VESSEL UNDER AMERICAN FLAG COALED GERMANS

New York, Nov. 24—Now the Hamburg-American Line succeeded in reaching German warships in the Atlantic in August and September, 1914, with 2,000 tons of coal and large amounts of foodstuffs by means of the steamer Berwinda, an American boat under the American flag, was told today by the Berwinda's flag, Fritz Edward Falkenburg, in the trial of officials of the Hamburg-American Line.

EARL OF DERBY HITS HARD AT LORD ST. DAVID'S

London, Nov. 24—In severe denunciation of freedom of speech, such as in the recent speech delivered by Lord St. David's in the House of Lords, in which he attacked the British headquarters staff, the Earl of Derby today declared that the House of Lords needed a censorship.

"The man who gives information to the enemy," said Lord Derby, goes by an ugly name, and it should be given just as much to a speech delivered in the House of Lords, as to a man who risks his life getting information for the enemy."

After stating that "no gentleman" would have made, and no gentleman would believe Lord St. David's accusations, and subjecting Lord Ribblesdale's recent utterances to a like denunciation, Lord Derby spoke of recruiting.

He asked patience, saying that those working under his scheme were endeavoring to do in six weeks under the voluntary system what Germany had accomplished under conscription in forty years. Men were enlisting in large numbers, but they must come in very much larger numbers during the next three weeks, if the position of the voluntary system was to be made absolutely unassailable.

"We are going to win this war, whatever the cost," he added, "but it is no use making that assertion unless everyone does his duty at this crisis."

Regarding Lord Ribblesdale's allegation that it was common knowledge that Lieut. General Sir Charles C. Monro had reported in favor of abandonment of the Dardanelles campaign, Lord Derby said:

"I am in the war office and know nothing about it. There must have been a second traitor to give him information and we ought to know who he is."

A. by shipping liquor into a Scott Act district. The cases arose out of a raid made recently by the Moncton police on the express rooms in the union depot, where $300 worth of liquor was seized.

The Canadian Express is charged with a second offence and the Dominion Express a first. The cases were adjourned for a week.

The amateurs are being directed by Mrs. A. C. Wilson who has other dramatic successes to her credit. Tickets may be had at Landry's, King street, Geo. Cameron's, Charlotte street; Mrs. J. J. Dwyer's, Union street, and F. W. Munroe's, Main street, as well as from members of the cast.

BASE COMPANY FOR 69TH

Montreal Gazette:—Another recruiting campaign is being arranged by Lieut. Col. J. A. Dansereau, for the 69th French-Canadians, this week, to raise a base company of 250 men as reinforcements. Lieut.-Col. Dansereau said yesterday that the 69th were already 1,107 strong, which was well over strength, although this was slightly reduced by the number of men absent without leave. With the base company now proposed to be raised, he will have a battalion of more than 1,300 strong.

"I have received many enquiries from out of town regarding the battalion," said Lieut.-Col. Dansereau, "and I am confident that we shall be able to organize the new company within a couple of weeks, at the outside."

Eight more bandsmen are needed by the 69th. The band is now sixteen strong, but it required twenty-four men and it is hoped that the necessary number of musicians, with the regular physical qualifications, will be secured.

PLAN TO GRAPPLE WITH TRADE CHANGES CONSEQUENT ON WAR

Editor Times and Star:—

Sir:—Business men in the maritime provinces should note what is being done by far-seeing men in other parts of the dominion to grapple with the great changes in overseas trade which must follow the war.

Quite recently a group of thoughtful Canadian business men got together in the office of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Toronto to consider what steps should be taken to secure for Canada a larger share of the world's trade than she had in the past. They thought that Canadians should not be hopeless or indifferent, but that it was rather a time to call forth all their energy and ingenuity to meet a great opportunity.

As a result of this meeting an organization was formed under the name of the Export Association of Canada, Limited. The head office of the association was opened in the Eastern Townships Bank building, Montreal, with R. J. Younge as joint general manager, while simultaneously F. C. Armstrong was appointed to a similar position in London.

Arrangements have since been made to link up with established businesses in New Zealand and Australia, whose Canadian representatives had recently ceased business, and already more than fifty shipments of Canadian goods have been forwarded through its offices to Australia.

The London office is negotiating with the representatives of the allied governments, as well as with a number of the large buying channels in London, where orders are placed for delivery in all parts of the world.

The association is also preparing a special campaign for trade with Russia.

The Monetary Times says that the prime object of the association is not to serve its shareholders alone, but to strengthen every existing reliable connection for Canadian export trade. One hundred Canadian manufacturing firms are represented in the association.

The work of this association is one that the manufacturers of the maritime provinces should be deeply interested in.

Not only is it necessary that the maritime manufacturers should share in this large overseas trade, but it is also imperative that our ports should be thoroughly equipped to care for all export trade that may offer. This equipment is not as complete at some of them as it should be.

So far as the promotion of overseas business is concerned, New Brunswick is fortunate in having as agent-general in London a gentleman of the wide commercial experience and local knowledge of F. W. Sumner. Provincial manufacturers and business men will find him ready and willing to extend them all the assistance in his power. His address is 37 Southampton street, The Strand, London, W. C.

Yours sincerely,

R. E. A.

Von Hindenburg and His Men, in Russian Campaign, Alike Dissatisfied

Petrograd, Nov. 24.—The military authorities have published an account of an address delivered by Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to troops which arrived at Libau from Germany a month ago. He is thus quoted:

"I know none among you adopted a military career. I know each of you left a family. Therefore I shall not demand reckless attacks from you, but I hope you will beat off the attacks the Russians make."

According to this information, the field marshal reported to German general headquarters that with such troops it would be hardly possible to think of active operations.

Letters given out here, said to have been taken from Germans, contain complaints of hunger. A passage from one of these letters says: "We are ready to fight for our country, but are not willing to starve, and the scarcity of food is becoming more and more painful."

AWFUL EFFECTS OF GAMBLING CURSE

Ever since the announcement of the winners of the N. Y. Evening Sun-Vitagraph scenario contest, there has been pardonable interest to see the screened results of the competition. True it is that of the thousand-dollar winner among thirty-five hundred contenders for first honors, much was expected. The showing of "The Sins of the Mothers" at the Vitagraph Theatre, Broadway, would seem to demonstrate the success of the experiment from the viewpoint of the picture public. The story holds throughout its five reels. It is possible, or probable, that from some there will be a mild criticism to the effect that the production might have been sharpened somewhat by an elimination of one of the several avenues (bridge) through which coursed the gambling mania of the young wife.

Nevertheless, as said before, the picture holds; and holds through legitimate means—straight drama minus the spectacular or melodramic. To be sure, there are hotly contested horse-race and a thrilling raid on a gambling house, a suicide, and an accidental killing, but these are incidental, seemingly, stones in the highway over which steadily drives the story of the woman with an irresistible appetite for gaming. This picture is being shown at Imperial Theatre tonight and Thursday.

FOR THE SOLDIERS

St. John, N. B. Nov. 14, 1915.

Editor of Times-Star:

Sir,—Such kind expressions of Lieut.-Col. Hay, O. C., and staff of 52nd Battalion in being pleased with our small efforts made us like them the more. There are other soldiers we should also remember. Would it be possible for the recruiting offices and armory to be served with milk or buttermilk instead of cold water. A stone jar such as used in creameries could be used and a few glasses could readily be obtained.

Yours truly,

M. H. SHAW.

SIR SAM SPEAKS OF COMPLAINTS ABOUT HOME-COMING SOLDIERS

Ottawa, Nov. 24—Sir Sam Hughes, in referring this morning to complaints as to the manner in which returning soldiers have been handled, said: "A complaint has come from one or two important people in Toronto. It is due to the fact that the Toronto soldiers are not taken out of their turn on arrival and sent forward, that these complaints are made. The men from farthest away are examined first and this is as it should be. Every soldier on disembarking gets a suit of clothes and a ticket to his destination.

"If there are enough of them, they are provided with a special car and a special train. Complaints, I observe, usually come from men that have not been on the firing line, and who will sell their clothing and then go with appeals to soft-hearted committees and abuse the authorities on both sides of the Atlantic. Everything possible is done for the comfort of these men, and if they have been thrifty, considering that everything is found for them at the front, they ought to have a few hundred saved up."
