Richard's QUICK NAPTHA
THE WOMAN'S SOAP

1109-Girl's Dress with Guimpe—In the styles for the young girls as well as for the grown-ups we find the combining of two materials quite popular. In this design two colors could be used to advantage, the sleeves, belt, collar and pumpe being of some plain material and the body part of contrasting goods. If preferred a little lace guimpe might be set in to brighten up the dress. Four sizes: 5, 6, 10 and 12 years.

1095-Lady's Dressing Tacone—Here is a Christmas suggestion. It is only a month until Christmas, so it is high time for us to be looking around for suggestions for gifts. A dressing tacone made after the design shown herewith would make a very acceptable gift, and would be useful as well as dainty. Flowered crepe cloth would make up nicely. Three sizes: Small, medium and large.

1100-Girl's Dress, With or Without Polum—A style of dress for the schoolgirl that should meet with favor is shown herewith. The long shoulder, yoke effect and polum are the style features of this little costume, although if preferred the polum may be omitted. Such a dress might be made from some serviceable material for school, or would also be dainty fashioned from silk for a good dress. Four sizes: 5, 10, 12 and 14 years.

1099-Lady's Costume—One would almost think they had opened an old photograph album when they come across such designs as the basque effect shown herewith. The basque costumes nowadays, however, differ from those worn many years ago in that they are worn over a narrow skirt, rather than the voluminous pleated skirt which was then popular. The new style of collar high at the back is also a feature of this costume. Cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 7 1/2 yards of 44-inch material with 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for the cash grille, for a medium size.

1084-Costume for Ladies and Misses with Tunic—Herewith we show a style of dress which may be used in two ways as shown by the back and front illustrations. No matter what style the tunic may be, Dame Fashion demands that it must flare at the bottom. The skirts are of a rate made fairly narrow, and in order to get the smart effect there must be a distinct contrast between the tunic and skirt. The lower part of the skirt may be developed in the fashionable Roman stripe material. Cut in four sizes for misses, 14, 16, 17 and 18 years, and six sizes for ladies, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure.

1100-1041-Lady's Coat Suit—The coats this year are decidedly different to those of last season, and almost all are shown with a flare and ripple effect. This design would make a very pretty coat suit by using a contrasting material for the upper part of the skirt, probably trimming the collar and cuffs with similar material. If desired the skirt and tunic could be made from the same goods. This style requires two patterns, 10c for each. Coat is cut in six sizes: 34 to 44 inches bust measure, and the skirt from 22 to 33 inches waist measure.

1102-Lady's House Dress—A dress for wear in the house is herewith shown which is simple and easy of construction and should fill the bill nicely for a neat morning dress. Six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure.

Purebred Registered HOLSTEIN CATTLE

Superintendent Smith of the Geneva Experiment Station says the average production of butterfat per cow in New York State is about 110 pounds per year. The State College in Iowa has a cow descended from common stock on one side and from a line of purebred Holstein cows on the other. This cow has produced 470 pounds of fat in a year.

This is interesting proof of that intelligent improvement of grade herds can multiply the butter yield by four and five.
