

letter is known, or unknown, to the editor of the Herald. If the name of the writer be unknown to him, he will excuse us for telling him that in publishing such a letter, he was guilty of a gross indiscretion—and of the unpardonable infraction of a rule which all newspaper editors—the editor of the Herald amongst the rest—have laid down for their guidance. That rule is—NEVER TO PUBLISH ANONYMOUS COMMUNICATIONS.

If then the name of "A Forewarmer of Future Events" was not given to the editor of the Herald, what excuse, would we ask, can he possibly offer for inserting, contrary to his own rules, a communication evidently calculated to increase public excitement, at a time of great public excitement, and to embitter the prejudice against Irish Catholics, against whom a strong prejudice already existed?

If, on the contrary, the name of the writer be known to the editor of the Herald, we demand, as of right, that it be made public—in justice to the Irish Catholics in particular—in justice to the citizens, in general, of Montreal, whose peace he has threatened. This we say we have the right to ask; for as an honest, law abiding citizen, it is the duty of the editor of the Herald, as it is the duty of every man, to make public the name of any person who has deliberately avowed a design to violate the law of the land. By concealing the name of the guilty party under such circumstances, the editor of the Herald becomes particeps criminis, and is morally, certainly, if not legally, responsible for any disturbances that may occur.

Of the letter itself all that we need say is, that it is a most contemptible production; and that it is all probability, written—not by an Irish Catholic, but by an Orangeman, with the express object of creating prejudice against his Catholic fellow-citizens. Protestant ministers in Ireland have been known to break their own windows in order to make it appear that their houses had been attacked by Irish Papists; and the letter of "A Forewarmer of Future Events" seems to have been concocted in a similar spirit. We do not indeed say that it bears unmistakable marks of having been written by a Protestant; but this we do say—and until the contrary shall have been established by the publication of the author's real name, this we will repeat—that, it bears strong internal evidence, that it was not written by a Catholic or by one hostile to Orangemen. However it is in the power, as it is the duty, of the Montreal Herald to settle the question at once. If he fails to do so by giving up the name of his correspondent, our Catholic readers may feel assured that the letter which appeared in his columns on Friday last, was but a maliciously devised, and clumsily executed, attempt on the part of the Orangemen, to excite prejudice against Papists.

"THAT FEED."—The "Orange Feed" given, not as stated by the Transcript on Sunday the 12th, but Monday the 13th, within—what by way of a joke we suppose is called by Protestants—the "kirk" or "Lord's house," to which we alluded in our last, is a subject of "deep grief" to the Montreal Witness. The intoxicating liquors, the singing, the toasts, the insinuating smiles of the women snugly stowed away in the galleries of the sacred building, and all the accessories of the foul debauch, are admitted, and more the soul of our saintly cotemporary to tears; who, duly pondering all the circumstances of this Orange carouse, and contrasting them with "the temptations and incentives to fleshly lust" wherewith the temples of ancient heathenism were filled, significantly asks—"Are we in Canada drifting towards heathenism?"—and earnestly enquires—"what is to be done to relieve the Christians of Canada from the stain of a public dinner, with toast drinking in a church?" For an answer to his first question, we would refer the Witness to the filthy advertisements of the Hamilton Banner, the Toronto Colonist, and of the Upper Canada Protestant press generally—and to the Toronto Globe for an answer to the second; remarking only—that the "stain" of a debauch in a church falls, not upon the "Christians," but upon the Orangemen, and Canada—and that between Christians and Orangemen there is no necessary connection.

In his issue of Wednesday last the Witness attempts to palliate this disgraceful outrage upon decency and religion, by the plea that the building wherein it occurred had been actually sold to the Orangemen, and that its former "congregation merely used it on the Sabbath until their new building was finished." Therefore it was, by the Witness's own showing, actually in use on Sundays as a place of worship when profaned by the filthy orgies of the Orangemen. To the complaint that the True Witness was guilty of a "deliberate mis-statement," in assigning Sunday the 12th, instead of Monday the 13th, as the date of the outrage, we have only to observe that we derived our information from the columns of the Transcript a Protestant journal;

* From this purchase, it would seem as if the "incorporation" of the Orangemen was a certainty.—This should be enquired into, for we believe our present Ministers are ready to make every concession to Orangism.

and that it, and not the True Witness is responsible for the error; which we take the first opportunity of correcting. The Globe itself we have not seen; but in the article given by the Transcript of last week, as borrowed from the Globe, it was distinctly said that the "feed" took place on the 12th. We copy our Protestant cotemporary's words, in our justification. The italics are our own.—

A PUBLIC DINNER IN CHURCH.
SAD DEGRADATION.—We commend to the special attention of the Montreal Witness the report of the proceedings in Toronto on the 12th of July, to be found in Tuesday's Globe. It is there stated, that Lodge 301 dined in the Presbyterian Church, George street, the pews having been taken out and rearranged to suit the occasion. The tables groined under the weight of good cheer, and the liquor was numerous, "ranging from pop and ginger beer up as high as champagne and real cognac." Lovely ladies crowded the galleries, and with their smiles and presence animated the orators, and cheered them on. Toasts, songs, &c., were given in abundance, and that roaring, jovial, jocular song, "We went home till morning," was received with tremendous applause. We don't know if the Editor of the Globe was personally present, but from the unctuous way in which he describes the wines and liquors, we should think he was. At any rate, this desecrating a place of worship, gives evidence of a sad falling from grace; and we leave our cotemporary to improve the occasion.—Montreal Transcript.

THE PROTESTANT PRESS, AND "INDECENT ADVERTISEMENTS."—The Montreal Witness, takes the Hamilton Banner—one of the most zealous Protestant papers in the Upper Province—to task in the following style for its constant practice of advertising filthy and immoral books:—

INDECENT ADVERTISEMENTS.—The Hamilton Banner professes to take high grounds in politics, religion and morals, and yet it is disgraced beyond perhaps any other paper in the Province with those unseemly disgusting and wicked advertisements, which are addressed to youth and manhood respecting the mysteries of their physical nature, and real or imaginary secret diseases. These advertisements for the most part describe some book illustrated with pictures which can be had by mail for a certain price, and the puerile curiosity and gullibility of youth are relied upon to bring in a rich harvest to the advertisers, who are all nominally physicians, but really obscene and infamous quacks, whose books, we understand, are mainly incentives to lust. One-half of the diseases concerning which they profess to enlighten their readers are purely imaginary, and the other half can be much better attended to by regular practitioners than by advertising quacks. There is not the least doubt that the world would be much better if none of these secret obscene books had ever been published; and the newspaper which lends itself to extend their circulation for the paltry price of the advertising, is a disgrace to the press.

This blemish which the Witness so justly condemns in the Hamilton Banner is one with which the Protestant press in Canada is for the most part marked; and from which the same press in Montreal with the exception of the Herald and one or two others, was not entirely free, until an example had been made of the obscene editor of the Montreal Gazette, and a warning thereby given to all unprincipled editors. The fact is, that these advertisements pay well; and thus, as the "Almighty Dollar" is, as a general rule, the "Lord Omnipotent" of the Protestant host, to refuse to insert them would be an act of rebellion against the holy Protestant faith.

We are therefore by no means surprised to find that it is invariably in the most zealous organs of the evangelical Protestant community, in those which take the "highest ground in religion and morals" against Popery, that these "indecent advertisements" do most abound. No paper ever published in Montreal ever took "higher ground" as a Protestant organ than did the Montreal Gazette—against whose chief editor a Grand Jury lately presented a True Bill, as against a filthy fellow of lewd and beastly mind. In the Upper Province, the Hamilton Banner has likewise always distinguished itself by its hatred of Popery, and its zeal for the holy Protestant religion and the Protestant faith; and it is precisely this same zealous "Banner," which, according to the Montreal Witness, is "disfigured beyond perhaps any other paper in the Province with those unseemly disgusting and wicked advertisements"; whilst in the Toronto Colonist, another zealous Protestant and Orange organ, we find a Toronto bookseller advertising the books of the notorious Fowler, and introducing his filthy publications on "Physiology—Marriage and its Philosophy" to the sons and daughters of the conventicle. The connection in short betwixt lust and evangelicalism, "obscene advertisements" and high Protestant principles, is so constant, that where we find the one, we look for, and are never disappointed in finding the other. It is indeed an undeniable fact that the Protestant press, in Great Britain, and the United States, as well as in Canada, has the monopoly of those "unseemly disgusting and wicked advertisements" which as the Montreal Witness remarks, "figure so conspicuously in the columns" of the Hamilton Banner.

A NEW MORTAL SIN.—The Ottawa Railway Times announces the death of a young man who went out fishing from a canoe on Sunday the 5th inst., with a companion who escaped. This fishing, the editor of the Railway Times denounces as "sinful and an unlawful pastime," and would almost appear to insinuate that the death of one of the sinners was a judgment for his piscatorial offence. Ah well! if rods and casting lines be a fault, God help the wicked; if fishing on a Sunday be a sin, then many a jolly angler that we know is damned! But let us hope better things; and let us trust that the good man of the Ottawa Times is a fool and a canting Puritan, rather than believe that to catch a trout on a Sunday evening is a sin against God. Indeed this mania of the saints for making new mortal sins out of everything which offends their anile superstitions, is one of the most melancholy symptoms of the cant and hypocrisy of the age. As Catholics and as freemen therefore we should always protest against it, and carefully abstain from treating it with the least respect or tenderness.

To-morrow, Saturday the 25th inst., being the twentieth anniversary of the consecration of Mgr. Bourget, Bishop of Montreal, His Lordship will officiate Pontifically at the High Mass which will be celebrated at the Cathedral at the usual hour of half-past nine. In the afternoon, Vespers will be sung at 3 o'clock.

After Vespers, and about 5 P.M., His Lordship will perform the ceremony of solemnly planting a cross upon the site of the High Altar of the new Cathedral; and will also, by way of inaugurating the opening of the work, remove two or three sods of earth, preparatory to commencing the foundations. At this interesting ceremony, it is to be hoped that a large number of our Catholic citizens will be present. We are informed that there is no intention of taking up any collection.

During the past week, Mgr. Demers, Bishop of Vancouver has been in town. His Lordship is at present travelling for the interests of his poor Diocese.

DIED.—On Sunday last, at the Hotel Dieu of this city, the Rev. M. Paquet, aged 37. The reverend gentleman was for some years Cure of St. Raphael in the Isle Bizard; but on account of declining health he was compelled to abandon his charge, and to retire to the Hospice de St. Joseph, destined for invalid priests. About a fortnight before his death only, was he removed to the Hotel Dieu, where he breathed his last. His remains were deposited in the St. James' Church on Wednesday last.—R.I.P.

We are happy to learn from the Montreal Herald of the 18th inst., that the man Saddler, one of the firemen of the "Union" Company, who was so shamefully beaten on the night of the 13th inst., is rapidly recovering.

To the Editor of the True Witness.
Sir—Perceiving that a certain portion of your columns, during the present month, has been allotted to articles on the different Convent and College examinations that have taken place within the last two or three weeks—I hasten to avail myself of the privilege by laying before your readers a short description of one that took place at the Convent of St. Marie de Monnoir, on last Thursday. It would be well, perhaps, to inform your readers who are not aware of the fact, that the institution in question is conducted by the Ladies of that Ordre de la Presentation—the mother community of which resides at St. Hughes. To those acquainted with the character and talents of those ladies, this fact is a sufficient guarantee that the pupils under their charge receive as sound a religious education as can possibly be given.

At the hour appointed for the commencement of the day's programme, the hall was crowded to excess; and I remarked no fewer than fifteen to twenty gentlemen of the Clergy, who took their places before the stage, to honor with their presence the exercises of the day. The morning was devoted to the examination of the lower classes in the different branches of French and English; and such was the interest excited among the spectators at the view of the pupils' thorough knowledge of the subjects upon which they were examined, and the intelligent and lucid manner in which they replied to the questions proposed to them, that—though the weather was extremely hot and suffocating—not one person was seen to leave the hall during the three hours that the pupils remained on the stage. The examination of the lower classes having been finished, specimens of embroidery, painting, and drawing, executed by the scholars, were exhibited; which certainly, to say the least, reflected great credit upon their skill and perseverance. The morning's programme terminated with an English piece, played by six or seven young Canadian ladies. The piece was admirably well represented; and as to the pronunciation, the accuracy and purity of it was such, that every word, from beginning to end, was perfectly intelligible.

In the afternoon, the young ladies of the Belles-Lettres and Rhetoric classes were examined. The grace and eloquence, joined with the fire and animation which they displayed in their declamation of some of the finest chefs d'œuvre of the French language, elicited at every moment the most denfening plaudits from the spectators, and the most flattering compliments from the Reverend gentlemen of the Clergy; and I verily believe that, could the authors of those immortal compositions have been present in the hall, their countenances would have lit up with admiration at witnessing the mastery manner with which they were delivered. The distribution of the prizes, and the closing address, delivered by Miss Beique, a young lady of the most brilliant talents, finished the exercises of the day. In the course of the address, the fair orator took occasion to thank, in the name of the community, the Rev. Mr. Grevier, Vicar-General of this Diocese, for the interest which he had always manifested towards them; and certainly the thanks were well merited; for it is to his unceasing exertions that the Convent owes its very existence, as also a magnificent College, which is now in process of erection in this parish. St. Hyacinthe and other places are also much indebted to the Reverend gentleman for their educational and charitable institutions; and Canada at large for the possession of one of its most talented and efficient religious communities—the Ladies of the Presentation Order. My enthusiasm may carry me too far; but I think I can say, without disparaging any of the other religious Orders of the country, all honor to the noble ladies who have abandoned home and friends, and above all, La Belle France, to spend their time and their talents in ingrafting on the minds of their pupils those principles of virtue, of honor, and of patriotism, which already form the distinguishing characteristics of the fair sex of Canada.

JULY 21, 1857.

To the Editor of the True Witness.
Alexandria, July 16, 1857.

DEAR SIR—As you have always advocated the cause of free education, you will undoubtedly be rejoiced at the success of any separate school. On Saturday the 11th, the pupils attending the separate schools, conducted by the Brothers of St. Joseph, held a public examination. Several young men, after a severe examination, showed great proficiency in the different branches of Algebra, Mensuration, Geography, History, &c. The examination would have been a great deal better had the parents allowed their elder children to attend more regularly. It is to be regretted that for the sake of a temporary profit, they deprive their children of the opportunity of learning, and of making greater progress in their studies.

On Monday, the 13th, the examination of the pupils attending the Convent school, conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Cross, took place. In consequence of a general invitation having been given, a great many of the parents and other persons were present. The progress made by the children was remarkable, and as creditable to them as to their teachers. After the distribution of prizes, the Rev. Pastor addressed a few words to the children, congratulating them on the progress they had made; remarking that, no doubt, the parents were pleased with it, and bore with satisfaction the sacrifices they had made for the education of their children; and concluding with the expression of a hope that they would leave their children until such time as their education should be completed.

After the Trustees had addressed the assembly, D. A. McDonald, Esq., on the part of the spectators present not belonging to the school, highly complimented both the teachers and the scholars. He said that he was happy to see a school so efficiently conducted, and that it was creditable to the place. After a few other remarks, he moved the following resolution, which, I need not say, was unanimously adopted:—

Proposed by Mr. D. A. McDonald, and seconded by Mr. O. L. Allen:—

Resolved—"That we, the spectators who have had the pleasure of attending the examination of the pupils of the Convent of the Holy Cross in the village of Alexandria, have great pleasure in expressing our satisfaction and approbation of the progress made by the pupils attending said Convent; which progress is the result of the assiduity and efficiency of the teachers."

The assembly then broke up; and all, both Catholics and Protestants, separated delighted with what they had witnessed; and convinced that our Catholic educational institutions need only to be known to be appreciated as they deserve.

Yours truly,

The following address was presented to the Ladies of the above named Convent:—

TO THE SISTERS OF THE CONVENT OF THE HOLY CROSS AT ALEXANDRIA.

LADIES—We, the Trustees of the separate school, deem it our duty on this occasion to testify our satisfaction with the manner you have discharged the onerous duties of teachers of our children. During the past year, whilst we visited the school in our capacity as Trustees, we had frequent opportunities of witnessing the zeal which, on all occasions, you displayed to fulfill your arduous, we may say, tedious, though important duties. From the beginning, we entertained a high opinion of your abilities as teachers; and each visit confirmed us in that opinion. We witnessed your efforts to advance the progress of the children confided to your care; parents were delighted at the eagerness exhibited by their children to attend class, and behold them with pleasure employing their evening hours in studying their tasks. You spared no pains to make them acquire the accomplishments which, under the guidance of religion, will promote their welfare in after life. In a word, your assiduity, care and attention, joined with your endearing manners, instilled in their minds a love for study, which causes us to hope well for their future progress.

But what need we say more? The examination just closed shows plainly the result of your labors; it speaks your praise more forcibly than it is in our power to do. On looking around us we read in the countenances of all present, the pleasure they have experienced at being present here to-day; and we have reason to think that they all of one accord approve of the sentiments expressed by us.

After the labors of the past year, it is but just that you should have a few weeks of repose. Five weeks is a period but too short, yet though short, may it be pleasing and agreeable; may it improve your impaired health, and invigorate your minds, to resume your labors amongst us with that same ability and devotion which you have heretofore exhibited. That the Almighty, the bestower of all gifts, may pour down on you His choicest blessings, is the prayer of your devoted servants and well wishers,

JAMES J. CHISHOLM,
JOHN A. WILLIAMS,
ANGUS McDONALD,
Trustees of the Separate School.
Alexandria, July 12, 1857.

DISTINGUISHED ARRIVAL.—Mgr. the Right Reverend Dr. Demers, the Bishop of Vancouver's Island, arrived in Toronto yesterday. His Diocese comprises a vast extent of territory under the control of the Hudson's Bay Company. Besides Vancouver's Island, it includes that of Queen Charlotte, and extends thence along the coast as far North as the Russian possessions, and the frozen ultima Thule of human habitation in British territory. On the east it is bounded by the Rocky Mountains. This immense district contains 150,000 Indians, in charge of Dr. Demers and two missionaries. His Lordship, we have no doubt, from the arduous and practical character of his mission, will throw much light upon the conduct of the Hudson's Bay monopoly in that region.—Leader.

We can honestly recommend Miss E. Stanley's exhibition at the Mechanic's Institute, to our friends.—The young lady is possessed of first rate talent, improved by education; and in her performance there is nothing to offend the most fastidious.

REWARD OF MERIT.—At the examination of the Pupils of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Long Point, a very beautiful volume, which we have seen, was presented to Miss Eliza Hanley, daughter of Thomas Hanley, of this city, by the Hon. Mr. Chauveau. She displayed most extraordinary powers in treating the various subjects of her examination. The book bears the following inscription:—"Presented to Miss Hanley, of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Long Point, by the Superintendent of Public Instruction for Lower Canada, as a reward of general proficiency, Montreal, July 9, 1857."—New Era.

QUEBEC THE CAPITAL.—The Canadian of yesterday says it has private letters from very good sources, which convey the assurance that Quebec has been definitively chosen as the Capital of Canada.

CANADIAN EXPLORING EXPEDITION TO RED RIVER.—The Government, in connection with the expedition to survey a route to Red River, has appointed Professor Hind of University College, Toronto, Geologist, who will be charged with the preparation of a report on the geological features and agricultural capabilities of the country through which the party will pass.

A WARNING TO STEAMBOAT CAPTAINS AND PROPRIETORS.—The verdict of the Coroner's Jury at Quebec should serve as a warning to all persons engaged in the steamboat trade. The jury have distinctly laid it down, that neglect to have the boats and life-preservers required by law, is a crime which, in case of fatal accident, will render the parties amenable to a charge of manslaughter. Public opinion will undoubtedly sustain that verdict. Yet it is well understood that few if any of our steamers have been hitherto provided as the law prescribes. We do not particularize any vessels; but we remind all parties concerned of the double responsibility which will fall on them hereafter in case of loss of life occurring on board their vessels without adequate means of relief. We are informed to-day that Mr. Torrance has laid up the Quebec, for the purpose of making all necessary additions, so as to bring her within the law; and we presume, other owners will do the same.—Herald 20th inst.

EMIGRANTS WANTED.—We understand that a considerable number of emigrants are congregated about Montreal and other cities in Canada, who are unable to obtain employment, and who are likely to become a burden to the public. Not a single emigrant that we are aware of, has come to this part of the country this season, where the demand for laborers far exceeds the supply. Scarcely a day passes but farmers are enquiring at us for farm laborers, but none can be had at any rate of wages. We should say that from 500 to 1000 laboring men could find employment just now in the County of Lunenburg and town of Perth at good wages, while some hundreds of females could readily find employment as house servants. Besides, the works on the railroads will shortly be pushed on vigorously by the Dales, which together with the improvements about being made on the streets of Perth, will augment the demand for laborers. We should say, then, instead of allowing emigrants to congregate about Montreal, where no employment can be had, send them up here, where they will be sure to get immediate employment at good wages.—There must be something materially wrong about the management of the emigration office, when emigrants are allowed to congregate in idleness about large cities, while the back country is left destitute of laborers. Send the emigrants up this way.—Perth Courier.

M'HEENY alias TOWNSEND.—An innkeeper named Graham, near Jarvis, has some reason to know Townsend. On the day that Mr. Nellis met his death, Townsend, with some of his comrades went into Graham's tavern, after having committed sundry depredations along the Cayuga road; and after getting dinner and refreshments, paid for the same by robbing the landlord, for whilst some of the gang held the landlord, others pillaged the till, and so went away. Now, Graham has been to see the prisoner, and says that he has no doubt about his being the party who went by the name of Townsend, and who, on the above mentioned occasion, aided in robbing him. Is not that clear evidence?—Simcoe Standard, July 9.
