J. B. HOGATE, PROPRIETOR.

IMPORTER OF

Clydesdale,
Shire and Hackney Stallions, and Spanish Jacks.

68 head imported in 1902. All sold but 2 stallions and 4 jacks.

My next importation will arrive about Nov. 5th—Clydes, Shires and Hackneys. Hogate buys bread-winners, and sells at bread-winning prices. He doesn't advertise all of his stallions to weigh a ton, but some of them do. You can fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time. Be sure and see my stock before you buy in the fall. Prices to suit all, consistent with quality. I will be pleased to see all my old customers in the fall, and as many new ones.

GOSSIP.

DAIRY COWS AT ST. LOUIS.

Mr. H. H. Hinds, of Stanton, Michigan, who has charge of the Shorthorn cows that will take part in the World's Fair test at the recent St. Louis meeting of Live-stock Herdbook Associations, spoke in part as follows:

"It is about time for the men who do so much boasting about the dairy qualities of certain breeds to put up or shut up, or, to be more explicit, to take part in public dairy demonstrations or to quit boasting about a breed that the owners admit by their universal absence from public trials are sadly deficient in the qualities claimed.

"I am interested in the Shorthorn breed of cattle, which the breeders have proved on many occasions to be the best of the dual-purpose breeds. We claim the Shorthorn to be the best class of beef cattle. We show our cattle at the State fairs and expositions and fat stock shows, and have proved that they are first-class beef cattle. We have carried the blue ribbons, won in competition with other breeds, into our camp time and again, and have no lack of confidence in our ability to continue to win in hot competition.

"Now the Shorthorn breeders, with the advocates of other breeds, claim not only superior beef qualities, but that the breed has much merit for dairy purposes. We claim that the Shorthorn is the best dual-purpose breed of cattle, and we are eager to demonstrate that the Shorthorn cow can return a good profit as a rich milker, and still produce calves that make choice steers that can win in the block test.

"Now, when the Louisiana Purchase Exposition provides the opportunity and the facilities for a cow demonstration, and invites the representatives of the cattle associations to make equitable rules and conditions for such a test as will meet all the requirements of the butter and cheese maker, the farmer who wants a milk and beef breed, as well as the dairyman who sells his milk for consumption, it becomes the imperative duty of the officers of cattle associations to come to the front and make good their claims. That is what the Shorthorn Association is going to do. Now it is up to the advocates of other breeds of cattle to get into line and show the public what their cows can do, or to quit boasting.

"Another wise provision has been made in the Exposition rules, relating to the demonstration of cows at the World's Fair, that will enable one or more enterprising breeders of any breed of cattle not represented by the associations to enter cows as individuals. The liberal spirit of the managers of the World's Fair in this connection is very apparent when it is known that the milk or the products made therefrom is to be turned over daily to the cattle associations interested, or the individual owners having charge."

TRADE NOTES.

ABOUT AROMA.—As every feeder knows, the aroma or flavor of stock food has a great deal to do with the amount eaten, and thus, indirectly, aroma increases the value of food. This aroma may be imparted to foods, whether for horses, cattle, sheep, swine or poultry, by using Day's Aromatic Stock Food, a preparation calculated to tempt the appetites of all classes of stock.

RUPTURE.—This is the headline of an adv't in this issue by Mr. C. H. Dorenwend, the mechano-medical expert of Toronto, and the reader's attention is directed to it. Mr. Dorenwend claims that there is more danger to life lurking in rupture than in any other trouble that the human system is subject to. He says: "It is such an insidious trouble, it comes upon one like 'a thief in the night.' On account of its usually being of a private nature, it is neglected and hidden. Many mistakes are made by simply wearing 'a truss.' Mind what I say, a truss should be perfect. It should hold as if you had 'your fingers there.' Many persons say I am a crank on the subject—so I am, in a sense. I believe in fitting each one individually. This indiscriminate sale of trusses by those who do not study the subject should be stopped, as it endangers life." Mr. Dorenwend has made the treatment of rupture a life study, and his advice is well worth having by all afflicted. Write and get his opinion.
