

Swinburne, A. C.—continued
London life—continued

223; the Lamb centenary, 224-5; literary activity in 1875, Songs of Two Nations, and Essays and Studies, etc. published, 225-6; at work on his Study of Shakespeare, 226-7; the Furnivall controversy begun, 227; Erechtheus published, 227; life circa 1875-8, and lyrics written, 232 et seq.; visit to the Channel Islands, 233; illness and stay at Holmwood, 234; death of his father, annoyance at the will, 234-5; work on Charlotte Brontë, 235-6; rooms in Great James Street, 214, 236-7, and mode of life, 237-8; a notable figure at the London Restaurant, 238-9; invitations to Paris, 239; second series of Poems and Ballads published, 239 et seq.; his health, 239; the translations from Villon made, 242-3; meeting with Oscar Wilde, 244; life in 1878, visit to Scotland, 243-4, serious ill-health, and the removal to Putney, 244, 245

Putney life, 245 et seq.; poems written during, 245 et seq.; change in character, 246, 268, 272; routine of life, 247-8; Mary Stuart begun, 249; A Study in Shakespeare published, 249, in the controversy with Furnivall concerning it, 249-51, attitude of, during the Buchanan Examiner libel suit, 312-13; the volume of parodies, 251-3; Songs of the Springtides published, 253, faults in, 254;

Swinburne, A. C.—continued
Putney life—continued

Mary Stuart published, 250 et seq., Tristram of Lyonesse begun, 250 et seq., and published, 261 et seq.; visit to Sark, 264; visit to Victor Hugo in Paris, 265-6, Roundels by, 266-7; other writings (see also titles), 269 et seq.; growing deafness, limitation of friendships, death of friends, and a reconciliation, 270-1; the young generation, and the devotion of Watts-Dunton, 271; joy in young children, 271-2; the 3rd series of Poems and Ballads published, 273-4; Ode for Eton Jubilee, 275; other writings, 276; the laureateship, why not offered him, 277; The Tale of Balen, 277-9; death of his mother in last crisis of his life, 279; the last thirteen years, 279, illness, 280, death, and burial, 281-2

Swinburne, Alice, sister of A.C.S., 8
Swinburne, Baron E. R. F. F., Chamberlain to Franz Josef of Austria, 5

Swinburne, Edith, sister of A.C.S., illness of, 98, death of, 100

Swinburne, Edward, brother of A.C.S., 234

Swinburne family, characteristics of, 1 et seq.; religious views of, 8-9, 338

Swinburne, George, 2

Swinburne, Henry, 1

Swinburne, Isabel, sister of A.C.S., 3 n., 43, 267

Swinburne, John, first Baronet, 2

Swinburne, Lady Jane Henrietta (née Ashburnham), mother of A.C.S., 4, 16, 29, 30, 165, 170-1, 199, 337; education and accomplishments of, 5; A.C.S.'s first teacher,