

SEES REVIVAL OF
EGYPTIAN TRADECairo Business Interests Predict Early End to Depression.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 3.—Signs of a commercial revival are seen by business and shipping communities in Egypt. After months of depression, they say, there has come a healthier tone of confidence and optimism which is most encouraging. The feeling prevails among the business interests that the late fall will see the country back to normal and healthy trade.

The Egyptian public is wearying of discussions of the country's future political status, and is showing far more interest in the price of cotton, which is the barometer of commercial activity. Throughout the spring and summer, the large holdover from last year's cotton crop acted as a damper on the business community, which feared a further restriction of the Egyptian's purchasing capacity. Efforts have been made to relieve that situation. Prominent groups of Egyptian cotton growers have visited England and told the cotton spinners of Manchester that Egypt will not continue to grow cotton for unremunerative prices.

The Egyptian Government has officially restricted the area of cotton cultivation, and as a result, this season's crop is considerably less than the average. In addition, the crop has suffered this year more severely than usual from the boll weevil.

Owing in part to these reasons and in part to the rise in American cotton, the Egyptian crop nearly doubled in price. Consequently, optimism prevails among the growers and shippers.

KEMALISTS FACE
GREAT ODDS, BUT
FIGHT BRAVELYRagged Turkish Warriors
Surprise Greeks With Tenacity of Their Resistance.

INFLECT 9,000 CASUALTIES

Attacking Forces Pay Heavily
For Success of Drive Toward Angora.

Smyrna, Anatolia, Nov. 3.—Now that the headquarters staff of the Greek army has returned here after the conclusion of a summer campaign against the Turks in Anatolia, it is possible to make known some of the phases of the fighting not before available.

The efficiency and stubborn resistance of the comparatively ill-equipped force of Mustafa Kemal Pasha was a growing surprise to the Greeks as they penetrated toward Angora, Kemal's capital. The Turks contested every yard of the Greek advance, clinging to their trenches with fierce misery, until the sheer weight of numbers of their aggressors overwhelmed them. The Greek soldiers themselves say they never faced a braver, more determined foe.

That Kemal's forces were able to fight so effectively is considered remarkable, since the Greeks believe the Turks were lacking in many essentials of equipment, while the Greeks were well organized and well equipped.

Turks Poorly Equipped.
The Greeks had several thousand motor trucks and automobiles, while the Turks had less than 100. The Greeks enjoyed superiority also in the more vital matter of rifles, artillery and machine guns. As regards manpower, the preponderance was in favor of the Greeks by the proportion of one and a half to one. The Turkish troops were garbed in ragged and worn misshapen uniforms, and were miserably equipped, while the Greeks were well clothed, shod and accoutred.

Kemal's aeroplane service consisted of two machines. His adversaries had more than a dozen. The one branch of equipment in which the Turks undoubtedly excelled was in their railroad service. They had 25 locomotives and more than 500 freight and passenger cars. Added to this, they had, of course, the continued use of the railroad for the transport of troops, the movement of large guns, and the provisioning of the army.

Another vital element of strength was their powerful natural defensive positions against the Greeks, consisting of range after range of fortified hills and carefully-prepared trenches.

Lastly, their intimate knowledge of the terrain over which they fought was a factor of great value. It enabled them for one thing to make fierce attacks in the night, while their opponents were groping hopelessly in the dark over ground and amid surroundings that were entirely unfamiliar to them.

Greek Casualties 9,000.
How well the Kemalists fought is shown by the fact that in the first ten days of the big Greek drive toward Angora 9,000 Greeks were killed or wounded, while the number of Turks who fell in action or were wounded was only slightly more than half that total. A great part of the Turkish efficiency is ascribed by the Greeks to the fact that for every dozen men in the Turkish army there is one officer, and refusal to fight is punished by death. It is also said that the Kemalists are manned largely by officers.

The Greeks assert that the Turks' determined stand was due largely to the fact that Kemal Pasha has put machine guns behind them, robbing them of whatever chance they had to escape, but this assertion has not been possible of confirmation.

BANK OF ENGLAND
LOWERS ITS RATEDiscount Is Cut From 5 1-2 to 5 Per Cent.

London, Nov. 3.—The Bank of England reduced its rate of discount to 5 per cent from 5 1/2 per cent this morning. The last reduction in the discount rate was made July 21 last, when it was cut from 6 to 5 1/2 per cent.

Fluctuations of the rate established by the Bank of England have been of great interest in financial circles of Canada, being indication of the financial situation in London. When the discount rate was cut on June 23 to 6 from 6 1/2 per cent rate would be maintained for as a reduction had not been rumored, and all indications were that the 6 1/2 per cent rate would be maintained for some time.

When the war broke out in August, 1914, the rate was advanced to 10 per cent, the highest in the history of the Bank of England, that point having been touched upon only two occasions, during the panics of 1857 and 1866. After a few days, however, it was reduced to 6 per cent, and later to 5 per cent. It remained at that point until about the middle of 1919, when it was advanced to 6 per cent, but it was lowered to 5 per cent in April, 1921.

On Nov. 6, 1919, it went up to 6 per cent, where it remained until April 15, 1920, when it was advanced again to 7 per cent. On April 28 last there was a reduction to 6 1/2 per cent, this being followed by the cuts of June 23 and July 21.

Yesterday dispatches from Washington carried an announcement by the United States Federal Reserve Board that the discount rate of federal reserve banks in eight districts had been cut down.

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—(By Canadian Press.)—It is understood here tonight that Sir Edward Kemp, former minister without portfolio, is likely to be appointed to one of the four vacancies in the Senate.

Men, High in Canadian Politics,
Hailed From British Columbia

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov.—In the 45 years dating from 1872 to the last general election in 1917, British Columbia has been represented at Ottawa by 65 Conservatives and sixteen Liberals. British Columbia has contributed its quota of men who in greater or less degree have made their mark in Parliament, although its representation has been small. In 1872 Sir Francis Hincks was elected in Victoria. The Hon. Edgar Dewdney, for many years a minister of the crown, represented Yale. Lieut.-Col. E. G. Prior, minister of militia in 1896, was the member for Victoria. William Templeman, a cabinet minister, was elected in Victoria in 1896 and at a by-election in 1909 he was returned for Comox-Alberni. Hon. S. F. Timine, Canada's present minister of agriculture also represented Victoria until the dissolution of Parliament a few weeks ago. Hon. Martin Burrell, Yale, also obtained cabinet rank.

British Columbia's relations with the Central Government at Ottawa have been happy enough, although there have been differences of opinion at various times over financial matters and the fisheries. While there has been considerable political turmoil in the province, this has been confined almost entirely to the provincial arena. In the early political history of the province there was considerable bitterness displayed over the delay in the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the chief condition on which the province entered confederation.

British Columbia representation in House of Commons dates back to 1872, the first general election following the confederation of the province. Confederation being held in that year. During the fourth session of the first parliament of Canada British Columbia was given six members, the province having entered confederation July 20, 1871.

The representation remained at six or seven parliaments. In the parliament elected in 1900 the representation was increased by one and continued at seven until 1914. In that year a redistribution bill was passed, increasing the province's representation to thirteen members, and at this number it stands today.

For the first six parliaments British Columbia's members were Conservatives, and not until the election in 1896 did the Liberals send a representative to Ottawa. In this year they elected four members to the Conservatives' two. The province continued to endorse Liberal candidates in the three succeeding parliaments, but the Liberals failed to elect a member in 1911 or in 1917.

The following table will indicate the political complexion of members of parliament since 1872:

GOOD PORTRAITS BRING
LOW PRICES AT ZURICH

May Find Better Prices in Other Markets.

GENEVA, Nov. 3.—Paintings of the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs have slumped in the market until what are considered by dealers good portraits of the former German Emperor and the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria brought only bids of 100 francs each at a recent art sale in Zurich.

Portraits of the former German Crown Prince Frederick William in his Death's Head uniform brought offers of only 50 francs.

The dealers offering these and other similar pictures guaranteed them as coming from the various royal palaces. The pictures are to be taken to the United States and to England, where the dealers hope the markets will be better.

NUKOL FUEL COMPANY'S STATEMENT SHOWS LOSS

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—At a meeting of 500 shareholders of the Nukol Fuel Company, held this afternoon, the financial statement showed that up to January 1, 1921, the company had lost upwards of $125,000 and for the nine months ending September 30, losses were $72,069.81. Operating expenses were recorded as $132,000, and sales amounted to something like $56,000 which one shareholder said had been affected at a manufacturing cost of $145,000. President Slater thought the company could make a profit by May 2, next year.

COULD NOT EAT

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seeley's Bay, Ont., writes: "For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my head was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating certain foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them to anyone troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

BACKACHERemoved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Meaford, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache, and I also had a female weakness. I felt dizzy and nervous, and was without energy. I had to force myself to do my work, and was always tired. Saw a Pinkham advertisement which induced me to take the Vegetable Compound, and my back gradually stopped aching and I felt lighter in spirits. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound with pleasure to all I meet who complain as I did."—MILDRED BROOK, Meaford, Ont.

Woman's Precious Gift
The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

STREET CAR AND
AUTOS IN MIXUP

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 3.—An auto, driven by William H. Small, milk dealer, was hit by a street car this morning and the momentum of the car shoved the auto along at a fairly rapid pace, about forty feet, when it struck the auto of George Ponsford and then went to pieces. Mr. Small was cut and bruised, but not seriously injured. The fender and steering gear of Mr. Ponsford's machine was damaged. Mr. Small was watching Mr. Pons-ford's auto as it was approaching him and forgot the coming of the street car. Mr. Small narrowly escaped a serious accident at the Southwick street crossing of the M. C. R. last summer, when a locomotive hit his horse and wagon, killing the animal and wrecking the vehicle.
