TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

KING EXPRESSES SYMPATHY. LONDON, Jan. 23. King George, to-day, sent a message of sympathy to Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State, on the death of Pope Benedict.

INDEPENDENT'S OPINION. DUBLIN, Jan. 23. Satisfaction with the agreement reached last week between Michael Collins and Sir James Craig, Premier of Ulster, relative to boundary between North and South Ireland, was expressed to-day by the Independent. "It is a great and decided advance toward Irish union," the newspaper declared, "and this agreement is all the greater because an agreement was scarcely hoped for at this early stage of the negotiations. Since this much has been accomplished, it is too much to hope that greater and more vital agreements will follow future conferences."

REFUGES AND POLICE BATTLE. TRALEE, Ireland, Jan. 23. An attempt on Friday to seize a police automobile, when one civilian and one constable were wounded, led to three hours fighting on Saturday between police and Republicans. Police with rifles and bombs, rushed through the city in an armored car. Many people ran to the churches for shelter, and remained throughout the night.

PURELY FROM AFFECTION. LONDON, Jan. 23. Princess Mary, whose marriage to Viscount Lascelles takes place in Feb., is anxious to remove certain erroneous impressions in connection with various subscriptions, which are being raised for wedding gifts, says an official statement from Buckingham Palace. Her Royal Highness, the princess, is in no way responsible for the initiation of any fund or form of gift, or method of raising subscriptions, and it has always been made clear that any form of gift must remain with the donors themselves. It is needless to add, the statement concluded, that the Princess is deeply touched by the numerous funds initiated, and gratified to think that in these days of stress, many charities will benefit therefrom.

BODY LYING IN STATE. ROME, Jan. 23. In the Basilica of St. Peter, Historic Church of his faith, the body of Pope Benedict XV. lay in state to-day, while vast throngs passed reverently before the body of the late Pontiff as he lay in the Sistine Chapel from the Throne room of the Vatican.

RELIEF WORK. Over 600 men of the unemployed have been given work during the past few days. A large number of these are engaged on the Southside Road. So far their labours are directed in clearing away the snow preparatory to widening the road. About seventy of the men were sent yesterday clearing the Southside Road below the Lions Bridge, and the place is now in good condition for horses and pedestrians. About 30 or 40 men are also engaged with the Reid Co. clearing the snow along the belt line of the street car service.

QUIET REIGNS. SYDNEY, N.S. Jan. 23. Tranquility prevails at New Aberdeen, Glace Bay, where the raiding party of a store of the Dominion Coal Co. took place Saturday, and Sunday. The damage in goods destroyed and taken, is estimated at $80,000. Miners say the Company store refused them credit, in retaliation for their recent strike at No. 9 colliery.

HALIFAX GALE SWEEP. HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 23. A heavy north west gale swept over Nova Scotia last night and this morning, attaining a velocity of about fifty miles an hour. Below zero temperature prevails.

INTERMENT TO-MORROW. ROME, Jan. 23. The interment of the late Pope Benedict has been tentatively fixed for Wednesday afternoon.

CONSISTORY TO BE CALLED. ROME, Jan. 23. The consistory met this evening and fixed February as date for the conclave. The participation of American Cardinals Colling and Dougherty is possible, though date considered doubtful. It is admitted Canadian and Brazilian Cardinals will be unable to attend. To postpone the conclave would require an amendment of the constitution, as the conclave, to select a new Pope, must be called within ten days of the death of the Pontiff.

THOUSANDS HUNTING JOBS. TORONTO, Jan. 23. Eighteen thousand men and women here are searching for work.

NO IMPORTANCE ATTACHED. BELFAST, Jan. 23. Great importance is not attached to the statements issued by Michael Collins and Sir James Craig, relative to a settlement of the Irish boundary. The Northern Whig, Unionist, while taking this view, admits it hopes the agreement is the harbinger of peace, and says that the hitting of the Boycott of Northern Ireland by Sinn Feiners will be a step in that direction. "Bitterness, engendered by the past three years, will not disappear in a day," the newspaper says, "but it should be the earnest endeavour of every one, desirous of peace and good will, to work toward such an end. Real peace is Eileen Lake Abandoned.

COOK DIES IN OPEN BOAT. Minister of Shipping W. H. Cave received the following message this morning: "S. S. Perseus, lat. 42.16, long. 52.30, picked up an open boat with 5 men of the schr. Eileen Lake on board. The cook died the second night in the open boat. The schooner was abandoned on January 19th on the St. Pierre Banks at 4 p.m. She sank at 4.30 p.m. Master and crew in good condition. The steamer is bound to Antwerp."

The Eileen Lake is owned by Lake and Lake, Fortune, and was bound from Oporto to her home port with a cargo of salt. The vessel was seven days out when abandoned. Captain G. H. Noseworthy and crew belong to Fortune. It is apparent from the time of the receipt of the message that the crew were in their boat for four days before being picked up. The cook, who died from exposure, is a married man by the name of Forsey. He leaves a large family. As far as can be learned the vessel and cargo were insured. The Eileen Lake figured in a sensation last year, during the time the Fish Regulations were in force. It will be remembered that the vessel left Port Union with a cargo of fish for Oporto but was obliged through stress of weather to make St. John's. She was held up for some days with a guard of policemen on board owing to some irregularity in her clearance.

Police Court. A drunk and disorderly who was released in payment of $5.00, did not appear, and his deposit was forfeited. A man charged with the larceny of a motor rug was released in bonds to appear when called upon. A drunk who was celebrating the holiday, was fined.

Personal. Hon. W. F. Coaker Minister of Marine and Fisheries is at present in the city. Rev. Fr. Cacciola of Bar Haven is in town on a short visit. The Rev. Gentleman recently returned from New York where he was called on the death of his mother.

DIGBY SAILS TO-MORROW.—During the terrific weather which the S.S. Digby encountered on the passage out from Liverpool some of the machinery got out of order. Since arriving in port a number of engineers from the Reid shop have been engaged making repairs. The ship will sail for Halifax to-morrow morning.
