follow the very mild temperatures, which prevailed in the southwest this morning, caused the upturn. Southwestern markets reported their cash wheat strong and a sale was made here of 15,000 bushels win-ter to go to Kansas City. The report of this sale caused a further upturn in wheat towards the close. Local bullish sentiment still prevails and controls prices for the time being. Corm-The market ruled firm thruout the session, the strength in wheat being the chief supporting factor. Sales by the country were not as heavy as during the past few days, altho offerings were free.

Forcing a Market-Little Nip Makes Fractional Gain. Wednesday Evening, Jan. 11. sending out that circular, Trading in the Cobalts fell off to a oderate extent on to-day's markets, and with the lighter speculation there. and with the lighter speculation there was an easier feeding in relation to stock prices, several of the most active issues recording declines, tho it was noteworthy that these were restricted to fractional losses in most instances. Viewed broadly the market gave no indication of any characteristic trend, securities moving apathetically under the duli dealings and at no time dis-played any breadth of movement.
