Coast Guard Cutter Picks Up Freighter S. S. Lukenbach

The Steamer Was Badly Lined and Without Steam.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 27.—The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa reported by radio today that she found the United States steamship Frederick Lukenbach hopelessly adrift at 9 o'clock last night, fifty-four miles from the entrance of Tampa Bay. The Lukenbach was badly listed and without steam. The cutter took the vessel in tow for Tampa.

The freight steamer, Frederick Lukenbach, found adrift off the Florida Coast, left San Francisco on September 23 for New York with scheduled stops at Mobile and New Orleans. The vessel left Colon, October 13, and on October 23 was reported twenty-five miles northwest of Nevasita, Cuba.

The freighter is commanded by Captain Tornborg and has a crew of 35. She registers 2,873 gross tons and was built in South Shields, England, in 1935.

GAGETOWN
Gagetown, Oct. 26.—Two very interesting visitors to Gagetown this week were Dr. Gladstone McLean and his wife, formerly Miss Ann Briggs, who have been visiting at their old home at the Narrows, after spending upwards of ten years in Nigeria, West Africa, as missionaries of the Baptist church. Dr. and Mrs. McLean arrived in Canada on the first of March and expect to sail again for their far-away mission field in February of next year.

On Friday evening a large gathering of ladies of the Methodist church took place at the home of the Misses Palmer, when Mrs. McLean told, in a manner which completely absorbed the attention of her hearers, of her life in Nigeria. Many changes have taken place there since she and Dr. McLean first took up their labors there. When she first went to the place which is now their home, she was carried in a hammock by native bearers. Three years later, when returning from furlough, she and Dr. McLean were able to ride on bicycles and three years ago, on their return from furlough, they took with them a motor cycle with side-car, which they have been using ever since, and on which they have been traveling about New Brunswick this summer. A large native church is now built on the site of the pen into which the natives were herded to await shipment to America as slaves. Mrs. McLean had with her pictures of the natives and described their mode of life in a most entertaining way. They have only two implements, the hoe and the axe; they have no beasts of burden, all loads being carried on their heads; all live in walled compounds, and the dead are buried under the earthen floors of their houses. During the rainy season enough water is caught to last the whole year round, and is kept in large tanks from which it is dipped and carried about in hollow gourds and clay pots. The voracious white ants are a great enemy, and Dr. and Mrs. McLean have their home protected from them by cement walls. At the close of Mrs. McLean's address she was heartily thanked by all present, and a social hour was spent in which the company was joined by Dr. McLean and Rev. Henry Penna, pastor of the Methodist Church. Refreshments were served by the Misses Palmer, assisted by a number of ladies.

On Sunday evening in the Methodist Church, Dr. McLean addressed the large congregation on the subject of his missionary experiences in Nigeria, relating many anecdotes of his life in that distant land, and concluding with an earnest plea for the strong support of Christian missions. Children's Day was observed last Sunday by the scholars of St. John's Sunday School, who after assembling at the Guild Hall, marched to St. John's Church, where the services were conducted by the rector, Rev. H. T. Buckland, who addressed the children on the subject of setting a good example. Appropriate children's hymns were sung and the offertory was the largest the children have yet had.

Ruth Tells Why He Quit Barnstorming

Stopped at Request of Yankee Owners—Plans to Go on Stage—in Great Shape.

A few days ago "Babe" Ruth, world's champion home-run hitter, said: "The best argument I heard at Scranton the other day as to why I should abandon barnstorming was that 'When men change their minds, fools never; I never expect to be in Solomon's class, but I am glad that Colonel Huston prevented me from getting in the other classification.'"

I have played my last game this year. I have knocked my last home run and this is my last story until spring training comes around. It is very pleasant to terminate what some reporters have called my "literary efforts," with the feeling that I have done right by the baseball fans, by my fellow-players and, above all, by the man who brought me to the New York Ball Club.

The reason I started barnstorming was to do something, according to my way of thinking, that would help baseball players as a whole. The reason I stopped was to show my appreciation of Colonel Ruppert and Colonel Huston, who brought me to New York at an enormous expense and who have treated me fair and square ever since.

Respects Judge Landis.
As to Judge Landis, I have nothing but the highest regard and respect for him and the difficult position he holds. At no time in my recent venture have I in any way permitted personal feeling or sentiment to sway my judgment.

My convictions, while misguided, were nevertheless sincere and genuine. Just what my convictions were and my reasons for evading a certain baseball rule will be disclosed when Judge Landis deems it advisable.

In the meantime I am preparing to join the footlights league. I don't know how I will make out in the new job, but my contract starts early in November over a well-known vaudeville circuit and they have already sent me what actors call my "lines."

There are about eighteen pages for me to memorize and on the second day I have only eleven sentences committed to memory. In the old days at school I used to recite "The Charge of the Light Brigade," but the stuff they have handed me now is not so easy.

No Pinch Hitter on Stage.
In baseball the audience is always behind you, but in this stage league the crowd is right out there staring you in the face. And here's the tough part—if you go into a slump of cold feet there isn't any pinch-hitter sitting around to bat for you.

They say it's going to be a hard winter. Well, the vaudeville league will give me something to attend to after hours and evenings, but the short period can't pass too quickly to suit me.

I am in good shape right now. My weight is down and the way my arm is heating shows that my general condition is good. When the next call for spring training brings the ball players back from their hunting and fishing expeditions, I will be happy, and if I'm trying means anything, I will be out of the "39" home-run class before the next world series rolls around.

U. S. Senate To Increase Tariffs Over Fordney Bill

Will Ask That 35 p.c. Rate of the Emergency Tariff be Continued on Wheat.

Washington, Oct. 27.—(Canadian Press)—Senators of the agricultural bloc have decided on the schedule of rates on agricultural products they will ask when the Senate finance committee resumes hearings on the permanent tariff bill, November 1. They have decided to ask even higher rates than the Fordney Bill as it passed the House. On wheat they will ask that the 35 cent rate of the emergency tariff be continued; that an increase of 5 cents per bushel be made on the rate for barley, and that rates be placed on livestock, about equal to the emergency rates.

Lord Beatty Chief Speaker At Dinner of Am. Boy Scouts

The day was marked by a series of ceremonies, both in New York City and Oyster Bay, the Long Island village where Roosevelt spent the last years of his life. Civil, memorial and social organizations participated.

Wants Engineers To Make Investigation

Labor Men Want Plebiscite on Distribution of Hydro Power.

The recent charges that the city had not gotten value in the Spruce Lake extension job and the distribution of the hydro power were the chief matters under discussion at the committee meeting of the Common Council held yesterday morning.

G. G. Hare, city engineer, writing in connection with the charges of J. P. Ryan, re the Spruce Lake job, asked that a committee from the St. John Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada be asked to make an investigation and report to the Council as to the kind of work which had been done. His, the latter stated, was quite able to take care of his personal reputation, but thought to satisfy the minds of the tax-payers the request should be complied with. The letter was referred to Commissioner Jones, who will probably recommend the appointment of the committee asked for.

A delegation of labor men, for whom J. A. Barry acted as spokesman, made it known that before anything further was done in the hydro matter a plebiscite on the method of distribution be taken in order to give the voters a chance to express their preference in the matter. Commissioner Frink remarked that at the last plebiscite only three thousand out of eighteen thousand voted and it was hard to say what the cost of the current would be. The estimate of cost had jumped $20,000 from $100,000 per year to $200,000.

The Mayor said that everyone would have an opportunity to discuss the matter before action was taken. He said it was the intention to have delegates from all local bodies listen to a discussion by the Council and then report back to their organizations. Then the bodies would be asked to present well defined views to the Council.

Commissioner Frink said that it was difficult to judge anything at present as last year the cost of the development was placed at $100,000 and at a recent meeting yesterday morning was jumped $20,000.

Commissioner Thornton asked if any but appointed delegates could attend the discussion of the city plans. The Mayor said that he had no objection for everybody, as he hoped there would be public meetings on the matter.

Commissioner Frink said he thought that a report on the matter should be asked from Mr. Ross, electrical engineer, who reported on electrical matters in the city in 1910.

Commissioner Bullock thought that the city should take up the matter with the power company to see what proposition they had to make regarding the distribution of the current.

The Mayor was of the opinion that as soon as the Government had decided what it had to offer, and at what rate, it was time to ask for a report from men qualified to judge.

Commissioner Thornton said that the Council should not have a conversation with the power company before these figures were available.

Commissioner Jones said that the cottage which W. E. Scully, M. P. P., was sold to the city by Mrs. McLeod. The records go no further, but he learned that ex-Commissioner Wigmore, in 1918, sold the cottage to H. Coby Smith for $50. The city did not know Mr. Scully in the transaction, but he was willing to have Mr. Scully remove the building forthwith.

A motion to this effect was allowed to stand over for further investigation. Commissioner Frink read a request from the New Brunswick Telephone Co. to move two poles in Horsfield street, and one in Mecklenburg street, in order to remove from a lot at Spruce Lake was sold to the city by Mrs. McLeod. The company reported that one of three poles at the corner of St. David and Courtenay streets had been removed.

The mayor was referred to Commissioner Frink.

An application from John M. Journey for permission to erect an electric sign outside his shop in Union street was referred to Commissioner Frink for report.

A Special Meeting.
It was decided to hold a special meeting of the Council at noon today to open tenders for the purchase of more than half a million dollars worth of city bonds.

Lattimer Lake Lands.
Commissioner Frink said that he was informed by Mr. Boyle at Lattimer Lake that he intended cutting timber this winter on lands bordering on Lattimer Lake. The commissioner thought that the city should make an effort to obtain this land by purchase to protect the city water supply. Commissioner Jones promised to look into the matter.

Lizzie Ford Was Deserted

Stolen from Front of Theatre and Was Later Found Abandoned on Erin Street.

"Why Forde Leave Home, or the Deserted Garage, might be the title of the police report handed in by Officers Chisholm and Beckwell, dealing with the adventures of a giddy irresponsible in Lizzie who started to do the city Monday evening, and leaving the white lights behind began doing the town by hitting the high-spots on Clarence street.

The officers first noticed the car, a light Ford truck, at the corner of Richmond and Prince Edward, it was running along Clarence at the time, at a rate of speed decidedly in excess of that which the most liberal interpretation of the speed limit set by the city would allow. The officers shouted to the driver to stop, but their exhortation was only met with a more liberal application of the joy-juice.

Little Miss Ford needed no other encouragement and the officers saw her galloply hurdle the lower portions of the roadbed, and disappear in a cloud of dust down the street.

Nothing daunted they continued on in pursuit, and following along Clarence to Erin came upon the reckless little damsel panting and disheveled, at the Railway tracks, but alas, even as many another fair and unsuspecting maiden, she was cruelly deserted and all alone. Nor did a search of the immediate vicinity reveal who had so cruelly abandoned her.

After some investigation the officers discovered that the car belonged to J. Bodovitch of the People's Meat Store, Prince Edward street. The owner had left the car in front of the Imperial theatre and while he was attending the second show, the car was led astray by some dark handsome stranger.

Had it not been for the fact that the attention of the officers was attracted by the speed of the car, it might have met the same unhappy fate as other young and unsuspecting cars which have recently been lured to the Loch Lomond Road vicinity and there piled up in a wreck and deserted.

Woman Is Sentenced in Roosevelt Forgery
Plea for Mrs. Burkett Fails to Obtain Clemency.

New York, Oct. 26.—Mrs. Emma Richardson Burkett of Hillsdale, Ind., convicted two weeks ago of forging Theodore Roosevelt's name to a note for $50 and trying to collect that from his estate, received an indeterminate sentence yesterday from Judge Talley in General Sessions. Her husband, George Burkett, was in court to plead for clemency, but he failed to obtain it for her.

"I can't understand why you should not, as a law abiding citizen, have tried to prevent the action, which was such a source of annoyance to the family of one of our greatest Americans," Judge Talley told Burkett. "She is a type of swindler who would have caused considerable pain and anguish had her scheme gone through as contemplated."

"I have always looked upon her as a sort of 'cracked pot,'" said Burkett. "I never paid much attention to the alleged Roosevelt matter as I thought it was another one of her peculiarities."

Science Proves the Danger of Bleeding Gums

Medical science proves that unhealthy gums cause serious ailments. People suffering from Pyorrhoea (a disease of the gums) often suffer from other ills, such as rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders, or weakened vital organs. These ills have been traced in many cases to the Pyorrhoea germs which breed in pockets about the teeth.

Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhoea. It begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the infecting Pyorrhoea germs.

Guard your health and your teeth. Keep Pyorrhoea away. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection, and make daily use of Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhoea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean.
