WASH FABRICS.

Bought from an over-stocked manufacturer who had such a tremendous surplus, that our ridiculous low price, which was offered in a spirit of jest, was hurriedly taken up, and as a result we have on our bargain counters over

3000 yards

of High Grade Wash Fabrics, representing every new weave and color that fashion has favoured for the coming season. Included are Poultry Association.

The members of the Newfoundland Poultry Association held their monthly meeting last evening in their rooms (Beck's Cove). The President, Mr. Gushue, was in the chair and a large and enthusiastic meeting afforded visible proof that the Association is a live one and has come to stay. One of the attractions promised for the meeting was a discourse by Mr. Walter Read, who, a short while back paid a visit to the New York Poultry Show and afterwards spent a considerable time on one of the best known poultry plants in the United States. Mr. Firchell is the well known owner of this plant and he has 120 acres devoted almost entirely to the breeding of White Plymouth Rocks. After some interesting remarks on the exhibits and other attractions of the Madison Square Show, Mr. Read passed on to the more important and more practical part of his visit to the U. S. A., namely his experiences of life on a great poultry plant.

We were all glad to learn that our 'Ambassador' was treated with the utmost kindness and good comradeship; that Mr. Firchell's influence obtained for him the full run of whatever shows he attended and that he has brought back with him the most pleasant recollections of American Poultry breeders.

Mr. Read's own experience as a poultry keeper enabled him to pick out the right things to bring forward in his lecture and it goes without saying that he and all who heard him have profited by his experience. It may surprise many who regard the hen as a very humble bird indeed that her value is rated as highly as $10,000 sometimes, while Mr. Firchell possesses birds at from $5,000 to $3 (his lowest price). But he also has birds which no money could buy, unless he were selling his entire plant. At the close of his address Mr. Read passed round some interesting mementoes of his visit and questions were asked and readily answered.

Mr. Barker, in a few well chosen words, then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker which motion on being seconded by Mr. Brown was carried with acclamation.

A discussion then followed as to ways and means of increasing the membership of the Association. Mr. P. R. Butler eventually proposing that a prize be offered for that member who shall bring in the greatest number of new members by July. Mr. Butler himself offered a sitting of eggs from any one of his prize strains for the member who shall bring in the greatest number of new members by the next meeting. After some interesting details had been given as to the success of the incubating scheme, the meeting closed.

The Pope's Illness.

ROME, To-day. The Pope has rallied in a wonderful manner from the serious attack from which he suffered on Sunday and appeared to be on the point of death on Sunday night. The Physician's report last night indicates that the danger point for the present at least is past. Dr. Amici paid a visit shortly before midnight, although the Pope's temperature increased slightly, he found the general condition satisfactory, administered a stimulant, and shortly after the Pope fell asleep. In addition the Pope was able to take some nourishment, he showed much interest in what was happening about him. After his afternoon sleep it was observed that the Pontiff looked very bright, and happy, although he was advised not to talk, he insisted on explaining how he had just awakened from a most wonderful dream. He seemed, he said, to have returned to his beloved Venice that he was in his Patriarchal gondola on the Grand Canal. Everything was blazing with sunlight, when suddenly above St. Mark's, the sky opened and he saw a vision of his dead sister Rosa, who, descending towards him took his hand saying, "The moment has not yet come for you to join me, your work is not yet finished."

The Police Court.

An elderly man, who has only recently been discharged from the Hospital, and who has no home and is without employment, was taken in for safekeeping last night. He was discharged this morning.

Why is the Govt. Suppressing Public Information?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to make a few remarks by way of approval of the manner in which the Opposition are performing their duties in the House of Assembly. I feel proud of them and proud of the country that have produced such men.

Why do the Government refrain from giving the information asked for by the Opposition? Are they afraid to show up their doings in proper style so that the electorate may see it and judge them accordingly?

Just a word before I close, re the P.P.U. I think Mr. Coaker is making a big mistake in putting up candidates in the coming election. As far as I can see a lot of them are inexperienced and uneducated men, and although honest enough in their own way, are not fit men to sit in the House of Assembly.

Thanking you for space,
I am,
Yours truly,
YOUNG VOTER.

Boy Missing.

Richard Hutchings, a twelve-year-old orphan, living with his uncle at 14 New Gower Street, left home on Sunday and has not since been heard of. The boy's friends, who are anxious about him, have enquired everywhere they could think of but cannot get tidings of the missing lad. The police, too, despite a diligent search, have failed to locate him. There is a theory that he is gone to Whitehorse, where his grand people are living.
