Important Meeting of the Lib-

Conservative Club.

Speech by Fred M. Sproul, the

Party's Nominee for the Vacant

Seat in the Legislature.

HAMPTON, Dec. 4.-On Monday evening the Liberal Conservative club at this place held a meeting at which over fifty of its most prominent members were present, the president, T. H.

Carvell, in the chair. After some routine business had been disposed of,

Fred M. Sproul, the candidate of the party for election at the next provincial contest, was called for a speech and responded in the most hearty and effective manner. He said present appearances indicated that the election would not be brought on before the new year, but he proposed at once to enter on the campaign by a house to house canvass throughout the county and as soon as the liberal candidate was decided on he proposed to invite him to hold joint meetings at all the chief centres, at which they could present their respective claims for the suffrages of the people. He had no fears in pursuing this course, believing that the principles of the liberal conservative party were of so sound and practical a character that the good sense of the electorate would endorse them as based on what was best in their own interests and of those of the province generally. He reviewed the political courses of the provincial premier and attorney general, and claimed that the best element in the liberal ranks was opposed to the opportunism and "lightning changes" of these "political acrobats." He denounced the aggressions of the government upon the rights of the people and the privileges of the municipal council, which had been ruthlessly invaded in the matter and manner of appointments to the positions of assessors, revisors and by-road commissioners, offices formerly wholly within the power and gift of the councillors, but now so manipulated by the government as to place the actions and decisions of these public functionaries under the dictum of the provincial autocrats who cared only to serve their own ends without a moments regard for the well-being of the people in the local districts of the several parishes. He also spoke of the abuses possible and likely to arise from the action of the government in constituting the sheriff as a court be fore which applications for the adding of names to the electoral lists must be made, instead of the county court judge as formerly in vogue. In the latter case the judge was removed

FREDERICTON, Dec. 4.-Frank Mc Mariman and Frank Watts pleaded guilty before Judge Wilson this aftermoon under the Speedy Trials act to the charge of breaking and entering M. Fickler & Co.'s store with intent to commit an indictable offence. After the prisoners had entered their plea H. F. McLeod, on behalf of the priso ers, addressed the court, urging his honor to exercise leniency, and presented a petition largely signed by influential citizens praying for leniency. Judge Wilson lectured the prisoners at some length, and gave them some good advice for the future, at the conclusion of which he sentenced McManiman to eight months and Watts to six months in the county jail. It is the concensus of opinion that the prisoners were let off very lightly. Two very handsome stained windows are being placed in St. Dunstan's church today.

FREDERICTON, Dec. 5.-It is rumored about the city that A. S. Murray, a staunch supporter of and worker for the liberal administration, has been offered the position of customs official at McAdam, in room of J. G. Connelly, who is to be trasnferred to Ottawa.

The question of appointing a Scott Act inspector for Fredericton is now agitating the city council. The board is divided on the subject, some of the aldermen strongly supporting the idea, while the others as strongly opposed The Scott Act in this city is little more than a show, and it seems to be the general opinion that it is high time that the act be rigidly enforced or done away with altogether in place of license.

KARS, KINGS CO.

The wife and family of the late Jas. W. Toole desire, through the columns of the Sun, to thank their many friends for kindness and sympathy in the time of their bereavement, and also to publish the following sympathetic letter of condolence sent them by Court Jenkins' Cove, I. O. F., of which Mr. Toole was long a member:

KARS, Kings Co., N. B., Nov. 29, 1900, A. D.—At a special meeting of Jenkins' Cove Court, No. 1849, I. O. F., held on the above date, it was unan mously resolved that we place on record our appreciation of the services our court and order has receiv-sed in the past from our brother and chief ranger, the late James W. Toole, who has so suddenly passed from this time's state to the court above.

We are also deeply sensible of the great loss we have sustained. We hereby tender our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family in their sorrow, and pray that the Great Source of all Goodness may bind up your wounded hearts with His love and care; and further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be prepared and sent to our late brother's family. FIRE-SWEPT ST. MARTINS

Is Fast Recovering From the Shock-Some New Buildings.

St. Martins is fast recovering from the effects of the big blaze that swept through its midst on the 30th of May last. Over half a hundred buildings, and as many small sheds and barns were consumed in the conflagration and thousand upon thousand of dollars worth of real estate and personal effects went up in smoke on that memorable day. So great was the shock that many for a time thought the pretty little seaport town would scarcely recover from the blow. There was a time when shipbuilding was a thrivdens and vestry of the parish of Mau- ing industry in St. Martins, and such an unhappy occurrence as the fire might then have been considered with more hopefulness. However, with remarkable alacrity and vigor the people have taken fresh courage and are rebuilding the burnt portion of the town better than ever.

Among the new buildings already occupied are the following:

Aubrey Brown's new bakery on the north side of the Main street. A. W. Fowne's two story dwelling (yet in frame). David McLeod's dwelling in the rear of the Fowne's house, on the north side of the main street.

William Smith's dwelling and store north side Main street. Forty feet front, 24 feet ell. Store large and commodious and freshly stocked with general goods. Robert Carson's large two story dwelling, with long ell, sheds and barns-a beautifully situated home and modernly equipped. Then further along on the same street are the new homes of Thomas Wood and John E. Burshill. On Beach street, corner Main, George H. Cutten has his new dwelling.

Then, continuing along Beach street the the reconstructed homes of Oliver Sweet, McCutcheon brothers and David Brown.

The fire-swept portion of the village presents a much brighter appearance now that these homes are being occupied. The glow of lights at nighttime and the curling smoke from the chimneys during the day are stimulating the courageous spirit of those townspeople who were so sorely afflicted by the fire about seven months ago. In the spring there will be many more dwellings and stores constructed and it is safe to say by this time next year St. Martins will have almost fully recovered from its fiery setback.

DIED AT JACQUET RIVER.

(Campbellton Enterprise.) We greatly regret to have to report the decease of a lady full of years, whose removal will cause a blank in many a heart. We allude to Mrs. Wm. Barclay, the wife of Wm. Barclay of Jacquet river. The deceased lady was attacked with paralysis about six months ago. On Wednesday evening, Nov. 21st, 1900, however, to the regret of all to whom she was known, she exchanged life for immortality, and went to the presence of her Saviour, for whose coming she had spent her life time in preparation. Mrs. Barclay, who was 76 years of age, was the daughter of the late Robert McIntosh and Agnes Barty of Perth. Scotland. Of a family of fourteen children, only two survive her, one brother, Alexander McIntosh of Rose Hill, Bathurst, one sister, Euphemia McIntosh, Jacquet river.

She married her now bereaved and sorrowing husband July 17, 1837, and had twelve children, seven of whom survive. William, Thomas, John, Margaret, Mrs. J. T. Hill of Richmond. Indiana, U. S. A.: Mrs. W. D. Gould, Sacramento, Cal.; Mrs. P. A. Seaver, Rutland, Vermont. Also two grandchildren. Mrs. Samuel Laughlan of Campbellton, Miss Florence Richmond of Jacquet river, whom, owing to the early death of her mother, she had cared for and cherished as her own. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

ROBBING PETER, ETC.

The expression, "Robbing Peter to pay Paul," had its origin in the rivalry existing between Westminster Abbey, formerly St. Paul's Cathedral, and St. Paul's Cathedral in London. In 1550 there was a deficiency in the treasury of St. Paul's, and an appropriation of money belonging to St. Peter's was made to cover the deficiency. The people, who were averse to the action. asked the question: "Why rob St Peter's to pay St. Paul's?"

A STARTLING CHARGE. Drunkenness and Immorality Growing Among Ontario Working Women.

TORONTO, Dec. 1.-"Drunkennes end immorality are on the increase among the girls and young women of Ontario employed in the factories and shops of our cities," was the rather startling statement made today by James Noxon, provincial inspector of prisons and public charities. Mr. Noxon was asked as to the truth of a statement recently made by an Ottawa clergyman to the effect that drunkenness and crime were becoming more prevalent among girls and young women in Ontario. His reply substantially confirmed the truth of the charge, although Mr. Noxon qualified it by making it apply only to the urban and not to the rural population. There were now probably from five to ten times as many girls and young women employes in the shops and factories of our cities as former-These came in most cases from the rural districts, and were removed in the city from the restraining influences of home life. Moreover, the drudgery of the factory and constant nervous tension made them feel the need of amusement and excitement after the day's work was over. These influences, combined with the constant free intercourse among the sexes, led all too frequently to drunkenness and vice. As an evidence of the fact that there was an actual increase in this connection, Mr. Noxon instanced the fact that the increase this year in the attendance at the house of refuge is over fifty per cent ... made up largely of young girls, who had been led astray in one way or the

DATE OF THE FLOOD.

Bible Facts on Which Calculation Can Be Based

Some people have had fun lately over the reported rejection of eight candidates for the African Methodist ministry in the south by the examining bishop because they could not tell the date of the flood. Nevertheless, the bishop who asked the question knew what he was doing. It may not have heen a fair question, but there is a concise answer to it in the Bible, and he no doubt thought that the eight candidates, if they were well versed in the Old Testament, would answer i at once.

The date of the flood was 1.656 years after the birth of Adam, in the second month and the seventeenth day. It began then and continued for forty days and nights. This is how it is figured: The third verse of the fifth chapter of Genesis reads thus: "And Adam lived 130 years and begat a son in his own likeness, after his image; and called his name Seth." Then in the sixth verse it is told that Seth lived 105 years and begat Enos. Adam, says the fourth verse, lived 800 years, after the birth of Seth, and the latter after the birth of Enos lived 807 years. So it goes on. Enos begat Cainan when he was 90; Cainan begat Mahalaleel when he was 75: Mahalaleel begat Jared when he was 65: Jared begat Enoch when he was 162: Methusaleh was born to Enoch when the latter was 65, and when Methusaleh was 187 he begat Lamech, and Lamech's son, Noah, came into the world when the father was 182. This brings us down to the birth of Noah, when, according to the added ages of the several patriarchs at the time their sons were born, occurred 1,056 years after the birth of

In the seventh chapter of Genesis the eleventh verse reads at follows: "In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the sevenshould or should not go upon the list teenth day of the month, the same day of electors were left to men who hold were all the fountains of the great eep broken up and all the windows of heaven were opened." This was the flood, and it came to pass in the year 1656 after the birth of Adam.

Mr. Finley, as well, though a stranger to the young folk of north end, is exceedingly well thought of by his friends in other parts of the city and outside. Both he and his fair partner were the recipients of a large number of wedding gifts, including gold, silver, cut glass, china and glassware, furniture, decorative articles, etc. The groom's present to the bride was a costly black marten cape and collar, and from her father and brother a gold watch with long chain.

The choir of Main Street Baptist church gave the bride a handsome cardelabra; her Sunday school class a silver berry spoon; the Women's Aid Society of Douglas Avenue Christian church, a handsomely worked cushion; banquet lamp, from friends in Indiantown and Marysville; sliver sugar and cream set, from relatives in Marysvilla: handsome wicker rocker, from the crew of the dredge New Dominion: carving set, from Capt.
