Principles of Jelly-Making.

To be satisfactory, jelly must be made from fruit juice containing pectin and acid. Pectin is a substance in the fruit which is soluble in hot water and which, when cooked with sugar and acid, gives, after cooling, the right consistency to jelly.

Fruits to be used should be sound, just ripe or slightly under-ripe, and gathered but a short time. Wash them, remove stems and cut large fruits into pieces. With juicy fruits add just enough water to prevent burning while cooking. In using fruits which are not juicy, cover them with water. Cook slowly until the fruits are soft. Strain through a bag made of flannel or two thicknesses of cheesecloth or similar material.

To determine if the juice contains pectin, boil one teaspoonful and cool. To this add one tablespoonful of grain alcohol and mix gently rotating the glass. Allow the mixture to cool. If a solid mass—which is pectin—collects, this indicates that in making jelly one part of sugar should be used to one part of juice. If the pectin collects in the sugar called for.

When the juice begins to boil, add the sugar. Soil rapidly. The jelly point is reached when the juice drops as one mass from the side of a spoon, or when two drops run together and fall as one from the side of the spoon. JIMMY COON HAS NO CORNLESS DAYS.

Jimmy Coon was a Slacker during the War. For he didn't eat less meat, nor wheat, nor corn, to help win the War. But Jimmy almost lost his life during the War, by not keeping cornless days. It taught him an awful lesson. It was like this: Jimmy Coon had been hanging around the barn of Farmer Jones for several dark night. And one pitch dark night he managed to squeeze his precious little body through a small hole in the barn door. And Jimmy's wonderful nose told him that there was something good to eat in the big hay-rack on the barn floor, nor wheat, nor corn, to help win the War. PRAYER IS THE CHRISTIAN'S VITAL BREATH.
Our Scripture lesson today is concerning praying to God, and it is a very vital study. Even it prayer cannot be scientifically analyzed any more than life can be, we know it to be just as real a force in our lives as life itself. Prayer, in all the ages, has proved to be the vital breath of every man of God. Prayer is as natural as breathing; our hearts go out to God, the great unseen power, of conscious even before we have learned to know that it is but a manifestation of God, our Heavenly Father. Men of force, men of faction, men of power, men who know Interwoven with Miss Lee's interesting career is the brighter thread of romance. Shortly after her arrival in Cape Town she will be married to Mr. R. S. McLaren, who left two years ago with Mr. Thomas Louttit to render missionary service in the wilds of Africa. Miss Lee has the good wishes of many friends for success and happiness in the twofold career about to open to her. While in the city she was the guest of Mrs. Rowald Hill.

CALL FROM AFRICA

tion for Wider Field of Service.

"The Lord laid it upon my heart"—with such simplicity that belongs only to the young and innocent or to the truly pure at heart, Miss Ldyia Lee explained her desire for missionary service, in a talk in Gospel Hall last service, in a talk in Gosper Harrians Friday evening.

From school teaching in Simcoe, Ont., to a log cabin in Portuguese West Africa is a far cry, but the inward voice speaks loudly and persistently, and for the person of Righ ideals, earnest conviction and unflinching courage, no distance is too great, no burden too onerous, if the goal can be reached.
