dows were removed, the work of dis-membering being too lengthy and too costly for all to be taken to a place of safety. Each bit of glass had to be carefully taken out, numbered and stored away—a delicate and tedious task, but comparatively easy beside that of replacement.

The most historically interesting window that has been thus preserved is the east window from St. Margaret's, famous for the beauty of its glass and the extraordinary story connected with it.

It was originally intended for the chapel of Henry VII, in Westminster Abbey, being the gift of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain, to that King on the occasion of the betrothal of his eldest son, Arthur, to their daughter, Katherine of Arragon. Made in Flanders, it was unfinished in 1509, when Henry VII died, and it never found its way to the abbey on account of a remarkable chain of events.

Prince Arthur had died before his father after a brief married life of four months and nineteen days, and the crown therefore passed to Henry VIII, who soon after succeeding to the throne married his brother's widow. This alone made the window an inappropriate reminder of the fact, which for the moment Henry desired to forget, for in the left and right bottom lights were the figures of Arthur and Katherine.

Still less appropriate did it become when Henry began to tire of Kath-

BELGIANS ARE ORGANIZED FOR CANADIAN TRADE

Official Information Bureau Tells of Efforts Already Made for Business.

If peculiar circumstances have somewhat delayed resumption of business in Belgium that country's merchants and manufacturers have not remained idle, states a report issued by the Belgian Bureau of Information, Montréal. Some of them have just formed a new commercial enterprise, the Belgian Import and Export Company, Limited (Belgimex), an association to aid retail industries, with a capital of 8,000,000 francs, all paid up by various personalities of industrial and commercial renown. As its name implies, this company will have a sale and purchase service in foreign countries; thirteen branch offices have already been planned at other seats in various places determined. The many fields of its activities have been distributed under divisions, themselves subdivided as follows: First division, Section No. 1, railway material; section No. 2, electrical material; section No. 3, metallic construction and varia; Second division; Section No. 1, iron and steel; section No. 2, galvanized materials, copper, brass, lead, tin; section No. 3, nails and screws, rolling mills products. Third division; Section No. 1, mirror, window and special glasses; section No.
2, all weighable materials for building purposes. Fourth division: Section No. 1, chemical and industrial products; section No. 2, food; section No. 3, fabrics; section No. 4, varia.

The organization of the company was begun during the war, its founders providing that when business would be resumed the greatest activity will prevail and thinking that on account of the deplorable state in which Germans would leave industry in Belgium, it would be necessary to make a strenuous effort so as to insure a quick recovery.

To avoid middlemen, always expensive, sometimes of a dubious character, the company proposes to make business in what is called the direct system—that is, delivering goods to its agents and correspondents.

The Belgimex company thinks that if the world's attention has been centred around Belgium, thus preparing for her a good advertising campaign, it will be above all necessary that Belgian goods quality and prices be maintained if Belgian world trade be what it was before the war. From the beginning the prime matter of imports will hold attention, provided that they are above all required for the resumption of manufacture.

It is hoped that the establishment of similar companies will contribute to the restoration of Belgium's foreign trade; and as to what more particularly concerns Canada, if a steamer line, already advertised, could connect Montréal regularly with Antwerp, it is not doubted that Belgo-Canadian trade figures will make such progress that they will soon be back to the high figures reached in the period of its greatest prosperity.

Farmers in Niagara peninsula are crying for help and cannot obtain it although offering high wages.

A soldier who fought in the war with conspicuous valor obtained after his return home a situation in the service of a lady in the south of Ireland. One day his mistress was talking to him about his military career, and asked him:
"In all your experience of the war what struck you as the most wonderful of all?"
"Well, ma'm," he said, "what struck me most of all was all the bullets that missed me."

An inspector of Irish schools was recently examining a class in geography. He had given a question in longitude and received a correct answer.
"And now, what is latitude; can any boy tell me?"
After brief silence, a bright young step with merry twinkle in his eye said:
"Please, sir, we have no latitude in Ireland."
