

Mr. MacEachen noted Canada's demands for a full explanation of the incident, including his personal message to the Soviet Foreign Minister, continue to go unanswered. He said Canada will press its claim against the Soviet Union for compensation for the families of the Canadian victims of this tragedy. The onus firmly rests on the Soviet Union to account for its actions and to compensate for the loss of Canadian lives and property.