawa, June 21.—A political crisis is hovering over the Parliament buildings, and the different factions in the Tory party are at each others throats in such a way as a any moment may precipitate the downfall of the Administration. The trouble all comes about in this way:

The French Ministers and French Conservative members have been holding meetings daily, in the Speaker's apartments at the Senate, to discuss the schools question, and, if possible, force the hands of the Government with a view to the speedy introduction of remedial legislation. A threatened boit was contemplated, but that difficulty was partly bridged by a promise being secured that remedial legislation would be introduced before dissolution of the present Parliament. This does not then, it is understood that there will be a fall session, an appeal to the people to 'speedily follow. All this raised the ire of the Conservative Fories, who are now not slow to accuse their Quebec friends of secretly plotting a "cabal," which would either result in giving them all that they wanted in respect to remedial legislation or overturning the Government. The Ontario Tories resent this strongly and brand their colleagues from Quebec with disloyalty to the party. One statement from Western on the conservative of the Canadian Pacific loan against Sir John Macdonald. The question, therefore, which is now canvassed among the Conservatives from the other Provinces outside of Quebec is, how many votes can be secured against remedial legislation should the Government attempt to introduce it!

The first idea which prompted these gatherings in the vicinity of the red chamber was to threaten to boit on the Curran Bridge vote. It is well known that there is no particular friendship between the Minister of Public Works and the Minister of Public Works and the Minister of Railways, more especially on this very matter of the Curran Bridge. Mr. Oulmet is therefore accused of taking advantage of Mr. Haggart in the rather unenviable position in which he was placed.
