may31.11 MINISTER OF MARINE & FISHERIES.

Personal Mention.

Mr. J. J. Lacey left on Wednesday his annual visit to Chicago and will call at various other points in the States before returning here. President H. D. Reid of the Red Newfoundland Company, who was suffering from a severe cold for several days was able to leave his room yesterday. Mr. William Hogan arrived in the city yesterday from Herat's Continent. He is registered at the Crosbie.

S. O. E. CHURCH PARADE.—The S. O. E. will parade to divine service at St. Mary's Church to-morrow afternoon, and a large attendance of members of lodges Empire and Dudley is expected.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. Chas. Anderson, Keegan and Carnell; Messrs. Taylor and Scott; Sisters Fleming and Doyle; and the day and night nurses of Shea Ward, General Hospital, for the kindness and attention given her late husband, while at the institution; also all other kind friends who visited her and sent wreaths and notes of sympathy, most especially his late employer, Mr. W. R. Smallwood, for unfailing kindness through a long and trying illness.—adv.

OFF CAPE ST. FRANCIS.—According to reports received yesterday the Arctic Ice is now almost up to Cape St. Francis, and so far none of the Labrador fishermen have been able to leave.

With the Rod.

(Western Star.)

Two and a half dozen trout were caught at St. Mary's brook on Saturday.

At the Barachois, Goose Arm, there is a run of large trout. One party secured two dozen there Saturday.

Fishing parties who went to Middle Arm on Friday and Saturday found trout fairly plentiful, but the fish not in good condition.

At Hughes Brook trout are showing up fairly well, and parties who frequented there last week secured some fine fish at White Point.

Farm Boy Became a Multi-Millionaire.

Went to New York Carrying Grip; Retired at Age of 40.

When Alfred H. Cosden landed in New York some years ago from his father's farm in Delaware, he had only a grip and a determination to start something. He did start something and retired recently while president of a corporation doing a business of $16,000,000 a year.

Young Cosden's first job, in a little drug store in Dover, Del., didn't promise much, so he headed for New York, and within a few hours after settling foot in the metropolis, landed a job with a growing drug store. By his energy and push he developed the job and the business into a corporation which to-day has its stores lining every principal street in every town of size in this country.

His first job connected him with the Riker drug store, his wages being a dollar a day, the day being from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. In his spare time he took a course at the New York School of Pharmacy. Each week he saved something, depositing in a nearby bank. At the end of eight years he was getting $25 a week.

A year later he heard that one of the partners who owned one-quarter interest, wished to retire and sell his stock. The partner was mightily amused when young Cosden called on him about the matter. Yes, the partner would sell, but the price was $95,000, and he wanted a cash payment of $10,000 to settle the matter.

Cosden left, saying he'd come again. From the office he went straight to the president of his bank, explained the situation, and asked for a loan of $10,000 offering to put up the stock as collateral. He got the money. It did not occur to him that this was rather an audacious thing for a drug clerk, less than 30 years old, to carry through.

From that time Cosden's progress was rapid and brilliant. At the end of six years he was general manager of Riker's and had paid for the stock. He opened a branch store and acquired chains of stores already established. In 1907 he was president of the corporation. When the Riker business was merged with the Hegeman stores, the whole concern was operating 100 retail stores and doing business of $16,000,000 a year.

At 40 Cosden found himself a millionaire. He retired from business to get some fun out of life, and is now living on his great estate on Long Island, N.Y. He hunts and fishes in Canada; breeds horses in Kentucky, and is as busy at his play as he was at his work.

Scrapping the German Submarines.

Considerable importance is attached to the recent purchase of 25 German submarines by a British firm of London and Swansea, which will undertake to break up these vessels and dispose of the scrap metal. This firm is a large ship-breaking company, and during the war handled considerable quantities of scrap iron brought over from the battlefields of France. It recently purchased at auction 25 German submarines, 12 of which it intends to bring to its works in Swansea. It is estimated that the breaking-up value of each vessel will be $12,166, and for the dozen $145,992. The work on each submarine will occupy 10 weeks, and considerable additional labor will be employed by the company. The scrap metal thus obtained will be sold to the various tinplate and steel mills in the Swansea district. This development of the ship-breaking industry in Swansea will be a very important one not only to the port and as a means of employment, but because it will provide great quantities of high-class material for the tinplate and steel industries. The remaining 13 out of the 25 submarines purchased will be broken up by the same company in other parts of the United Kingdom.

Is This Our Civilization?

An unfortunate woman who was found in a cellar yesterday morning with a newly-born infant, was removed to the S. A. Maternity Home, after being attended by Dr. Tait. Though the mother and infant had been more than 48 hours in the damp cold cellar, both were in good health when found.

Scratched Joints vs. Smooth Joints in Gluing.

The common assertion that scratched surfaces make stronger glued joints than smooth surfaces seems hard to prove. Comparative tests made on several occasions by the Forest Products Laboratory all indicate that the strengths of these two types of joints are practically the same.

The test specimens used by the Laboratory were pairs of hard maple blocks, some with smooth and some with tooth-planned contact surfaces. These blocks were glued with a high grade hide glue, allowed to stand for a week, and then sheared apart in an Olsen universal testing machine. Four joints of each type were compared in a single test.

Discovery of the Influenza Germ.

An account of the discovery by Major H. Graeme Gibson, Major Bowman, and Captain Connors of the Allied army medical services, of what is stated to be very probably the causative germ of influenza appeared lately in the London Times. The germ belongs to the order of Bacteriophages and is grown by the Noguchi method. The discovery cost Major Gibson his life, as he fell a victim to the very virulent strains of the germ with which he was experimenting.

Household Notes.

A red-hot stove at any time is a needless waste of fuel.

A bath in soda water is very refreshing when one is tired.

To entertain the convalescent child, take a make-believe trip.

It is a mistake to wash the face just before going out into the cold.

Never hurry your bread making. If you do, the bread is apt to be sour.

When frying fish the fat should be boiling hot before the fish are put in.

Cream cheese and dates make a good filling for a brown bread sandwich.

Little bits of left over rice added to the griddle cakes will make them very good.

Cabbage leaves contain a great deal of gluten, therefore they are very nourishing.

If fruit for stewing is very acid, add a pinch of borax. It will correct the acidity.

Novel candle holders are made of round red apples cut out to hold the candles.

To vary a dish of scrambled eggs, add a few slices of sweet green pepper chopped fine.

Pine shavings make very good bedding for hen's nests and they avoid the breeding of vermin.

When aluminum cooking utensils turn black, boil tomato parings in them; it will clean them.

Remember that a box of elastic bands of assorted sizes is a great convenience in the kitchen.

To make a good meringue, allow two tablespoonsful of powdered sugar to the white of one egg.

Any food cooked in a fireless cooker should boil five minutes before being put into the cooker.

To keep moths out of the piano, rub the woodwork inside of the case frequently with turpentine.

FOOLISH question No. 1 maybe it sounds like that above. They show pretty well driving at; that is, unless a blade regularly it develops an edge and causes that "pulling" and of which you complain.

Not so with the AutoStrop Razor. For the feature, you see, reforms the saw-like blade from shaving; it keeps the blade and it provides you with a sharp blade shave. The beauty of it is you don't have to sharpen the blade from the razor to sharpen it, nor do you have to take the AutoStrop Razor apart to clean it. From first to last—stropping, shaving and cleaning—the blade remains in the razor.

Consider then the greater comfort, convenience, economy of the AutoStrop Razor. How small the price of $2.00 for razor, strop and 12 blades, looks in comparison!
