It is with much pride and pleasure that Manager Ericson, of the Grand, is able to announce to the theatre patrons of Chatham, the engagement in this city, of what is beyond question of doubt, the most popular success known to the Universal Comedy Stage in recent years. "Little Johnny Jones" will be presented at the Grand Opera House in this city on Saturday night, Feb. 24, by one of the largest and most expensive organizations on tour this season. The play and music is by Geo. M. Cohen, who has recently jumped into great prominence as an author and composer, through the medium of this phenomenal success "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway" now running at the Amsterdam Theatre, New York, and "Geo. Washington, Jr." a huge success now packing the Herald Square Theatre in the same city. "Little Johnny Jones" will be presented in Chatham by the largest most fashionable theatre, the Illinois. Its fair of Canada will only embrace a few of the most important cities, the company going direct from here to the Princess in Toronto and thence London, Hamilton, Kingston, and Ottawa, which will conclude its Canadian tour. It was only by extra efforts that this big attraction has been secured for a date in this city and it is the sincere desire on the part of the Grand Opera House management to make the engagement a notable one in the history of local theatricals.

FLETCHER-STRUTHERS.

A very interesting event occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Struthers, Valetta, on Wednesday, the 7th inst., when their daughter, Maude became the bride of Mr. Robert Fletcher, also of Valetta.

Precisely at four o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Bella Holmes, the bride party entered the parlor and took their positions under a wedding bell suspended from a horse-shoe, decorated with evergreen and roses.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. McQuarrie. Miss Olive Fletcher rendered a beautiful solo, "Precious" during the singing of the register.

The bride looked charming in an elaborate gown of cream cologne with chiffon ruffling and lace trimming, worn over cream silk, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ella Stewart, a cousin of the bride, wore a dainty frock of white Swiss organdie over red silk, and carried a bouquet of red carnations. The maid of honor, Bella, sister of the bride, was prettily attired in a dress of Brussels net over Alice blue, and carried pink carnations. Little Eva Williams, niece of the bridegroom, daintily dressed in white, made a charming ring-bearer, the ring being concealed in a tiny basket of carnations and maiden-hair fern. The groom was ably attended by his brother John.

The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome crescent of pearls, to the bridesmaid a beautiful brooch, to the maid of honor a pair of deers of pearls, and to the flower-girl a gold locket and chain.

When the nuptial knot was tied and the happy couple had received the hearty congratulations of the guests, they led the way to the spacious dining room, where a table artistically decorated with carnations and amaranth, crowned with a load of festive viands.

Over a hundred guests were present, among them being friends from Detroit, Windsor, Chatham and Hamilton.

The bridal party went on their

What has happened to the thoroughbred Canadian winters of long ago?

Alice and Nick launched their little canoe on the sea of matrimony to-day. No announcement has been made as to who will be in command.

Now that Miss Alice Roosevelt is safely tied up to Nick Longworth, a great many American newspaper readers will be fervently thankful that she can't do it over again—not for awhile at least.

Wonderful what a pedigree city dogs attain after an unsuccessful attempt to digest poison.

The Lieutenant-Governor had a great honor conferred on him to-day. The adoption of his address was moved and seconded by two newspaper men—Hugh Clark and P. H. Bowyer—Hamilton Spectator.

Wind sir! wind sir!

The other day when the Lieutenant-Governor was speaking in the speech from the Throne, most likely Hon. G. W. Ross was thinking the thoughts of the Throne.

When those rumors of war spread from China, our late lamented friends, the Chee Foo and the Lia Yang liars, yawned, broke the cobwebs of oblivion, and gave evidence of coming out in full bloom once more.

handed into the office to-day by a long haired individual who gave his name as H. Shortfellow. It is entitled "The Bridge." For lack of space we can only print the first stanza, which is typical of the whole production:

I stood on the bridge at midnight And mused, (with inward groans)— On City Councils and by-laws, And railway companies—and loans.

I suffered for four years from stomach trouble, I consulted three doctors and they told me that I had Dyspepsia and no remedy would help me." So says Elzear Cote, of St. Hedwig, de Clifton, Que. But Mr. Cote found a remedy that those doctors did not know. It was Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and it cured him. He says:

"Then I quit the doctors and started to take Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After the first box I had no more trouble. It is now two years since I took them and I am still well. I do all my own work. I am never who have stomach troubles to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves. This gives the overworked stomach a chance to rest and it naturally comes back to its normal healthy condition.

Men of character are the conscience of the society to which they belong.

WHEN ALL HOPE WAS ABANDONED

Elzear Cote Found in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a Speedy and Permanent Cure For His Stomach Troubles.
