[To the Associated Press.] NEW YORK, Dec. 22-p.m. Government Attorney General Wil-Hams has rendered an opinion deciding that the steamer Virginius was owned by Queseda, Verona, Mora and other Cuban Insurrectionists in New York; that her that the steamer Virginius was owned by Queseda, Verona, Mora and other Cuban Insurrectionists in New York; that her papers were obtained by perjury, and her flying the United States flag was a fraud. The Attorney General says: "I am also of the opinion that she was as much exempt from interference on the high seas by any other power on that ground, as though she had been lawfully registered. Spain, no doubt, had a right to capture a vassel with an American register and carrying the American flag found in her own waters, assisting or endeavoring to assist the insurrection in Cuba, but she has no right to capture such a vessel on the high seas, upon an apprehension that in violation of the neutrality or navigation laws of the United States she was on her way to assist said rebellion."

OTTAWA, Dec. 22.

Attorney General Clarke arrived today.

A despatch from Manitoba says that after Clarke left, a warrant was issued for his arrest for malpractice, but no particulars are given.

Rumors are current here to-day that John Young will soon quit political life and receive an office; also that Hon. Mr. Fournier is to be provided for, Couchon taking his place in the Government.

It is also said that the almost unantmous public sentiment against surrendering the Eastern end of the Pacific Railway to American lines has induced the Cabinet to decide upon something different, and at Huntington's dinner a modification of that policy will be announced.
