Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

Dr. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY. It builds up the body with sound flesh and

T., elected the following officers last evening: Rev. J. E. Shanklin, C. T.: Annie McKinley, V. T. Mayer, and the state of the street harshly on blood tempered beneath a warmer sky; perhaps they (or some black woman among them with a touch of African witchcraft) divined afar off the sweep of icy north wind down Country Harbor; Registrar; Ernest Milton, chaplain; Ida Crozier, Mar.; Mrs. Fred. Haslam, D. Mar.; Vera Butland, A. Secy.; Allison Buptland, guard; Ben. Rommel, sentinel. These officers were duly installed by W. Rommel, the lodge deputy.

The country Harbor, whither they were bound, lies about 100 miles eastward along the coast from Halifax. All the were bound, lies about 100 miles eastward along the coast from Halifax. All the shoreline is a succession of harbors, but this one stands among them without equal; a deep gash between hills; a mile or more wide, and perhaps ten miles from harbor mouth to where the tide is lost; spacious and safe; such a haven as those that elsewhere have sheltered half the world's shipping, though scarce a keel furrows its waters. The western shore runa far out forming one side of a wide

Hither the "King's Rangers" came, on Christmas day, 1784. About three miles up the harbor on the eastern side a steep hill runs down in a wooded slope to the hill runs down in a wooded slope to the water's edge, and at the foot of this, at the place now called Niblett's Landing, they went on shore. But only one of their ships had arrived; the missing one, with their lumber, had been blown off shore in one of the fierce northerly gales of the season, and the company that looked up at the snowclad slope must have known more than a little discouragement. Snow and desolation desolation and snow! Snow and desolation, desolation and snow! It was melancholy enough to look at, more melancholy to go into and by force of muscle and courage make homes. It is not hard to think, surely, that they looked back, some of them at any rate, to Christ-mas days spent riotously perhaps, yet merrily; kept with-old-world pomp and circumstances or with homely good cheer, certainly in care-free fashion and under kindlier skies. Be that as it may, they went on shore at last, and in good time came the other transport; but the lumber that was to have built their shelter had been swept overboard in the gale! A problem now arose, one to them almost unsolvable; to make in this wilderness some protection from the weather, whose quality they had alreay tested.—Clare Giffin, in the Canadian Magazine for Febru-

THE APPROACH OF DAY

From an address at the dedication of the Dudley observatory, Albany, N.

HAD occasion, a few weeks since, to take the early train from Provider Boston; and for this purpose rose at 2 o'clock in the morning. Ev thing around was wrapt in darkness and hushed in silence, broken only by seemed at that hour the unearthly clank and rush of the train. It was a mild, serene, midsummer's night -the aky was without a cloud-the winds whist. The moon, then in the last quarter, had just risen, and the stars sh with a spectral luster but little affected by her presence. Jupiter, two hours h was the herald of the day; the Pleiades, just above the horizon, shed their sweet nfluence in the east; Lyra sparkled near the zenith; the steady pointers, far neath the pole looked meekly up from the depths of the north to their so
