

Good Things Coming to Theatres of St. John

NEW AT OPERA HOUSE

All roads should lead to the Opera House this afternoon and evening for the regular weekly change of vaudeville opening this afternoon offers an unusually good entertainment. It includes Chas. B. Lawlor and daughters, a petite musical aggregation in character songs and changes; William Cahill, Irish comedian; Jules and Frances in a bright, sparkling farce, "Over the Counter"; "The Altken Trio" in a variety novelty, "Cafe A-La-Tangle"; Pipe-Major MacKenzie Bailey, late of the 17th Overseas Battalion, C. E. F., in a unique musical novelty offering and Billie Burke in the fifteenth chapter of Gloria's Romance.

Two performances this afternoon, at 2 and 8:30; evening at 7:30 and 9. People's very little prices to all.

MRS. MORRIS WEDS BRITISH STATESMAN

Chicago Packer's Widow Marries Francis Neilson, Ex-member of Parliament and Author

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Helen Swift Morris, widow of Edward Morris, Chicago packer, was married last night at her home here to Francis Neilson, former Liberal member of the British House of Commons for the Hyde division of Cheshire. The marriage was precipitated by the departure of Mrs. Neilson's son, Captain Nelson Morris, for a training camp, and was declared to be a surprise even to immediate members of the family.

Francis Neilson has attained prominence for his espousal of the single tax. He is a great grandson of David Hume, historian, and cousin of Gladstone. His home is in Boston.

Mrs. Neilson's first husband, Edward Morris, died in November, 1913. He was president of Morris & Company, packers, and also of the Fairbanks Canning Company. His packing business was estimated to be worth $400,000.00. She is Miss Helen L. Swift, daughter of President Swift, of Swift & Company, packers, whom she married in 1890, and she was the mother of four of his children when he died.

Mr. Neilson is fifty years of age. His first wife was Catherine O'Connell, whom he married in 1888, and by whom he had two daughters. He visited the United States in 1888, and traveled through Mexico and Canada as well. He is a critic and author. His publications include "Madame Bohemia," "The Bath Road," and "Manaboko"; many books and pamphlets on the land question, socialism and taxation. He is the author of "The Butterfly on the Wheel," "The Crucible," and "Philip Strong." He was also librettist of "Prince Ananias" and "La Vivandiere."

Boy is Drowned. Arnprior, Ont., Sept. 8.—Arthur Charbonneau, youngest son of Baptiste Charbonneau, was drowned in the Madawaska river, when a small boat in which were his father and several other persons was swamped.

The Sweater. She knitted a sweater for some one to wear. It should comfort a soldier who's gone to the front. She talked of the boy who should face, unafraid, the fire of the guns in the sweater she made. But now it is finished it stays on the shelf. She liked it so well that she kept it herself.

Let us shoe the boy and the cost of keeping him in shoes will be reduced—Wise's Cash Stores, 248-247 Union street.

CLOSURE

(Montreal Journal of Commerce.) The Canadian Northern Railway bill is the most important measure of the parliamentary session. Some other questions have caused more debate, but there is not one of more far-reaching influence than the measure to acquire the great system of railways, telegraphs, hotels and other enterprises covering seven of the nine provinces of the Dominion, and to arbitrate Messrs. Mackenzie and Mann's claim for $80,000,000. It is much to be regretted that the government deferred the introduction of the measure until a late stage of a long session, and then rushed it through the House of Commons by means of the "closure"—a rule only employed once before in the history of Canada. A measure of such magnitude, brought forward at an early stage of the session, and left to take its course through parliament in the ordinary way, would have had a better chance to win general approval.

A woman owning a house in Philadelphia before which a gang of workmen was engaged in making street repairs was much interested in the work.

"And which is the foreman?" she asked of a big, curly Celt. A proud smile came to the countenance of that individual as he replied:—"Oj, am mumm."

"Oj kin prove it, mumm," rejoined the Irishman. "Then, turning over to a laborer at hand, he added, "Killy, ye're fired!"—Harper's.

DUTCH MISSION IN UNITED STATES

Effort to Adjust Difficulty Over Exports of Food Stuffs—Deadlock at Present

Washington, Sept. 8.—A special Dutch mission, which has arrived in this country, brings information as to the food situation in Holland, and statistics covering Dutch exports and imports of the last three years, as requested by the American government in a recent note handed to Minister Van Rappard.

Negotiations looking to the shipment of foodstuffs to Holland will be taken up by the mission which were broken off a week ago, when the Exports Administration declined to permit the sailing of nearly 100 Dutch ships loaded with food and cattle feed. The American and Dutch governments reached a virtual impasse when the Exports Board refused to recognize an agreement made by Mr. Van Rappard.

The special Dutch mission, calling for a division of the cargoes between Holland and Belgium. The minister has declined to ally with the States in exchange for the release of foodstuffs. These vessels were to have been put in the American and coastwise service to release American ships for trans-Atlantic trade.

The exports board has informed the state department that its information shows Holland is no immediate danger of a food shortage, and that no food shipments should be permitted to go through for at least two months, during which time the United States can ascertain just what its export surplus will be.

The situation in Holland has presented one of the hardest problems that has faced the Exports Board in its attempt to put into effect a rationing system for the northern European neutrals. The Dutch buy most of their grain from other countries, and export large quantities of dairy and meat products to Germany. The American government desires to stop this food exportation to the enemy, and at the same time does not want to go so far as to impose any actual hardship on Holland.

It is entirely likely, it is said, that the Exports Board will permit the shipment of any cattle feed to Holland for many months, at least, although this may force the Dutch to kill off some of their cattle for food to make up the deficiency in the bread ration.

MORE TROUBLE IN CHINA

Peking, Sept. 8.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been designated commander-in-chief of the army and navy of a new military government of China, proclaimed by seventy members of the disbanded Chinese parliament meeting in Canton. The military governor of Canton is supporting the Peking government. Fighting between his troops and the forces of Sun Yat Sen is feared. Civilians in Canton are fleeing to Hong Kong.

The Vatican and Peace. London, Sept. 8.—(Montreal Gazette cable)—The Daily News prints an article by a diplomatic correspondent, dated some time in August, in which an interview with Pope Benedict is given regarding peace. The account of the interview shows that while the Pope is Austrophile, Austria did not dictate the recent peace proposal. Distrust of Russia and fear of offending powerful German Catholics are alleged as some of the motives behind the appeal.

Alone

YOU don't know this girl perhaps. But suppose you did and she came to you for advice! What would you say?

Till yesterday her husband, young and vigorous, had lovingly encouraged her small extravagances and boasted laughingly that his income was ample and growing. He worked with might and main to "gather the fruits of success for his fair trinity at home"—and was succeeding.

But death, swift and relentless, had without warning cut down his guard, and the three he loved more than his own life were now at bay to the world—alone.

If she had come to you for advice—that, briefly, would have been her story.

Her faith was strong. Her husband, she knew, would not leave her with the children to face a financial situation for which there was no solution. Yet when she attempted to calculate the income she would receive from the savings he had left, a panic of fear overcame her.

"The greatest and hardest of her duties now was the one she knew the least about."

Perhaps someone dependent and depending upon you, is destined some day to be left alone—at bay to the world. This is so serious, so appalling a situation that its very contemplation makes thinking men turn cold with apprehension.

That is why we have written "Her Way Out"—to make you realize how serious is the situation which may overtake those for whom you believe no sacrifice or effort is too great.

If, in addition—without the use of technical language or confusing terms—it provides a solution for the dilemma, surely that is another point in its favor, is it not?

We will be pleased to send you a copy of "Her Way Out," free. The coupon below is provided for your convenience. Fill it in and mail it to-day, or a note or postcard will do as well.
