THE LADIES' OWN.

It was a very enthusiastic audience which listened to an address of Mrs. Lillian M. Hollister in the lodge room of the A.O.U.W. hall last evening. Although life insurance and its concommitant of having to die to win, is not a particularly enlivening subject, still the lecturer by means of sundry diverting tales by way of illustration succeeded in making the time pass exceedingly pleasantly and instructively withal. Dr. Mary McNeil, who occupied the chair usually allotted to the chairman, in a neat little speech introduced the lecturer, and took occasion on behalf of the ladies of Victoria Hive No. 1 to heartily welcome Mrs. Hollister to Victoria.
