

Big reductions in men's furs as well as ladies'—selling below cost in order to clear stocks before inventory.

- Men's German Otter Caps reduced from $5.50 to 3.75
Men's German Otter Collars reduced from $7.50 to 4.75
Men's German Otter Gauntlets reduced from $9.00 to 6.75
Men's Canadian Coon Coats reduced from $65.00 to 48.00

It would pay us to hold these till next season, with good furs of every sort costing more, but our invariable rule is to carry nothing over beyond what is actually required for the tourist trade.

SHEA JURY DISAGREE.

After 55 Hours' Deliberation, 7 to 5 for Acquittal.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—The jury in the conspiracy trial of Cornelius P. Shea, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, reported a disagreement this afternoon.

The jury went out Saturday noon, and was locked up for 55 hours. It then reported to Judge Ball that it could not reach an agreement.

Notwithstanding the fact that the trial has been the longest and most expensive in the history of Cook County, the state attorney's office will arrange for a second trial at once.

There's just enough of the "spice of sensation" about our

LIBERALS OF WEST YORK FOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Don't Endorse The Anti-Policy of Macdonald of Picton at Their Annual Meeting.

Toronto Junction, Jan. 21.—The southwestern part of the town was in darkness last night about 10:30 o'clock owing to one of the wires breaking.

The recent storm has caused very many of the citizens to complain of the condition of the water drawn from the taps of the town water system.

North Toronto. Angus Woodrow, who was arrested last week for trespassing on the railway track while a train was approaching, was committed to three months in jail by J. Woodcock, J.P.

POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE HAS EVIDENCED IN BRITAIN

Rev. Dr. Hossack's Address to the Borden Club—Subserviency in Canada.

D. C. Hossack, who was the guest at the Borden Conservative Club last night, delivered an address on "The Independence of Politics." Dr. Hossack, as a man who in the public life, has become widely known by his own personal independence in political thought and pronouncement, and has on more than one occasion pointed out the lack of purity and independence in the public life of many of our statesmen.

Among the English public men, Arthur J. Balfour, he said, must be considered a politician of independent sentiments, as also was the late Charles Parnell. The latter had been treated badly, and by a section of the ultra party order, had been reviled and abused, but that had ever been the fate of the reformer or the man with unselfish and advanced ideas.

Mr. Maclean had by his independence in politics and zeal for the public good enlisted the sympathy and interest of the whole public, and brought a certain measure of unity of political action between each, as well as some political harmony between the leaders. The independence of politics belonged rather to him who advocated those commendable reforms in his political life than to those who had subscribed to his principles, when endorsed by public approval.
