FAVORS SALARY REVISION TRADES COUNCIL SAYS SO

Duplication of Work and Remuneration Declared to Be Illegal and Immoral.

Hamilton, March 3.—(Special.)—The trades and labor council had a lively session to-night. The members declared the way civic officials were paid was illegal and immoral, and they passed this resolution on the subject:

"The publication of the civic salary list has revealed the fact that many of the officials draw salaries for the offices they hold, and at the same time do clerical work for the several committees and independent boards, for which extra salaries are accepted, and a great deal of the work is done during the office hours for which they draw civic salaries. The principle is both illegal and immoral, and should not be continued. There is no doubt that some of the officials are overpaid, while others are underpaid, and it is therefore resolved that the trades and labor council endorses the proposed salary revision."

A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to Aldermen Dickson and Sweeney, who moved in the council for the statement.

To Settle the Strike.

An effort will be made to get the moulders' strike in the Sawyer-Massey Company's foundry settled by the board of mediation and conciliation, made up of members of the council and board of trade.

The retail clerks reported that they had succeeded in getting all but one general furnishing store to consent to close at 6 o'clock.

F. L. Hutton, professor of horticulture in the Guelph Agricultural College, addressed the Hamilton Horticultural Society to-night. J. O. McCulloch, the president, was in the chair. L. Hildebrand had a pondersome lemon on exhibition. The members are talking of giving a series of flower shows during the summer.

Their Annual At Home.

The students of the Ontario Normal College and Collegiate Institute held their annual at home this evening. There was a concert, promenade and dance. W. M. Logan was the honorary chairman. The lady patronesses were: Mesdames McLelland, Thompson, Turner, MacPherson, Morgan, Patterson, Logan, Hogarth, Crawford and Davidson.

Veterans cigars 5 cents each at Billy Carroll's Opera House cigar store.

THE TRICKS

Coffee Plays on Some.

It hardly pays to laugh before you are certain of facts, for it is sometimes humiliating to think of afterwards.

"When I was a young girl I was a lover of coffee, but was sick so much the doctor told me to quit, and I did, but after my marriage my husband begged me to drink it again as he did not think it was the coffee caused the troubles.

"So I commenced it again and continued about six months until my stomach commenced acting bad and choking as if I had swallowed something the size of an egg. One doctor said it was neuralgia and indigestion.

"One day I took a drive with my husband three miles in the country and I drank a cup of coffee for dinner, I thought sure I would die before I got back to town to a doctor. I was drawn double in the buggy and when my husband hitched the horse to get me out into the doctor's office, misery came up in my throat and seemed to shut my breath off entirely, then left all in a flash and went to my heart. The doctor pronounced it nervous heart trouble, and when I got home I was so weak I could not sit up.

"My husband brought my supper to my bedside with a nice cup of hot coffee, but I said: "Take that back, dear, I will never drink another cup of coffee if you gave me everything you are worth, for it is just killing me.' He and the others laughed at me and said:

"'The idea of coffee killing anybody.'

"'Well,' said I, 'it is nothing else but coffee that is doing it.'

"In the grocery one day my husband was persuaded to buy a box of Postum, which he brought home and I made it for dinner and we both thought how good it was, but said nothing to the hired men and they thought they had drunk coffee until we laughed and told them. Well we kept on with Postum, and it was not long before the color came back to my cheeks and I got stout and felt as good as I ever did in my life. I have no more stomach trouble and I know I owe it all to Postum in place of coffee.

"My husband has gained good health on Postum, as well as baby and I, and we all think nothing is too good to say about it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FAMOUS LEGAL LIGHTS THROW DULL CARE AWAY

Brilliant Gathering of Canada's Leading Disciples of Coke and Blackstone.

The Osgoode Literary and Legal Society held their annual bar dinner at the King Edward last night. Around the festive board were the brightest intellects of the legal profession in the province, judges on the bench, King's counsel, barristers, lawyers and students.

The assembly was honored by the presence of Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, K.C., M.P., solicitor-general of Canada: Alexander MacGregor presided. At the table on his right were the solicitor-general, Mr. Justice Garrow, Mr. Justice MacLaren, Mr. Justice Anglin, Mr. Justice Clute, Hon. J. W. St. John, M.L.A.; E. F. B. Johnston, Hamilton Cassels, E. Douglas Armour. On the left were: Mr. Monk, Christopher Robinson, K.C., A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., C. F. Shepley, K.C., C. H. Ritchie, K.C., Claude Macdonell, M.P., L. G. McCarthy, M.P., W. R. Riddell, K.C.

Letters of regret were received from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, R. L. Borden, K.C., Hon. J. P. Whitney, premier of Ontario: Hon. J. J. Foy, and other ministers and prominent men. Hon. J. J. Foy wrote that he purposed accepting the invitation until last evening, when, owing to the sudden death of a great friend, he felt that he must decline. A letter of regret from Dr. Goldwin Smith was also read.

After the King was duly honored, the toast to "The Parliament of Canada and the Provincial Legislatures" was drunk in silence out of respect for the late Edward Clarke, M.P., whose sudden demise came as a shock to the members of the bar assembled at the banquet.

Canada and the Empire.

Leighton McCarthy, M.P., proposed the toast to "Canada and the Empire," Hon. Rudolph Lemieux responded, and, in doing so, said that he hesitated because, after reading Dr. Osler's speech, he remembered that he was over 40. He hoped that this circumstance would not chloroform his hearers. The ideals of the Ontario bar were the ideals of the Quebec bar, and the inventions and revelations of one were of the greatest interest to the other. Referring to the toast, he said that just as the nineteenth century has been the century of the United States, so this century will be the century of Canada. During the past five years immigration has increased, our winters are less terrifying and our development is going forward. Canada is no longer a crown colony. It is a nation within the empire. The reason why he was deeply attached to the British crown was because he found under the British flag all the protection he could desire. Britain was the nurse of liberty and had fostered the Saxon principle, "No taxation without representation." He gave a historical review of events which led to constitutional government, and gloried in British freedom and liberty which, he said, was the only possible bond to hold the unity of the empire.

Law Practice a Pleasure.

Hamilton Cassells, president of the York County Law Association, proposed the toast to "The Bench," which was responded to by Hon. Justice Garrow. He spoke of the incessant work necessarily entailed upon those who would be proficient in their profession, and said that the mere practice of law, to a man of brains, is a great pleasure.

Hon. Justice Clute proposed the toast of "The Bar." A. B. Aylesworth spoke in response to this toast and took for his text the words of a farmer he met last evening, who said to him: "If I had my way I would abolish the bar." What else has filled our jails? he asked. Personally he had only defended three criminal cases in his life. One got off in spite of him. Another is still serving a term and would perhaps have been convicted in any event. The third was convicted of bigamy and, looking at the prisoner, he was inclined to think he would look on jail as a haven of liberty. He then spoke of the Bar Association as a trades union, and compared it in its commercial aspirations with these institutions.

Mr. Monk, leader of the opposition in Quebec, representing the senior bar of that province, also responded to this toast. He spoke feelingly of the late E. F. Clarke, M.P. Mr. Shepley, representing the junior bar of Quebec, contributed a few words in response to this toast. The toast to the "Law School" closed the evening's enjoyment at an early hour this morning.

The following bills were introduced and read a first time:

AS HE WAS KNOWN.

justice of the demands of the organized members of his own craft, and altho success had attended him in public life the interests of his organization always held a warm place in his heart. His death will be regretted by all of those who for the last score of years have been interested in the development of the cause of organized labor.

As a Member of Parliament.

F. D. MONK, K.C., M.P., Montreal, addressing the Osgoode Literary and Legal Society, at their annual banquet at the King Edward Hotel last night, said that the sudden death of E. F. Clarke, M.P., had shocked him beyond expression. He had sat beside him in the house of commons for many years, and his last remembrance of him was his kindly face beaming down upon him from his accustomed seat. One characteristic of him was that he promulgated a fellow citizenship. He was in every respect a noble representative of the Province of Ontario. He felt that he was only expressing the sentiments of the house when he said that those who sit on both sides of the Speaker will deeply mourn his loss.

A. E. KEMP, M.P.: "I feel very keenly the death of Mr. Clarke. I spoke to Mrs. Clarke this afternoon between 3 and 4 and she assured me that Mr. Clarke was better than when I saw him last Monday. I cannot say anything too good of him, both as a man and as a member. His strength in parliament and on the platform lay in his vigorous power of debate, and in the great care and attention he bestowed on his work. He never undertook to criticize or to make a statement unless he knew his ground well, and he was always prepared to back upon the spot if necessary his arguments with facts. He was most painstaking in his whole work in parliament. He was popular with both parties, even with the French-Canadian members, many of whom within the last few weeks have repeatedly spoken to me from day to day, asking how he was and expressing their sorrow at his continued illness. His death will be a great shock to both parties in parliament, and will be a tremendous loss to his own party and to the country also. He was a high type of man and most valuable to the community. His attitude was ever one of fairness. He had the courage of his convictions and was never afraid to state his views."

A FAST TROTTING HORSE.

Deveras, 2.11 1-4, owned by Mr. Antoine Wendling, of the Clifton House, Brockville, is one of the fastest mares in Eastern Ontario. After every race she is rubbed down with Nerviline, which prominent horsemen consider the best liniment made. Mr. Wendling says: "For sprains, strains, swelling and internal pains, Nerviline is unequalled; it has strength, penetrating power and works promptly. Every horse and stock owner should use Nerviline." 25c per bottle everywhere.

Jenkins Threw Parr.

New York, March 3.—In the wrestling match between Tom Jenkins of Cleveland and Jim Parr of England, in a catch-as-catch-en match to-night, Jenkins won in two straight falls. Jenkins won the first fall with a half-Nelson and inside crotch hold in 19 minutes and 12 seconds, after which there was a 10-minute rest. He won the second and deciding fall in 9 minutes and 55 seconds with a head lock.

FROM THE CITIZEN, OTTAWA, FEBruary 21st: Hotels change hands in Ottawa; Major Wm. Parsons, the energetic real estate and mining broker of 18 Toronto-street, Toronto, came to Ottawa last week with three gentlemen to look over several hotels with a view to buying; the major was successful in placing all three; Mr. Knapp bought Noble's, on Sparks-street; Mr. Leslie, the Frontenac, and Mr. Brooks, the Arlington, on Wellington-street; if these sales are any indication of the general business of Ottawa, it must be in a very satisfactory condition, and Major Parsons is to be congratulated on making three important sales in two days.
