

Lowry With Nice Victory Over Sarnia's Intermediates

Lowry Will Play For New York Hockey Club

Is Expected To Return Here To Notify London Club of His Intention

Jerry Lowry will play for the New York Knickerbocker Hockey Club next winter, according to an authoritative news source. He was expected back in the city last night from a week-end visit to Toronto.

Members of the London hockey committee are awaiting his return for the purpose of having him state definitely whether he intends going to New York to play with the Knickerbocker Club or to remain in London. Lowry went to Toronto on Friday to visit his brother, who plays on the St. Michael's College team, and witnessed the Varsity-Queens game on Saturday afternoon.

Reports from Toronto state that Lowry has decided to join the Soo Greyhounds and "Sis" Slater and play with the New York club. During the past few months the New York team, which is coached by Charles Slater, has played hockey here last year, when he was bidding for Lowry's services.

Lowry informed the members of the hockey committee some time ago that the New York club wanted him to make a jump, but he has intended to remain in London.

Lowry returned to the city yesterday, and when asked where Lowry has jumped the club, he intended to Leamy claimed ignorance of the fact that Lowry had gone to New York.

PRACTICE TO-MORROW

Last week Lowry was certain that he would play here this winter and was measured for equipment for the coming season. With his practice starting on Tuesday, the London hockey club will play in London he will no doubt return by that time.

Lowry has deserted the fold there will be but two members of last year's team available, including Leamy and Starkings, out of nine players.

At a meeting of last year's hockey committee of the London A. A. A., held on Saturday afternoon, J. W. Williams, president of the London Amateur Athletic Association, was appointed to the 1928 committee in place of N. J. Williams, J. D. Isaacs, Stan R. Reid, William Marsden, William Haddon and George Little will comprise the committee for the coming season. A meeting of the new committee will be held to-day for the purpose of outlining plans for the season.

Tom Flinnore and Gerald Zeigler, of St. John's, will be the two members of the London senior sextet this season. Both lads have plenty of ability and should fit in well with the team.

Ice making was started at the London rink yesterday, and William Marsden announced last night that the seniors will take the ice for the initial workout to-morrow afternoon. The juniors, as London feels the necessity of developing, will be available for the first exhibition game of the season will be staged in two weeks and London hockey will be provided with plenty of pre-season work.

WINS AUTO RACE

ROCKINGHAM SPEEDWAY, LONDON, N. H., Nov. 1.—Peter De Paolo clinched the 1929 automobile racing championship yesterday and established a world's record for 200 miles when he won the annual race over that distance on the new board speedway here before 70,000 spectators, in 1 hour 53 minutes and 30 seconds, an average of 123 miles an hour.

The old mark, held by Tommy Milton, was 126 miles an hour. De Paolo finished a lap ahead of Ralph Hepburn and two laps ahead of Earl Cooper.

The little Brookline racer drove the entire distance himself, without a stop, taking the lead at the halfway mark and holding it to the end, except for half a lap when Earl Cooper passed him in a thrilling spurt. De Paolo retained the lead with a cool dash down from the rim of the track on the next turn.

The fiery Hartz finished fourth, Earl Devoe sixth, Norman Batten seventh and Jerry Wondrich last.

De Paolo's victory brought him $9,000 in prizes. Hepburn collected $5,000, and Cooper $3,000.

MISS RYAN BEATS MRS. MALLORY

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, today won the women's singles tennis championship of Mexico. Miss Ryan, playing brilliantly, defeated Mrs. Mollie B. Mallory, 6-8, 6-3, 6-2.

THE RED TILE FRONT

SWEATERS

That will keep you warm. That's one outstanding feature of these sweaters. We say ONE because that's what a man needs a sweater for. Added to that is the quality—every stitch is pure wool, convertible collars, correct colors—such as camel, jockey (the new red shade) and white; sizes from 36 to 44. We are passing this feature value on to you at $5.95

That makes these sweaters a real buy, doesn't it? And when we tell you they are made by Ballantyne and the Monarch Knitting Co. that's actually doubling the guarantee of their worth.

Shamrock Girls' Quintet Retires

Three Former Stars Will, However, Turn Out With Westervell's Team

The London Shamrock girls' basketball team, three years champions of the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association and the first Eastern team to take part in a Dominion play-off, has passed out of the basket ball picture for this year, at least.

Miss Charlotte "Lottie" Garrett, star center player of the Shamrocks, will join the Westervell Grads team this evening for practice and will be captain of Westervell's team which will be the only senior entry from London on the Ontario Ladies' Basketball Association.

Three former Shamrock players will be on Westervell's team, including Lottie Garrett, Marion Hayden and Hazel Aiken. Practices have been held for the past two weeks by Westervell girls under the direction of Coach Jerry Goodman. It is possible that Westervell Grads will open the season with an exhibition game on Saturday evening.

The management of the new girls' basketball team will provide the basket ball public with several exhibition games during the winter months, including the Cleveland Favorite Kaita. Exhibition games will be played on open nights and it is the desire of the London team to bring the Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association title back to this city.

ANNUAL MEETING—The annual meeting of the C. N. R. A. A. is called for Thursday evening, November 12, in the East London car shops. In addition to the election of officers and presentation of reports, a smoker and concert will be given.

Dempsey's Tactics Kill Popularity

Discards Rough and Ready Good Fellowship of Old Days

BY HAROLD MATSON.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—This town has "got" Jack Dempsey.

He has gone "the way of all flesh" that is borne by movie kielias.

From his more popular days of rough-and-ready good fellowship, the champion has grown into a "gentleman" in the strict Hollywoodian usage.

His hair is patent-leathered. His rousers have that generous fullness of Oxford bags. His evenings are usually ill-dressed. His nose is almost lissic. He is the husband of a movie actress.

Synthetic Dempsey—and pathetic Dempsey, for the champion is seeing the light after a year of one-way light.

The man has perfectly portrayed the able of the ambitions. He climbed the ladder of success quickly, and in his haste he failed to look back. Now, on the top, he turns to bow to the plaudits, but there is silence. He sees where once milled countless friends and admirers, eager to pay tribute.

Read this, quoted from a sport page in Los Angeles on the day after Dempsey returned from the East:

"For the first time since he became champion, not a single boxing writer in Los Angeles newspapers was at the train to interview Dempsey."

Significant paragraph. A paragraph that has behind it a long story about the champion. Once Dempsey reached the press crowd and the fight crowd, then he had his nose plastered.

Recently he renovated the hotel he was here and took down a sign of welcome to ring fans. His secretary told visitors and telephone callers that Jack was "not at home."

He divorced himself from the forces of the prize ring—his prize ring.

Boxing writers turned the other cheek a couple of times, but a couple of times were enough. Mr. Dempsey found himself left alone, forgotten. He found himself passed up just as neatly as he had passed up Jack Kearns and every other admiring knave of the ring. It was a wholesome job, both ways.

UP-STAGE TACTICS HANDICAP.

Perhaps Dempsey has not been contentiously up-stage. No doubt the man has his troubles—what with brokerage, business, hotels, movies, plastic noses, party wiles, formal banquets and parties—and the difficulties of wide-open-spaces man would have in a place where one's grammar is remarked and where one's fork has a code of its own.

It would all be nobody's business if Jack meant to keep his back turned on the ring. But he doesn't. He wants to see more, plastic noses and party wiles. He is beginning to count the errands of his ways.

Recently he renovated the hotel he was here and took down a sign of welcome to ring fans. His secretary told visitors and telephone callers that Jack was "not at home."

He divorced himself from the forces of the prize ring—his prize ring.

Red Dodges Artfully Through Pennsy's Squad and Yale Stops Army

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Any hesitation that the Red Army has had in placing its wrath upon the head of Red Grange or any skepticism as to the greatness of this feat of the gridiron, has vanished in the wake of the meteoric swash he cut through the mud of Pennsylvania's and Michigan's attack that shattered any national championship hopes entertained by the Red and Blue.

Pennsylvania's defeat, her first after two straight victories and after successive triumphs over Brown, Yale and Chicago, was not more sensational than Yale's smashing defeat of the Army, which had conquered Notre Dame.

The Red Army's most astonishing feat of the season, that left only three undefeated teams in the top flight of the national list—Yale, Dartmouth and Syracuse, had all these could do to take the measure of Brown from center field and three downs took the ball over Sarnia's line. It was not converted. With three minutes to play McGibbon, for Sarnia, grabbed an outside and ran 15 yards, for a touch. This also was not converted. The final score was 6-5 in favor of the Windsor clan. Patterson and Bell refereed the fixture. The teams: Sarnia—Pardue, flying wing; Geary, McWaters, Clark, halves; G. Patterson, Kitchener, French, snaps; Simmonds, Logan, insides; M. Patterson, Bell, middle; Stubbs, McGibbon, ends; Nichol, Wemple, Burwell, Ferguson, Twaith, Boyler, subs; Clemens, flying wing; Windsor—Fox, Jefferies, halves; Smith, quarter; Hicks, snap; Francis, Thomas, insides; McLeod, snaps; middle; G. Garrison, ends; Aitchison, Sower, Brown, Reid, Clemens, subs.

COCKSHUTTS HAVE CHANCE

BRANTFORD, Nov. 1.—Brantford Cockshutt Blues have made their second chance to play the Provincial Soccer League honors. Only C. N. R.'s of London can oust them and to do this they must beat, in turn, Taylor, Forbes, of Quebec, Chippmans, of Hamilton and the Kitchener club. The Provincial League standing up to Friday last as made up by the league secretary, is:

Team	P	W	L	D	F	A	P
Cockshutt	8	5	2	1	25	10	11
Hamilton	9	3	3	1	20	6	9
Chippmans	7	3	3	1	15	8	7
London C. N. R.	5	3	1	1	15	8	7

The above totals of goals for and against do not tally, as has been the case into former tables secured from this source.

SCOTLAND DEFEATS WALES.

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 31.—Scotland defeated Wales in an international soccer match here to-day, by 3 goals to 0.

GENE TUNNEY TO FIGHT

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 31.—Gene Tunney, New York, and John Eisco, Cleveland heavyweight, have been signed to box 12 rounds to a decision at public auditorium on the night of November 18, the opening contest of the local indoor boxing season. Promoter Matt J. Hinkel announced to-day.

WALTHOUR AND SPENCE WIN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Bobby Walthour, of Arlington, N. J., and Fred Spence, of Plainfield, N. J., won the six-day bicycle race, which ended at 11 o'clock last night, traveling 2,165 miles and nine laps in the 146 hours' grind. They won on points with 146, three other teams being tied with them in mileage at the finish.

Taylor-Forbes In Scoreless Draw

Guelph Provincial League Fixture Here With London C.N.R. No-Decision Affair

Taylor-Forbes soccer eleven, of Guelph, took away a valuable single point at an interesting game with the London C. N. R. here on Saturday, neither side scoring.

The visitors played a hard short passing game, which put the locals off their usual game, and the work of the halves on both teams was the outstanding feature. The locals, however, were the more dangerous side when near goal, but both goalies were always ready.

The first half saw the locals do most of the attacking and Taylor, on their right, sent in several good shots that almost scored, but the interval arrived with the score sheet blank.

The second period was a repetition of the first, the defense on both sides being prominent, and considering the fact that the visitors only had 10 men during the last half owing to their goalkeeper being sent off, they did well in holding the home team to a draw.

The teams: Taylor-Forbes: Dunlop and McColi; Schofield, Hill, and Muir; Halliwell; Mooney, Moerland, Kerr and Hilton.

London—Goddard, Askew and Thorne; Russell, Whitlow, Ayles; Taylor, Beasley, Henderson, Hutchings and Thompson.

Referee—Smith, Brantford.

SHOTS AT GOAL.

The Railroaders dropped a valuable league point to Taylor-Forbes on Saturday and they will need to win their two remaining games if they hope to clinch the provincial championship. Next Saturday they travel to Chatham and should exact full points from the Rangers, who are not too confident.

The crucial game should be when Chippmans, of Hamilton, come here, it was the Railroaders' first provincial game with the Hamilton team, when they lost by a penalty, and failed to clinch the provincial championship.

The Railroaders have an excellent team, and in fact, their pivot, they have a wily player in the forward line, a clever, but the short passing game played on Saturday failed to produce goals, as the London side snipped away dangerous movement in the bud.

The McCutcheon cup game played last Thursday, between the Railroaders and the Ontario team, which was a little feeling and is to be regretted as the Pottersburg eleven made a big impression in their first big game, and in the interests of the game it is hoped that the incidents arising from the game will be forgotten, especially as the season is drawing to a close.

The football council will meet on Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m., to discuss the matters of vital importance will be dealt with. Also the O. P. A. report will be submitted by Mr. McLeod, of London and District delegate to the F. A. Council members are urged to attend.

The game on Thanksgiving Day which was to have been played between a wily old-time players and the Railroaders, will not be played. Why not get a team of all-stars selected from the rest of the league to play the Railroaders? A game of this description should draw a large crowd on the holiday.

The Railroaders may go to Montreal after their game in Kitchener next Saturday, to play the Montreal C. N. R. an exhibition game. Fans wishing to accompany the team to Kitchener are reminded that they travel by the 12:20 train on Saturday.

McGill Defeats Big Four Leaders

Ottawa Suffers 7-6 Defeat At Hands of Shag's Collegians

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—Frank Shaughnessy's red-shirted McGill team defeated the capital yesterday and defeated Ottawa Senators in an exhibition game of rugby by a score of 7 to 6. The game was just as close as the score indicated and "breaks" were responsible for the major scores secured by both teams.

The game was featured by the brilliant running of the half backs and the punting duel staged by St. Germaine and Tubman. On the day's performance the former Ottawa junior star, now kicking for McGill, had the better of the argument, consistently getting more distance than the Ottawa captain. The players battled along on a field that was slippery with mud and as a result both the half backs and tackles were hampered in their work.

COULTER BROTHERS' BLUE RIBBON SPEED SALE

On Wednesday, November 18, Coulter Brothers will hold their Fall Blue Ribbon Speed Sale at the Repository, Nelson Street, Toronto. Trotters, pacers, saddle horses, road horses and ponies will be offered for sale. Entries should be made at once. Catalogues mailed on application. The Fall Blue Ribbon Speed Sale at the Repository has become quite an institution, is attended by a large number of buyers and this year the entries are unusually large. The date is Wednesday, November 18. Sale begins at 11 o'clock.

BILLY EVANS Says

WISE POLICY.

The National League does not name its most valuable player until the December meeting of the two major leagues.

This is an excellent idea for two reasons. If the player selected is a superb performer, he will be named as the honor thrust upon him before he is all over. He has nothing to worry about.

Incidentally, naming the most valuable player in the league after the season is over, causes the papers to give it a much bigger play than if the selection was announced just before the opening of the world series.

In this connection I recently received a very interesting letter, which is an taking the liberty of repeating in part:

GOOD IDEA.

"Would it not be better, Mr. Evans, to name the most valuable player in each major league after the season of the world series? It is a great strain to just play in the series, in addition to trying to live up to the high standard of reputation is asking too much."

"You will recall that Walter Bishop, voted the most valuable player last year, fell down, as did Roger Peckinpah this year."

"Don't you think that Peckinpah played with the mental hazard of being voted the most valuable player in the American League constantly before his eyes? I am sure it must have affected his play."

"Practically all of Peck's poor playing was done in Pittsburgh. No doubt he realized he was being carefully looked over by the National League fans. We can only hope that the National League fan who voted for Peckinpah, was not the same fan who voted for Bishop, for if he was, he would have voted for Bishop, as did Roger Peckinpah this year."

"Like my friend, Mr. Fan, I feel the most valuable player should not be named until after the world series. The plan is sure to be voted on at the next American League meeting."
