

again, not just a thing that makes beds + rubs backs - but London absdutely & utterly fascinating. Goodness
I would love to spend years there &
see every thing - properly.

This has developed into a letter hasn't it? I was afraid it would. No please pardon the awful writing - but we have to do our writing in bed as there is no fire & we just freeze - It is comical the matter of course way we hop into bed now to do any writing.

Again all the good wishes in all the world.
From a friend I hope you haven't forgotten
Lussie Bray.

BRANFORD 1
25 FEB 15
The Post for Mr. King
13
Faulstich Ave.
Waltham
Canada.

27638

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers

Volume 31