ARCHDIOCESE OF TOKONTO. Religious Profession at St. Joseph's

The morning of Our Lady's Assumption amiled upon a goodly throng of friends who crowded the beautiful chapel of St. Joseph's convent, to witness the ceremony of religious profession; and the sunshine burstant through the gorgeous windows lighted up a scene of solemn loveliness. To the deep vibrating music of the last through the gorgeous windows lighted up a scene of the gorgeous windows with the same first gowned in white and attended by her dainty little train bearers, then followed the Sisters who were to make their first yows, the superiors and the clergy.

The ceramony of reception is short but impressive and at its close Missifically no longer existed but a Sister of St. Joseph known as Sister of the Sisters, wherein he dwelt upon the beauty of the feast of the Assumption and the appropriateness of its selection as a day of religious profession, since our Blessed Lady was the first to offer to the Most High the three yows of religion. He dwelt at length upon the perfect manner in which her whole life was conformed to those yows, and proved that the glory with which she was crowned on that first feast of the Assumption was the reward of suffering and humiliation patiently borne. The lesson was obvious—that if religious wish to share in the joys of this blessed Assumption, they must share also in her virtues and her resignation, in the trials and contradictions which are inevitable.

At the close of the address, the Rev. Father on the part of His Grace the Archbishop received the yows of Sister M. Laurenia, Sister M. Luurenia, Sister M. Laurenia, Sister M. Laurenia, Sister M. Laurenia, Sister M. Laurenia, Sister M. Laurenia

The bleesing of the statues at the Hull ceme tery was a grand ceremony and was witnessed by hundreds of people. The various societies including those of St. Joseph, St. Thomas, St. Jean Baptiste, the Catholic Order of Foresters, together with those of the young men and the married men marched in procession headed by the L'Union Musicale band. At the cemetery the statues of St. John. Mary Magdalene, the Blessed Virgin and Christ were blessed with much ceremony. An eloquent and impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Georget, on Mary Magdalene who typifies "repentent love;" St. John who exemplifies "pure love," the Blessed Virgin who manifests "sac ridicing love," and Christ Himself who is "scrowful love."

Improvements at Caledonia.

St. Patrick's Church in this village was reopened for service on Sunday last to a large audience, after about two months closing for read complete, including a new roof and all the interior sand complete, including a new roof and all the interior and exterior including brick work being painted, the interior especially being done in an elaborate and complete style of the painter's art. The ceiling had been papered in plain blue, the side wails in a tint of gray, the seating has been grained in dark oak, which gives the whole interior a beautiful effect; but when we come to the sanctuary we there see one of the finest altars in this diocese, as the improvements and decorations are of the finest. The large and small altars are beautifully painted in pure white with marble panels with green, vermillion and gold mouldings, and around the whole upper panel a wreath of shamrocks with harp in the centre, the whole being surmouned by the motio on the end wall, "Gioria in Excelsis, Deo." The other decorations to the altars include some beautiful statuary and new golden candle sticks. Too much praise cannot be given to the Rev. Father Lynch, the pastor in charge, as he has spared no time or expense to make St. Patrick's one of the finest in interior finish that we have in this village, he having made a present to the parish of all the statuary, will amount to about $500. All the work to the amount of about $500. All the work with the exception of painting the roof, is now completed and that will be done at once. The painting, graining and decorating the roof, is now completed and that will be done at once. The painting, graining and decorating were done by F. W. Young of this village.—Caledonia

THE SOGGARTH'S RETURN.

THE SOGGARTH'S RETURN.

The morning of August 22nd was a memorable one for Fallowfield. It was a charming morning, but none too much so for the grand event which took place there that day. Their venerable pastor, Rev. Father Sloan, had gone away a few months ago to Europe to visit the world-renowned shrines of, Lourdes and Parsy le Monial, to seek a blessing from the Father of all Christians in Rome, the capital of Christendom, and this 22nd day of August was the day of his return. The good people of Fallowfield turned out in full force to honor their pastor. They drove to Brittania to meet him and escort, him in triumphal procession to his own beautiful home. St. Patrick rectory, Fallowfield. It was a magnificent sight, and the good priest was not a little moved on seeing the correct of the seed of the seed of the correct of the seed of the correct of St. Marys, Bayswater, Labelle of Aylmer, McGovern of Richmond, Fineau of Lourdes, Dunn of Gloucester, Cavanach of Metcalfe, Brownrigg of March, and last but been in not least Rev. Father Vaque who had charge of Fallowfield during the pastor's absence. On arriving at the church the people gathered into the sacred edifice, and the choir chanted a Te Deum, Addresses were then read in behalf of the children, the altar society, by Master Leo Tilerney, Miss Tierney, Mr. Brophy and Mr. O Grady. Below are copies of the first three addresses. The last one is omitted because of its greater length but none the less expressive of sentiments of love and devotion to the good Father Sloan. The presents given on this occasion were very generous tokens of the people sesteem for their pastor. A gold chalice, vestments, a magnificent desk and a purse of $15.00 numbered among the very appropriate articles presented. Fallowfield people, you have done nobly on this grand occasion and you have only to live and deserving of praise here, and greater to live up to your protestations of love and esteem for your worthy soggarth, and you will ever be deserving of praise here, and greater and more lasting rewards hereafter. CHILDREN'S ADDRESS.

CHILDREN'S ADDRESS.

Rev. Dear Father.—Like all loving children we have been anxious to be the first to give our beloved Father a hearty welcome. It is with joy that we make our greetings like those of the little children of Jerusalem welcoming the Divine Saviour into the temple. With those children we say with heart and voice: "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."

Welcome to our dearly beloved Father!

Your departure caused a feeling of sadness in the hearts of all your little folk. We realized then what a large place you hold in our hearts. On thow fervent were the prayers that went up with the prayers of the congregation to the Sacred Heart of Jesus-to Whom you went to pray for us! How ardently we prayed to that Divine and Merciful Heart to grant our beloved Father a happy and prosperous journey and a safe and happy return. We felt confident that the divine friend of children could not help hearing us. Then came news by the papers and your own letters of your safe arrival on those far off shores and that your journey over land and ses had been attended by the blessing of good health. What joy this good news brought to hearts in Fallowfield, and particularly to the hearts of your little ones! One of us, a little girl, gave expression to the feeling of all when on her way home from catechism with clapping hands she exclaimed "Isn't that pretty what the paper says of our own dear Father Sloan."

When the glad news came at last that our beloved Father was on his way home we counted the days and the hours of your return trip. We wished the ship could understand our longings and hasten on to our dear Canadian shore with its precious trust. And now, dear Father, we have you again in our midst. The dress worn by a number of your little ones tell you of the happy event which took place in your absence. Yes, twenty-four of us had the happiness of receiving Jesus Christ on Thursday last for the first time. The joy of that day, the happiest day of our lives, is now blended with the happiness of welcoming home one who takes the place of Jesus among us. As a token of gratifued for your many acts of kindness done us we beg of you to accept this little effering.

Here a beautiful surplice was presented.

ALYAR SOCIETY'S ADDRESS.

Rev. and Dear Father.—It is with feelings of joy and affection that we your children of the Altar Society greet you again in our midst. Your absence has awakened our sense of appreciation. We scarcely knew how much we loved you till you were gone.

With tender solicitude for your safety our prayers were offeed daily to Mary, Star of the Ses, that your ocean voyage should be a plea-ant one. We knelt in spirit with you at the holy shrine of Lourdes, and we are assured that you have come home laden with blessings for yourself and us.

Anticipating your wishes and under the able guidance of Rev. Father Vaque to whose care you confided us, you find us an organized society, ready to relieve you of some of the care attending the altar and sanctuary.

Those gifts with which we present you, are not as beautiful as we would wish, but we have done our utmost to secure articles most urgently needed to beautify our altar and make it more worthy of our Lord's presence. We beg you, Rev. Father, to accept them as tokens of our love and gratitude, and a souvenir of your pilgrimage.

This beautiful chalice, we are proud to say, is the personal gift of Mr. Patrick Kennedy, who offers it, Rev. Father, as a proof of his appreciation of your kindness to his family.

Allow us to wish. Rev. Father, that this happy reunion may be unbroken for many lopg years in which priest and people shall stand united laboring in love and unity to earn eternal happiness in heaven, where there shall be neither parting, sorrows nor regrets. THE YOUNG MEN'S ADDRESS

THE YOUNG MENS ADDRESS.

Rev. and dear Father.—The young men of Pailowfield present you their most cordial greetings on this ansylcious day which welcomes you back to Failowfield. You have returned from a long and trying voyage which, to say the least, was a rather perilous one but the dear God in His mercy has not failed to continue to bestow His blessings on you and your parish by having you return to us once more. We feel grateful that we have been afforded this opportunity of expressing our love to so venerable a paster, who has labored as unceasingly in the past for our spiritual of Arc. We do hope that the future may be a source of pleasure for you in your labors in our behalf, and that God will grant you a long and peaceful life among us.

OBITUARY. Miss Catherine Byrne Ingersoll.

We regret very much to announce the death of Miss Catherine Byrne, which took place on August 11, at Datroll, after an illness of about four weeks' duration. She bore her trying and painful illness, rheumalism, with heroic and true Christian resignation, and when death came to her release she was fully prepared to sunder all earthly ties in the blessed hope that having always endeavored to accomplish our Heavenly Fatner's will while on probation here below, she would receive the promised reward "exceeding great."

The deceased was born at Bowmanville, Ontario, and was the daughter of the late Peter Byrne, of Ingersoll, Out. The funeral took place on Monday, August 13, from 91 Howard street, Detroit, to the church of St. Aloyeius, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fatner Vandyke, after which the remains were placed in a vault at Mc. Olivet cemetery until Friday, when they were brought to Ingersoll, Ontario, for interment, Hev. Father Connolly, P. P., of Ingersoll, performed the last solemn service at the grave.

RYAN—Accidently drowned while bathing at Whitmore Lake, on Friday, August 17th.

Miss Sadie, daughter of T. D. Ryan, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and grand-daughter of the late Joseph Kidd of Dublin, Ont.

The Michigan Catholic's Ann Arbor correspondent thus refers to the sad event:

"The sad news of the drowning of Miss Sadie Ryan, daughter of our esteemed townsman, Mr. T. D. Ryan, reached here Tuesday evening. The young lady had been spending the week at the Stimpson Cottage, Whitmore Lake, and in company with another young lady went bathing Friday evening. Resting long a supposed shallow point was an old overturned scow. The young ladies climbed upon this. One and extended out into deep water. One of the girls commenced to slip upon its slimy bottom and immediately there was a wild clutching of each by the other. The result was that both fell into water beyond the depth, and as neither could swim both sank. Miss Ryan was drowned and her friend was rescued with difficulty. The latter was only resuscitated after the most patient work of two physicians. The death of Miss Ryan has cast a gloom over the city as she was a most extended to the bereaved family in their sorrow."

A local paper thus refers to the deceased:

'Though in short measures, life may perfect be.'

'The widespread sorrow which is felt in the community by the untimely death of Miss Sadie Ryan, is all but robbed of its bitterness by the sweet and lasting memory of her rich young life. Her naturally gentle and lovable disposition, her rare mental acquirements, her greatness of soul to which all things trivial were alien and of which her life was a noble expression, won her the admiration of even those not bound to her by the tender ties of friendship. The life in all its promise of perfection has gone from us, but its memory and sweet influence will abide.

How kind the Blessed Virgin was at the marriage feast of Cana! She was anxious to help her hosts, even in a matter of slight moment. Surely, as Queen of Heaven, she will not refuse to help, in graver matters, those who turn to her with confidence. She is at once the handmaid and the parent of God, at once virgin and mother.

The Lord of nature is the Lord also of hearts and wills. Surely and faithfully He rules them, filling His Church with the Spirit of holiness, making her His dwelling place, and through her filling every heart with His Holy Spirit, that each one of us may be fitted to be His habitstion through all eternity.
