JUST "FRANK NO. 2"

The Tragedy of Unknown Laborer, Buried in Sand Avalanche in Boston

(Boston Globe)
"Frank No. 2," that's the only designation he went by among the workmen at the sand pit of P. O'Riordan's Sons in the rear of 312 Congress street, just over the bridge in South Boston. At 10:30 this morning he was buried beneath twelve feet of sand in one of the large pits. His body was recovered by a fellow workman, Dr. Clark from the Grace Hospital, was at his side to render assistance if there was any sign of life, but his services were of no avail. The body remained on the roof of the long shed until this afternoon when it was removed to the morgue.

On the south side of Port Point Channel between Congress street and Northern, the greater part of the space is occupied by P. O'Riordan's Sons, and used as a receiving place for sand. It is brought along side in barges, hoisted to the roof of the two-story building, about thirty feet from the surface, and then put through large screens, which separate them into different scoops, and the sand thus graded and sorted, drops into different bins from which it is carted away as needed.

Frank No. 2 was one of the five or six men employed about the premises. About 10:30 this morning he went into one of the sand bins, the one near the front. In some way, either through his slipping into the pile of sand, or the same falling over him, he was soon buried in the avalanche, and the cries of a man who saw the accident aroused all in the neighborhood.
Tony Murri, another workman, secured a ladder and a rope and made his way into the sand pit, shovelled away the sand about the body, gave a signal and the lower trap was opened and all the sand emptied from the pit, and thus the body of Frank No. 2 was recovered.

"Money, after all, means nothing but trouble."
"Still, it is the only kind of trouble which it is hard to borrow."

IRON WORKERS' OFFICIALS ARE SEVERELY ARRAIGNED

Indianapolis, Dec. 18—"Walking delegates" officials who do not work but who use the funds of labor unions to enhance their own power even if they must resort to crime, was the government's description in its argument to the jury at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today of the forty men charged with complicity in the McNamara dynamite plots.
Olaf A. Trevelmo, of San Francisco, was charged with helping to expend $200,000 "collected from honest working men" in connection with a strike at Los Angeles, which culminated in the wrecking of the Los Angeles Times building, and all of the defendants were declared to have used funds of the Iron Workers' International Union in violation of the by-laws of the union to pay dynamites to blow up non-union jobs.
"These men committed a crime not only against the laws of the land, but they committed a crime against their own union," said James W. Noel, special assistant district attorney, and these defendants are not workmen who work with their hands. They are the walking delegates with high salaries who have brought the Iron Workers' Union into disrepute. The government makes no charge against labor unions, whose purpose is legitimate and lofty, but it accuses these monsters of crime who stand at the head of the union and deceive the workman and use their funds for unlawful purposes.
It has been shown that $200,000 was collected from toilers all over the country to be used to defend the McNamaras after their defendants knew they were guilty, and these defendants, including Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, knowing they were guilty, stood up for one minute at their Milwaukee convention and with uncovered heads turned their backs toward the wall as a tribute to the McNamaras locked in a Los Angeles jail charged with murder.
"If jurors cannot allow these men to attempt to stir the country into a state of social chaos, upon which they were determined. You cannot allow brainy men like Trevelmo, who has the ability to raise hundreds of thousands of dollars, or Charles W. Ryan, who has the ability to harbor the Los Angeles dynamites for two weeks in Salt Lake City; you cannot allow them to put all the responsibility upon the McNamaras."

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES
Fraser, Ltd., of Fredericton, have engaged Contractor Moses Mitchell to overhaul the Victoria mill, which they recently purchased from the Scott Lumber Company, preparatory to installing new machinery.
The physicians of Fredericton will adopt, on January 1, a new schedule of fees for medical attendance. The schedule will be higher.
Moses Jones, assistant underground manager of No. 2 slope at Springhill mines, N. S., was yesterday killed and his body badly mangled yesterday when he was struck by the full weight of twelve tons of coal going up to the bank head. He is survived by his wife and four children.
Scott Act officials in Woodstock yesterday seized a large quantity of liquor. William Bragdon, who shot and killed Woodman McCluskey in Woodstock on May 3, 1911, and who was sentenced by Judge White to two years in Dorchester, has been released on parole.
A. L. Holyoke yesterday bought the Charles Carman farm near Woodstock on the line of the St. John & Quebec Railway.

During the last two weeks settlers have taken farms at Granville Ferry, Annapolis, Kentville, Fenwick, Cumberland; Antigonish (2), Amherst, Pictou County, Paradise Station, Colchester and Bear River. A man who came here two years ago and was placed with a nursery concern, has just been appointed manager of a big farm and market garden in the vicinity of the Shubenich, in which three Scotchmen are investing capital.
From the office of Mr. Barnstead, secretary of immigration, thirty or fifty parcels of Nova Scotia industrial literature was sent out in response to requests, and more than 100 applications for particular information were replied to. During the last two weeks about sixty interviews on immigration matters with settlers were held.
The last two weeks were forwarded to the Dominion immigration authorities in England, and to Mr. Howard, agent general there for Nova Scotia, 100 bottles of fruit in preserving fluid and 150 boxes of apples for exhibition in their offices and agencies throughout England. The fruit thus preserved for exhibition purposes, remains all its natural coloring.

NOVA SCOTIA POINTS THE WAY IN WORK FOR IMMIGRATION

(Halifax Chronicle)
The provincial industrial and immigration department staff is kept busy now with correspondence, issuing of literature, interviews with settlers from the old country, etc., and Mr. Cutler, the department farm inspector, has his hands full inspecting and reporting upon farms available for purchase by settlers. On Saturday, E. B. Elderkin, of Amherst, left for the old country, where he will devote six months to the work of securing immigration for this province.
During the last two weeks settlers have taken farms at Granville Ferry, Annapolis, Kentville, Fenwick, Cumberland; Antigonish (2), Amherst, Pictou County, Paradise Station, Colchester and Bear River. A man who came here two years ago and was placed with a nursery concern, has just been appointed manager of a big farm and market garden in the vicinity of the Shubenich, in which three Scotchmen are investing capital.
