Sir Wilfrid at Sorel. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech at Sorel, A furniture factory, employing 200 Quebec, yesterday, preludes the general election, the date of which he promises to announce in a few days. The Premier spoke for an hour in the open air to an enormous gathering, and showed himself in good physical trim for the campaign.

His most palpable hit was his challenge of the Conservative party on the issue of the preferential tariff. On this question, the Opposition, as he aptly put it, has been neither fish, flesh ner fowl. Would the Conservative party old days. continue the preference if it should return to power? This is a question which neither Mr. Borden nor any of his colleagues have answered, and which they will offering.

The Premier leaves no one in doubt as to where he stands. He is prepared to defend the preference on its record. Great Britain is our best customer; we goes of British goods to secure lower to the leader of the Opposition as fol- of the year when it gets dark so early. freight rates for our export trade. The lows: Liberal Government is not prepared to shut British goods out of the Canadian market, and it is ready to enter into a treaty of commerce by which the trade between the two countries may be further developed.

These arguments were advanced by the Premier in Quebec before a French. Canadian audience. He has not one story for Ontario and another for his native Province. Deeds speak louder than words, and the accomplished fact of the Canadian preferential tariff is worth more to the mother country than the loyal pratings of politicians who would stab her with prohibitory duties if they had the power.
