A TRIBUTE TO THE BRITISH CONSULS

High Respect in Which They Are Held Differs From Attitude Towards Others — British Diplomat in St. John Today

Eric Campbell, a native of Argyleshire, Scotland, and returning to his native home after fifteen years spent in the interior of China and Korea, was in St. John today for a short time, took lunch with A. G. Forsyth at the Victoria and caught the Boston boat. He intends sailing from New York on the new Imperator.

Mr. Campbell seemed averse to talking much about himself when interviewed by the Times, but was willing to describe conditions in the interior of China, "The Far East is in a ferment now, just as Mexico," he said, "but out of chaos we all expect to see law and order and a stable government emerge, and that in the near future."

British consul for one of the interior provinces of China I was called upon several times to interfere in native revolts for the purpose of saving the lives of foreigners. I may add that in China and in most other foreign countries I have been in, the British consul is the man most respected and depended upon. In the town where I lived for five years there was an American, German and British element, who all lived in the same quarter, which they designated as the "foreign half."

"The primal reason for this contempt of Germany and the United States in China is the attitude of their diplomats there, who seem to delight in meddling in the native affairs, which the British do only when the interests of foreign nations are at stake. On the Klayan Ho river a big dam was to be built by the government. Two firms put in bids, one British, the other American. By underbidding the American firm won. They built the dam, but it was so flimsily constructed that in less than six months it collapsed, costing the lives of four hundred people."

"The British are known to be just, fearless, impartial and swift to strike should vengeance be necessary. Natives arrested in the foreign quarter of Hong Kong prefer to take their case before the British justice sooner than the American if they are innocent, and before the American if they are guilty. I am not prejudiced against America, but am simply stating facts to you. I myself have lived in the states many years and have many friends over there. But I do think Washington should effect a complete re-organization of its consular department."

PROBLEMS OF HOME MISSIONS

Proposal to Amalgamate With Other Boards

OVER TO 1914

Dr. McIntyre Tells of Activities of "Modern Devils" in New Brunswick — Discussion Was Lively

A lengthy discussion of the report on Home Missions followed the devotional exercises conducted by Rev. E. H. Cochran at the opening of this morning's session of the United Baptist Association of New Brunswick.

The discussion was very lengthy and occupied the whole morning. It was chaired by the resolution moved by Rev. J. E. Berne and seconded by Rev. A. J. Archibald that the Home Mission Board of this province amalgamate with that of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

A discussion followed and many of the members expressed their views on the subject, most of them being opposed to the idea, it being pointed out that New Brunswick has plenty of work for one evangelist in the home mission field without having to go to the other maritime provinces.

Rev. Dr. McIntyre said that there were 300 churches under the care of the association and that it was all one man could do to superintend the evangelistic work among these churches, especially as an exceptional vigilance had to be maintained among the churches on the Maine border.

He said that the work of the church here was being undermined by what he termed "modern devils" in the person of Go Preachers, Seventh Day Adventists, Plymouth Brethren, Unitarians, and those who advocate the new theology, to say nothing of atheists. These enemies of the church he said came over from Maine where they abound in great numbers.

None From Here Speaking of Unitarians, Dr. McIntyre said he had never heard of one who had been born in New Brunswick.

A new and more systematic method of raising funds for the work of the association was suggested by Dr. McIntyre. After discussing the proposal of amalgamation for about three hours the following resolution was moved by Rev. F. S. Porter and seconded by Rev. W. Parker: "That the Home Mission Board be requested to take into consideration the question of consolidation and co-operation of the home mission work of the maritime provinces, and report at the next association."

Amendment, moved by Dr. McIntyre, seconded by D. C. Clark, that this question be referred to the next association and notice be given in the Maritime Baptist.

The amendment was carried. The meeting adjourned shortly after noon and the unfinished business of the morning was resumed at the afternoon session.

Rev. F. S. Porter, who was to have given an address on Christian Stewardship said a few words this morning and offered to withdraw his address in order to make more time for the business of the association.

Among the officers elected at yesterday afternoon sessions were James Patterson of this city, who was re-elected treasurer and E. C. Weyman, elected secretary.

Missions in India At the meeting last evening Rev. M. E. Fletcher held secretary of the eastern section of the Foreign Mission Board delivered an interesting address on the work of the Canadian Foreign Missionary Society in India. There are at present two mission stations and eight missionaries—men and women—in charge of the stations.

The society is doing good work in educating the people of India both on secular and religious lines, 200 village schools having been established besides eight boarding schools. The work in the schools is done in English. About 1,500 new church members were added in India last year, making in all 10,000 members.

ALAS! 'TIS TOO TRUE St. John, West, Sept. 25, 1913. Editor of Times, Sir—I am just a poor, insignificant, "blooming" Englishman, and hearing of the wondrous new palace of entertainment recently built in St. John, I decided to go and feast my eyes on its untarnished beauty.

I arrived at King Square, and, with my eyes turned rapturously up toward the gleaming "Imperial" I was moving slowly forward, when I butted into a surging, fighting struggling mass of gasconading humanity.

After a few spasmodic efforts, I resigned myself to my fate and drifted onward. After a long period of agonizing kneading, I suddenly emerged in front of a little hole in a piece of glass. I poked in some money and was guided within.

Whilst sitting there in the dark, recuperating my shattered energy, my mind drifted back to a little quiet city called London. I remembered then what the Imperial reminded me of. But—how differently does one enter there! A long queue of people standing quietly on the sidewalk, or moving slowly forward as the place empties, with probably one solitary constable to marshal three or four queues of as many thousand people.

But, as I wended my weary way back home, I remembered this is St. John, and in conformity to the old adage "When in Rome, do as Rome does," I must, whenever I attend the "Imperial," make a lunge forward and press and squeeze, and walk over women and children, and continue the pressing and squeezing process until finally I emerge at the ticket office.

But, strange to say, I like the London way best. AN ENGLISHMAN. BURIAL IN ST. ANDREWS Philip Fitzpatrick left this morning for St. Andrews to take charge of the funeral of the funeral of Mrs. Meahan, mother of Rev. Dr. A. W. Meahan. Burial will take place at St. Andrews. It is expected that several of his friends in the Cathedral parish, to whom he had ministered for years, will attend the ceremony.

Get This Straight, Mr. Man.

If you want the most for your money you must buy your fall clothing at Oak Hall.

This is not mere talk, it is a statement of fact which investigation will prove to your entire satisfaction. Doesn't it stand to reason that you must get more for your money when you buy directly of the makers and pay but one profit over the cost of production—while it is what you do when you buy clothing at Oak Hall—than you can possibly get at any other store, where you must pay two profits, the manufacturer's and the retailer's?

Now look into this matter carefully before you spend another dollar for clothing. Make comparisons and you'll find that you can actually save an astonishingly large amount in buying at Oak Hall, and at the same time get absolutely the best in style and quality.

There are extreme styles for young persons who want fashion's latest touch, and there are conservative styles for the conservative man.
