A HALF-HEARTED POLICY.

That the people of the United States stand in need of our white pine is proved conclusively by the fact that they come over into Canada, buy our timber limits and carry out our sawlogs.

It is the settled policy of the United States to purchase nothing in a foreign land that they can procure or manufacture in their own country.

They will not permit Canada to supply them with a single article which they themselves possess in sufficient abundance for their own use.

If the United States possessed all the white pine necessary to supply the wants of its people it would never allow Canadian sawlogs to enter the country free of duty.

The fact that sawlogs are admitted duty free proves, as we have already said, that our policies are unable to supply their own domestic requirements.

The United States, in short, is depending upon Canada for a certain proportion of its lumber supply.

It follows, as a matter of course, that if we refuse to sell them our sawlogs they must buy our manufactured lumber.

This statement appears to us almost axiomatic: If the United States could do without our logs, depend upon it there would be a $2 duty on them.

Canada's policy, under the circumstances, admits of no ambiguity. If we are going to let them have our timber to supplement their deficiency, we should compel them to buy it as manufactured lumber, not as sawlogs.

Hitherto neither the Dominion nor Provincial Government has taken any steps to stop the export of sawlogs.

The day before yesterday the Ontario Government made a half-hearted move to protect the interests of Canada in this matter.

They decided, not that the United States should not have our sawlogs, but that these logs must be cut by Canadian workmen, which is a humiliating admission for Canada to make, that hitherto our workmen have not even had the work connected with the manufacture of the sawlogs.

Considering the Government's lack of backbone to take any action whatever in this matter for years back, we are surprised at their present wonderful display of nerve.

They must have been doing the Premier with Dr. Seagrave's elixir to fill him up with Dutch courage. Otherwise it would be hard to conceive of a Canadian Liberal statesman making a demerit of the bounding good-will and assistance which the United States entertains towards Canada.

But the elections are at hand, and the vacillating Premier finds it good policy to do something to appease the popular demand for retaliation.

It is hardly gone half far enough. If it is good policy for Canada to insist on the cutting of sawlogs in this country by Canadian workmen, it is equally good policy to insist on the manufacture of the logs into lumber in this country and also by Canadian workmen.

The one is a direct corollary of the other. Why doesn't he pursue the latter policy of his Government and prohibit any Crown Lands timber leaving the province except as manufactured lumber?

NIAGARA FALLS POWER.

I look forward to the time when the whole water power of Niagara will find its way to the lower level of Lake Ontario through machinery, doing more good for the world than the water itself, which we now possess in the contemplation of the splendid scene which we have presented before us at the present time by the waterfalls of Niagara. I wish I could think it possible that I could live to see this grand development.—L. K. L.

The World has occasionally made similar forecasts in reference to this great source of energy. We have ventured the prophecy that within a decade or two the entire country within a radius of one hundred or two hundred miles of Niagara Falls would receive the whole of its electrical energy from this never-failing and limitless reservoir.

We believe that within a quarter of a century every railway wheel from Buffalo to Windsor will be turned by Niagara Falls electric power. The City of Toronto will be lighted and perhaps heated by the same agency, and all our steam engines will be relegated to the scrap heap. But depend upon it, we will all have to pay toll to an American corporation for the privilege of using natural power. The people of the Niagara peninsula ought to be enjoying the advantages of cheap electric power already. As it is, there is no evidence of the American monopoly even making a move to supply them with it. On the other side of the river all is activity.

And when the Americans do get ready to supply the Niagara peninsula with its own power they will charge toll on every light, on every motor, on every wheel that is turned. It seems as if we will never get rid of these Americans. They precede us into the Klondike and get possession of our best mining claims. They had carried millions of dollars' worth of gold down to

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

"For Fair Virginia."

Mr. and Mrs. Russ Whytal, who will appear at the Grand Opera House all next week, are interesting as being dramatist as well as actor. On this occasion he will be seen in the light-comedy part of Steve Dunbar, instead of that of the un-sympathetic heavy villain he played last here. He therefore will have an excellent opportunity to show his versatility, and to show that he is not only a favor here two seasons ago, but will doubtless be warmly welcomed on his return. They bring some special scenery and an excellent company.

Chamber Music Concert.

Derivatives of classical music will be glad to learn that the series of select concert will be given in Association Hall Oct. 7, under the direction of the Toronto Chamber Music Association, and on that evening the Kaefer Quartet will be heard at 7:30 to fill the first time in Toronto. The association was organized by a number of energetic Toronto ladies in its endeavor to elevate the musical taste of the people.

Mr. Harold Jarvis' Recital To-Night.

The piano recital given before noon by subscribers had all the best seats, leaving still a number of good seats for the evening. The recital will be held at the Guild Hall, making it the first of the season. A very interesting and enjoyable evening is assured. Two hundred admission tickets will be sold at 25c to fill the hall. The soloists are Mr. Harold Jarvis, Miss Maude Mitchell, and Mr. Paul Hahn, cellist.

"Ecstasy the Sport."

The above attraction will appear at the Toronto Opera House next week, commencing Monday night. The production is described as a far from extravagant, but one of refinement it cannot be excelled. Princess Theatre.

One of the really good things of the theatrical season is the description given of the Cummings Stock Company by a recent Toronto newspaper. This music recital will be held at 7:30 to fill the hall. The soloists are Mr. Harold Jarvis, Miss Maude Mitchell, and Mr. Paul Hahn, cellist.

Brigadier Margrets will unite in the bonds of holy matrimony.

Canon Gore, the famous English High Churchman, sociologist and Canon of Westminster Abbey, London, last evening gave an address to a large congregation, consisting principally of the Toronto chapters of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. The fact that the Rev. Canon has achieved such celebrity through his efforts in the interests of the British working man rendered his lecture all the more valuable.

Canon Gore will hold what is known as a "quiet day" in St. Thomas' Church, Huron Street, to-day, and at 4:30 o'clock will give a public address. He leaves the city for Chicago on Friday.

Readings at the Galleries of Men.

The first of a series of morning readings was given by Mr. Hal Newton Carlyle in the hall of the Toronto College of Music yesterday, to a cultured though small audience, ladies forming the principal portion thereof. Mr. Carlyle read "The Merchant of Venice," causing much amusement by his interpretation of the character of Shylock. The other days will be devoted to Dickens, Sheridan and Butler.

The Monster Shoe House

"Them as Has Gits."

This homely and succinct observation expresses our position in the shoe trade of Toronto.

We have the cash—the confidence of the public—the great numbers of buyers—and two large shoe stores.

Manufacturers who get in a hole, who need money badly, who are ready to make big concessions for ready cash—send at once to the "Monster Shoe House."

Thus, we, who already possess untold advantages over other dealers, are enabled to have first chance at all the good things in the market.

'Twas such an opportunity as this that brought to our store Bresse & Co.'s shoes.

We gave our cheque for $8,791.60—payment in full for the lot—and we share our good fortune with you.
