Inter-Brigade Shooting Match.

The annual shooting match between the four city brigades took place yesterday afternoon at the Rifle Range, and crowds of people climbed the South Side Hills to witness the contest. The conditions for shooting were fair but the scores were not high owing to a great measure, it is thought, to the fact that the "bull's eye" had been reduced from 6 to 5 inches in diameter. The Guards won out in fine style with 11 points in the lead; Highlanders, 2nd; Cadets, 2nd, and C. L. B. last. The first round was the most keenly contested. Langmead (Highlanders) and Feet (Guards) scored 28 each, and Hackett (C.L.B.), 29 and Kennedy (C.C.C.), 27. Lieut. E. Ayre, of the Guards, made 24 out of a possible 35, the best score of the day. The highest score for the Guards were: E. Ayre, 31; Loveys, 29; Hillier and Peat, 28 each; Barrett, 30. For the Highlanders—Auchincloss, 31; Capt. Morris, 29; and Luscombe and Langmead, 28 each. C. C. C.—Howe and Darcy, 29 each; Murphy and Kennedy, 27 each; and Kane, 26. C. L. B.—Rice and Hackett, 25 each, Ellis and Bendell, 28 each, and Carter 27.

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram.
NEW YORK, July 10. A cable to the New York Times from London says that notwithstanding the explosion in Cadzow colliery, Yorkshire, which cost probably 80 lives, King George carried out his plan to descend into a coal mine at Elbehar, the conditions under which the miners work. After penetrating underground a considerable distance, walking through the passages almost bent double, the Royal party reached an open space where two men were squatting, vigorously swinging their picks. From one of them, His Majesty borrowed a pick, felt its weight, balanced it for a moment, and then struck blows which brought down a rush of coal.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, July 10. Commenting on the poor showing of the British at the sports at Stockholm, the Standard says that if Britain is to do herself justice at the next Olympic Games, she must look to the States for training points. A new Olympic record was created when McDonald, of New York, put the shot over 50 feet 4 inches.

Special to Evening Telegram.
HALIFAX, July 10. The Maritime express, bound to Halifax, ran off the track at Grand Lake, 20 miles from here. The driver, James Clarke, a fireman, Peter McGill, of Halifax, and a tramp were killed. A few of the passengers were injured.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, July 10. The Daily Telegraph announces a report that Prince Arthur of Connaught is betrothed to a niece of the Czar of Russia.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The marriage of Mr. D. Owens, of Annapolis Royal, to Miss Sarah Gertrude Gother, took place at St. Paul's Church yesterday afternoon. Rev. Canon Noel officiating. The church was filled with well-wishers of the happy pair. Mr. and Mrs. Owens left by the 4.30 train for their future home, taking with them the best wishes of their friends.

Mrs. Arthur Gordon (nee Miss Fanny Webber) is here from Boston on a visit to the old home and friends.

A fine heifer was killed near Green Hill on Saturday last by dogs, and a large sheep destroyed by those brutes in the West End yesterday. When will these pests be exterminated?

A litter of young pigs arrived at the arm of Mr. John Walker a few days ago, and in his peculiar way Mr. Walker told some of his friends that two of the pigs had two tails. Several curious people went in on Sunday to see the curiosity. It was then that Mr. Walker explained that two pigs with one tail each is in other words two pigs with two tails. You're a joker, John.

Mrs. James Dove, of the Hill, died this morning after a short illness. Mrs. Dove was formerly a Miss Luthier of Carbonara.

Mr. H. H. Archibald at the Race Course Farm has a splendid field of turnips that is admired by all who see it. Turnips, carrots, parsnips and in fact nearly all plants have suffered with grubs this season, but Mr. Archibald's farm is free from the pests. The dry weather is making everything backward, but on the whole the crops are looking well.

Captain have been scarce this week and many people are afraid they are gone off. Several of our farmers are in need of many barrels each, perhaps amounting in all to several hundred barrels.

Alexander Hamilton.

BY H. L. RANN.

One hundred and eight years ago to-day Alexander Hamilton, one of the greatest minds this country has ever produced, fell in duel at the hands of Aaron Burr. Burr, who was running for governor of New York, wanted Hamilton to utter a few sentences of his candidacy on the editorial page of the Federalist, a ## strong stand-pat publication, which stood for a high protective tariff and a central bank. Hamilton responded by informing his readers, in double-loaded long primer, that if Burr read Hamilton's remarks in the Federalist, he became very indignant and promptly stopped his paper, thus starting a melancholy train of delinquent subscribers and making the newspaper profession more hazardous than crushing dynamite with a tack hammer. He challenged Hamilton did not want to kill anybody and refrained from shooting at Burr except his creditors, but the death of Hamilton made a hole in American statesmanship which has never been plugged up since. Hamilton never became very enthusiastic over the masses. He was the inventor of the pleasing axiom that this is a government of the people by a representative part of the people, which T.

Roosevelt has been puncturing with so much enthusiasm of late. He also endeavored to reform the currency by locating all of it that was movable in one spot, where Wall Street could check against it without being interrupted by the country bankers. Nobody liked to discuss the money question with Hamilton, as he usually left them in a condition where they couldn't tell a silver certificate from a laundry slip. Despite his high-brow proclivities, Hamilton was a splendid type of early American character and integrity. He fought with Washington, lived cleanly and in the open, and what money stuck to his fingers was his own. His services to the young republic were never better appreciated than now.

Mr. Mark Pike, of Steer's grocery, who was very ill for over a week, has recovered and resumed his duties.
