PRINCE OF WALES

Generals Currie, Watson

OF ALL THE VICTORY-WAR PICTURES YET TO HAND THESE ARE THE VERY BEST. Here you do not see death and desolation but Victory and Restoration. Happy citizens of Mons crowding about our Canadian heroes, giving them flowers, kissing them and doing grateful homage. You see that coking little Prince of Wales mixing with the soldiers and crowd and actually flirting with the French girls who bring him bouquets. A religious note is struck at the High Mass of thanksgiving, a pathetic touch in the veterans of 70 venerating the Canadians.

MAE MURRAY

A WARNING—PEEP FOR THE STAGE—STRUCK GIRL OF MUSICAL SPECTACLE LIFE. Not only does this story teach a lesson to maidens who might be lured to the dangerous eddies of chorus-girl existence but it depicts something that ministers, judges and up-lift people are preaching all the time. It pictures the lengths to which some men will go to estrange husband and wife, but it also pictures the steadfastness of some women in spite of adverse circumstances. Once again the oft-heralded moving picture plays the part of missioner. It is an up-lift picture.
