

WEEKLY JOURNAL A

W C. ANSLOW

Music Rack.

chasing or not.

B, FAIREY,

Newcastle, Oct. 19, 1891

hath m,

May 4, 1885.

L. J. TWEEDIE,

ATTORNEY & BARRASTE

TA LAW.

NOTARY PUFLIC,

CONVEYANCER &c.

OFFICE-Old Bank Mcatreal

J D. PHINNEY.

Barrister & At orney at Law

NOTARY PUBLIC, &c.

RICHIBUCTO. N. B.

OFFICE-COURT HOUSE SQUARE.

0. J. MacCULLY, M. A- M. D.,

Our Country with its United Interests.

VOL. XXV.-No. 3

JUST RECEIVED.

A Special Assortment Of New Furniture.

Oak Bed Room Sets, Oak and Walnut Tables, Oak and Walnut

Centre Tables, very handsome, Oak Secretaries, Walnut Secretaries, Oak Cabinets, Walnut Cabinets, Music Racks, Card Tables.

These goods are the Handsomest ever shown in NEWCASTLE, the Bedroom Sets, Secretaries and Cabinets

Are the very best Goods made.

What could be more useful for a Present than a nice Cabinet o

I Shall be pleased to show these goods to any one whether pur-

NEWCASTLE.

CANADA

premises

Chatham Jan. 1.

PUBLIC WHARF.

Chatham, New Brunswlek.

Wm. JOHNSTON, Proprietor,

Il find it a desirable temporary residen tuated within two minutes walk of Steambor inding and Telegraph and Post Offices. The proprietor returns thanks to the Publ for the encouragement given him in the past and will endeavor by courtesy and attention to rerit the same in the focure.

GOOD SAMPLE OOMS

or Commendal Privellers, and Stabling on t

S. R. Foster & Son

HOUSE

ass Hotel and travell

Newcastle, Wednesday, November 4, 1891.

AN UNEXPECTD THANKSGIV-

ING.

about quietly, occasionally speaking a and this was how it happened.

bitter enemies.

question before he answered. He was make everything acceptable.'

'I want to see Aunt Helen's little Jerry.

Stoughton. 'Now it's your turn, Harry, to taste.

lisped three year old Tottie.

her parents.

would drive one.'

TEAN are

and talking as fast as their tongues could Stoughton.

while their father and mother moved and Milly tegether.

Bess.

NOTICE. Selected Biterature.

DRUGS.

CHEMICALS

PATENT MEDICINES,

TRUSSES, ETC,

DELICATE

WATER

TILL HOLDS THE FIRST PLAC

N POPULAR FAVOR. BEWARE O

IMITATIONS.

FRAGRANT

LANMAN'S

0.000

RICH

RARE

PUNGENT

MURRAY &

lewcastle, July 20, 1891.

×.

PURE

SWEET

LASTING

"Well now,-ve've heard all the aves wait until they came and let them pre- spoil your day,' said good farmer Stough- basket from Mrs. Dver, went out to the and we'll hear the noes. What do you pare the dinner. Two beautiful chicken on, cheerfully. We have got extr sleigh. Alice understood, and whisner pies Mrs. Stoughton had made and reasons for thank given now that no one ing to her mother begged her to bring av. mother?' there had to be packed with the great- was hurt.'

Mrs. Stoughton was sill looking perplexed. 'There are so many of us, and, Thanksgiving morning dawned clear Bessie, still tearful and sobbing. In a large, cheerful farm house situat-is work and hasn't good help.'

bustle, and chetting and confusion. Six Just made up your Thanksgiving and in spite of their impatience to be off, back from the road and half hidden from out and came in again and again, and the rosy, happy children were flying about carry it along with you,' said Mr. had to take time to do justice to the light it by a group of beautiful trees, a woman buckwheats with maple syrup, the egg was standing in the doorway making kitchen table top, were filled and piled run, evidently full of joyful excitement 'On, para, how lovely,' cried Alice muffins, beefsteak and omelette.

warning word when the young people because two housterup in the young people a loay drive for her 'said Mr. Stoughton candy and cake went in the pies, pudding, the park was ingliced that the voice of the boy was ingliced that the voice of the park was ingliced that the voice of the par became too bosterous in their glee. For a long drive for her,' said Mr. Stoughton. candy and cake went in the box seat of heard, saying :--EWGASTLE KEDICAL HALL, the first time in their lives the family 'We can buudle her all but her the double sleigh as if they had been were going away to spend Thanksgiving, little bright eyes. I'll take care of mensured for it; then the pung was brought out and turkeys, chickens, Mr. Stoughton, a prosperous farmer, 'I want to go, papa, and Marietta; thing else large-hearted farmer Stough- in there a little while,' said Mr. Stough- make ready apples, squashes, pumpkins and every-had an only brother who, with his wife I'm sure she will enjoy it,' said Bessie. ton coull lay his hands on, the last ton to his wife, 'while Harry and this observed that Bessie and Tottie were and three young children, the youngest 'Isn't it a good way for the horses to thing being a fine piece of pork and young man and I get things to rights whispering together in a a buby of six weeks, had just come from go with so many of us?' said Mrs. half of a sheep, went in, nntil every bit again.' the South to take advantage of an excel- Stoughton, continuing to object. of room was taken excepting a warm Mis. Stoughton very gladly obeyed, lent business opening in the town of 'Oh the horses!' laughel Mr. Stough-her town of the horses is the horse of the horses is the horse of the horses is the horses is the horse of the horse of the horse of the horses is the horse of the Longwood, fifteen miles from the farm. ton. I'll risk the norses. We'll put back of the seat, where Bessie and Tottie tage, qu'te filling the room which they spokesman: A week ago he had sent a letter to the Jock and Jerry in one team, and White were stewed away, nothing visible but firm containing an urgent invitation to Fan in another, and they can go their eyes.

nouse and get warm.'

and coussus in our o'd home; then she about the horses; they're equal to double isn't well, and had no end of trouble the distance,' said Mr. Stoughton, with 'Oh, father, you know I have often rather pale and thin, excepting the with the cock, and that remind's me to very pardonable pride, as he had the driven them, and they go just as well little one, who was round and rosy, to say that we shall not be able to give reputation of driving the finest horses as they do with you,' said Harry.

you such a dinner as your gool wife anywhere about that part of the country. would get up. Our week's visit with 'Then,' said Milly, dancing about the 'Then,' said Milly, dancing about the 'Labout the transfer of the country.'

mitters; but you are all so kind you won't mind bearing with our shiftless way for one day, and you can have your Thanksgiving afterward. Do come, we with such a chorus that she declared as Thanksgiving alterward. Do come, we want you awfully. The children, I am sure, will have a jolly time together. Suppose i it must be: then all the child. You have a precious load. I imagine with their usual good comradeship, at suppose l it must be; then all the child-in one of her fruit cakes ; then quick and running to the door charged Frank to be sure and get half of her doughnuts

EDITOR AND, PROPRIETOR

WHOLE NO. 1252.

But the Dver children ! If you could &mpty shelves of the pantry, and the signs for them to enter. It was not until up. Why, it seemed to them as if they There was a great time getting every- the pung was righted that the voice of never in all their lives saw so many good pork and mutton were left whole, since it

'Mother wants you all to go in our was too much work to cut them. When the basket had made its last 'You had better take all the children journey and the children were told to moment they came forward hand inhand and went up to Dolly, Bessie holddangling Tony by one arm. Bessie was firm containing an urgent invitation to Fan in another, and they can go the family to spend Thanksgiving at his it easy in two hours without turning a new home. 'Poor Helen is a little hair. Besides, it looks like snow and it homesick, I fear,' he wrote; 'you know we have sleighing they can do it in less homesick, I fear,' he wrote; 'you know we have sleighing they can do it in less homesick, I fear,' he wrote; 'you know that you needen't worry hered hard to drive Jock and Jerry. The children looked about currously and so it in less have only and the baby and we won't need them when the bar to drive begins and so it in less have only and the baby and we won't need them. We'll call for them when the bar to drive begins and ber to drive back and Jerry. need them. We'll call for them when ing just Bessie's age. They were we come back to-night.'

Board of Work

The older ones all laughed heartily at this, and it was quite a fortunate of and the moher looked very careby the kindness shown her she wa would get up. Our week's vieit with 'Then,' said Milly, dancing about the you was enough to show us how far be-hind you Northerners we are in such isn't it father?' The cottage was old and shabby, and having hard work to keep from crying scantily furnished, but everything was scantily furnished, but everything was outright. This funn offer changed her tears to laughter and she said:-

ren began to plan what they should car- your arms will be tired and you'll be once began to make acquaintance. bughton declared at once she could ry, and to go into all the details which begging me to change before many began by asking the little girl who was not think of such a thing. The idea of make anticipation so pleasant. a family of eight, two of them almost

All the week following they were 'We'll see about that,' said the delight-All the week following they were babies, going fif een miles in cold weather to speud Thauksgiving! She didn't see how they could possibly do it. Then all the children set up a dismal Then all the children set up a dismal lived with them ten years, declared she decision.

greaning and almost with one accord had never knew the children so excited Mr. Stoughton and his wife took the turned to their father, who was sitting by and so 'under foot.' The kitchen fairly front teat of the double sleigh and the fire with his usual serene face. swarmed with them. Each child want- Milly and Frank the back seat; Hiram, In all their lives father had never ed to have a hand in making something the hired man, held Jock and Jerry Dolly.

failed them. No matter what the puzzle to carry to Aunt Helen. The amount of until the sleigh passed out of the yard, was, father could make it out. No provisions they planned to take with and then he let go their heads, and for a of great interest in her face faded out. matter how great the domestic taugle, them would almost have fed an army. few minutes Harry had all he wanted father's hand could uuravel it. No Mrs. Strughton privately asked her hus- to do to hold them, but pretfy soon they mutter how dark the cloud that shut band if his brother and wife would ob-quieted down and the party glided along Thanksgiving Day. Don't you always out the sky, fathet's quick and penetrat- ject to such lavish provision as they over the snow merrily.

ing eye could see a way through it. seemed to be preparing, even with a Eight miles of the drive gone, and Ever the neighbors for miles around great modification of the childrens ideas, seven more to go. Harry's hands ached her mother's attention, who said to her Mis. Dyer, for Mr. Stoughton never did came to him in their difficulties, and but Mr. Stoughton answered his wife: with the cold, and his arms ached with in a low voice:his wise and kindly alvice had saved 'You needen't be afraid; they will be the steady strain upon them. The road 'You are talking too much, dear; only too glad to get stocked up with where they now were was not broken Jou't say any more.'

rought and drifted. Going over one of she said to Mrs. Stoughton :--- o spend Thanksgiving, and it would be so it could be easily taken out to the pung horses' heads. They swerved, made a a fine scholar, but he must do what he which would be drawn by Jock and sudden turn, and in a moment the pung can. He is very good and doe n't Thanksgivings that followed, the Dyer was on its side, and all its contents, complain.'

baby, it's got blue eyes just like our. The question of what to take and Harry, Alice, Bessie, Tottie, boxes and 'I am very sorry for you,' said Mrs. thankfulness as the anniversary of one of G2 baby, it's got blue eyes just like our. The question of what to take and the provided bundles, were half buried in a snow Stoughton, kindly. 'It must be a great the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in their lives, a day that the best days in the lives a day the best days a day that the best days a day the best days days days days a day the best days a day the best days a change.' A like a little doll, Uncle Henry wrote,' sion among the children. Mince, apple, drift. said Frank, who always echoed Millie's equash and cranberry pies stood tempt- Mr. Stoughton had fortunately succeedwishes, and who was very fond of Labies ingly in a row, and three were taken of 'Me want to see 'ittle baby, too,' each kind. It was a well-known fact pung and the children might have been 'We shall like it in summer, I date say,' said the women with an attempt at 'We shall like it in summer, I date perity. cheerfulness, ' but we shall feel strange that no one made such delicious plum dragged a long distance, but there they That's right,' said Mr. Stoughton but voldings as Mrs. Stoughton's puddings all lay together, Bessie and Tottie, each that would keep (if anybody gave them with a doll tightly clasped in her arms, very handy and he is going to try to fix with his pleasant smile, 'let's hear from a chance) for weeks, so two of them were screaming loudly without attempting to up the cottage so it will be warmer. all. What do you say, Mistress Alice?, a chance) for weeks, so two of them were screaming loudly without attempting to The pine trees keep out some of the cold curefully packed. Alice had learned to get up, surroualed by squashes and Alice was twelve; a thoughful, gener- mike very nice fruit cake of raised apples which had broken loose and were wind. us-hearted girl, a great comfort to both dough a pet receipt handed down from making bright spots of color on the snow, Just then Mr Stoughton came in t one generation to another in Mrs. while Harry and Alice were puffing and the door and nodded to his wife. She thoughtful attention. There is no such 'I should think it would be a good Stoughton's family, and Milly prided groaning, and struggling to extricate stepped outside and closed the door. deal of trouble for Aunt Helen, to have herself on doughnuts and chocolate carasuch a lot of company when she isn't mels. The boys made nut candy and bundles.

dy or mind caused by well,' she said, gravely, but I would like cut it in square sticks, and all these Mr. Stoughton left the slay in care of h spitality they had received, and le on Saturday night and Sunday, the rk, or the errors and s of youth. This to go if you and mother think best. things must be made and must be car- Erank, who proudly held the reins, asked his wife what he should do. 'Spoken like a sensible girl,' said Mr. ried for their uncle and aunt and cousins and hastened to the scene. Her husband 'Do?' Mrs. Stoughton said, 'I never was still trying to quite the horses which saw a better poportunity for doing. I sales by hotel keepers of larger quan then we will hear from little Bess, and 'I should think you would want he did not dare to leave, when he heard am so thankful now we brought such a load after that mother shall have the floor.' them to know what good things your a voice at his elbow, saying : Harry was a fine looking boy of fiftcen, children can make,' said Millie, with an 'I can hold them fou you. I'm very before his gite. We have got enough with large, soft, brown eyes like his exceedingly grieved air, when her strong, and used to horses.'

'I think it would be right up and down jolly; but how would you get us all there? We should have to take two all there? We should have to take two to her sister-in-law when she got there. teams, the carrage and buggy, and I bis cwa produce. It seemed only a would drive one? his cwa produce. It seemed only a first thing was to see if the children were Dyer's eyes filled with tears as she listen-'Now its Bessie's turn,' cried Milly, question of now much the pung could hurt. It was very evident from their ed. She clasped Mrs. Stoughton by the holl. He put up a large box containing loud crying that they were not seriously hand and said in a broken voice:-'Do you want to go to Aunt Helen', most beautiful apples, rosy checked injured. Mrs. Soughton had picked 'Surley some good angel sent you. I Bess, and see your Cousin Olive just baldwins, golden russets, large, fur Bessie and Tottie out of the saw bank never felt so discourged in my life as I much what they please. our age, and the dear little new baby? greenings and sweet apples. Then he and found that the most serious injury did this merning. Our cupboards is In Ontario, an increasing laxity 'Oh, yes, I want to go ever so much,' stuffed in a dozen handsome squashes was to Bessie's nose, which had been almost empty.' Since we came here we aswered six-year-old Bessie, who was and two or three pumpkins, and a bag of well bumped against a big squash and have scarcely hal the necessaries of life. have been tickled by the placing of ne atting on a thick rug in the corner by the nuts, and crowned the whole by a grand was bleeding quite freely. fire, building a block house for Tottie, show of six fine turkeys and as muny with a large doll bolt upright by her chickens. Among the turkeys was one side. 'Pd just like to go and carry the biltern and with a large doll bolt upright by her chickens. Among the turkeys was one side. 'Pd just like to go and carry the biltern and with a large doll bolt upright by her chickens. Among the turkeys was one side. 'Pd just like to go and carry the biltern and with a large doll bolt upright by her chickens. Among the turkeys was one side. 'Pd just like to go and carry the biltern and with a large doll bolt upright by her chickens. Among the turkeys was one side. 'Pd just like to go and carry the biltern and with a large doll bolt upright by her chickens. Among the turkeys was one all the party; he went up to his father 'Strangers in a strange place, no neighbors. Testrictions on the statute books, the biltern indeed, but I see now we with a large doll bolt upright by her chiekens. Among the turkeys was one side. 'I'd just like to go and carry the children eyed with special interest. Marietta, for I think she needs a change, and pride, and Harry declared it to be a 'Oh, father, if I had not insisted on Another warm has the turkey of the children eyed with special interest.

and Tony wants to go too,' she said, 'bouncer.' It was a 'fifteen pounder,' 'Oh, father, if I had not insisted on dragging a black doll by one very limp arm from under Tottie, who was sitting on it Aunt Helen had been specially notified my fault.'

Everybody laughed, and then Mr. that they would bring their cwn poul- . Well, my boy, juit take it as a lesson try, pudding and pies, and she must that father knows lest, and do not let i Stoughton said :-

'There is no danger at all, Mrs. near her size to tell her age and name, Dyer. 'Tony is on'y a rag doll, and have turkey Thanksgiving day?'

Bessie spoke so loudly she attracted

Marietta has an indestructible heal, so and when she found their ages were the

and all they were going to dc, ending with the size of the big turkey they with the size of the big turkey they so, that there was no chance for leave and all they were going to dc, ending Then Mr. Stoughton come forward "How large is your turkey ? she asked taking, and no one but his wife suspected that he did it on purpose, seeing how full Mrs. Dyer's heart was.

Dolly hung her head and the look The sleigh and the pung started off. much lightened in weight, and this time Mr. Stoughton drove Jock and Jerry. H 'We haven't got any,' she said, slowly. Haven't got a turkey? Why it's stopped just a moment in the village at a store where groceries and provisions were kept, and ordered a bushel of March anything by halves. In less than an hour they reached Aunt only too glad to get stocked up with itter enemies. One happy method he had, he always istened carefully, and considered a the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered a the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered a the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will istened carefully, and considered the poor cook and Helen's illness will in places suboth and slippery, then again istened the poor cook and Helen's illness will in places suboth and slippery of the poor cook and the poor cook quick to decide, without being hasty in his decisions. The children loved their mother; but they almost worshipped their father. Milly was the first to appeal to him. Milly was the fir Milly was the first to appeal to him. their delight the obliging snow had Jerry in its fall. Greatly startled, the My cousin lives in the little village half interview with Mrs. Dyer and cheered She was a brigh rosy-cheeked gir of really come, and it would be good horses both sprang forward, almost jerk- a mile from here. She owns this cottage her by a promise to use his influence to eight, very active, and always on hand enough sleighing to go on runners. ing Harry from his seat. He held on and gives me the rent, and she found a put Chester, to whom he had taken a for any new frolic or excitement. She They were to start very early in the ran to his knee and said: They were to start very early in the norning and Mr. Stoughton told his norning and Mr. Stoughton told his · Oh, father, please let us go, won't wife to have everything they were to seeing the accident, turned his sleigh to milk man. It isn't what I would like good and faithful boys are none too easy ou? Just think, we never went away carry in readiness in the kitchen where escape the collision and sprang out at the for him; he was going to school and was to find, are always wanted.

family celebrated the day with a deeper brought them life-long friends and pro

Temperance.

SALE OF LIQUOR IN CANADA.

One talf of the liquor sold in Canada is probably sold in violation of the law. It is an astonishing statement, but it will bear examination, and daman and the systematic, rebel against law as lique wondering how they could best repay the bows only to force. There are the sale every night in the week during prohib minors, the sa's to Indians, and t ties, and by shop keepers of small and so thankful, too, that we broke down quantities, than the law allows, to s for three families, and we will stock up to three families, and we will stock up of the provisions of the license law nothing at all of the sales by perso allay public indignation. As a rule Government busies itself in its share of the profit of the trade, leaving the dealers to de

00 noticeable, and while temperance peop tion carries many of our friends out the importance of law enforcement. Another warm hand clasp, with tears should enter upon a great camp on both sides. The children looked on low enforcement, not against the ton called Frank and, taking a large ent and work

