"Want of Watchfulness Makes a Thief."

Many cases of poor health come from want of watchfulness. But if you keep your blood pure no thief can steal your health.

The one effective natural blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It never disappoints.

Montreal, July 2 .- Robert S. Thomon, employed at Auld's Cork Factory, 642 Laugchietiere street, is the latest recruit to the army who have indorsed Dodd's Kidney Pills in this city. Gradually but surely all prejudiced persons are being won over to the side of the conqueror of Bright's Disease and Diabetes, the two former tyrants of the human race.

Mr. Thomson says: "I used several remedies and consulted some of Montreal's best doctors, but they could not give me any relief. I read of Doid's Kidney Pills, bought a box, and tried them. Before this I could not sleep, having to get up so often, but now I am all right in this and every other respect.

Emperor William Sends a Sympa thetic Message-Incidents of the Great Fire.

New York, July 4 .- Up to 10 o'clock last night 102 bodies had been recovered from the waters of the North River, this being the list of fatalities positively known. The list is growing hour by hour, and today, when the tide is at its lowest, it is believed that a great many more will be recovered. The officials of the North German Lloyd Line are doing everything they can to bring things into some sort of tangible shape. Their main efforts are directed to taking care of the survivors and to securing an accurate list of the missing. They have looked after the transportation to Germany of the survivors who were in condition to go. They also gave them clothing and fed them. MESSAGE FROM EMPEROR WIL-LIAM. Bremen, July 4.-The officials of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company have received a telegram from Emperor William, expressing sympathy with them in the calamity which has befallen the company through the destruction by fire of three of its steamers on the Hudson River, and the burning of its wharves, and hoping the directors will manfully face the trial confronting them. A director of the company estimates the losses falling on the company at about 5,000,000

Incidents.

OF THE GREAT FIRE.

Hidden in the propeller shaft tunnel of the ill-fated Main, a place seven feet broad by seven feet high, running half the length of the great ship, fifteen of the crew saved themselves, and were finally rescued alive. Among them was Fourth Engineer Alfred Petersen, who

"After last night I think I could go through hell without getting scorched. A SCORCHING FURNACE.

"The Main was a furnace for eight hours. You could have broiled a steak on the side wall of the shaft tunnel we were in. There wasn't air enough down there for a snow bird, and if the fifteen of us who endured that un-speakable torture for eight hours had not been hardy and well seasoned, none of us would have lasted fifteen min-

"I tell you it was hades. We ran in there as the only place to go. It is a nasty place to be in even on a nice day, with the ventilators all working. It seems incredible that a man could live there with fire all over the ship except in that little lane, with the sides of the ship so hot they were

"We didn't know what minute would be the end of us. Every time we heard a sound we thought the ship was gone. When, after we had been in the place for hours, and were frantic from noke, our light went out and we got desperate. I made up my mind to get another one at the risk of being smothered to death outside. When I got out of the tunnel I nearly fell, the smoke was so thick about me. I got into the stokehold and groped about for a lamp until I found one. Then a breath of air from the coal bunker caused me to look up.

"Merciful heaven! There was a gleam of light! The port was open. The bunker was full of smoke, and I stumbled back and brought the others. It took us a long time to get a tug to come to us, and we were nearly burned up half a dozen times "I wouldn't go through another such experience for all the ships in the world. Ten minutes in such a black hole would kill an ordinary man." WHAT A REPORTER DID.

Capt. Fred Bouchard, of the immigrant barge Forest Home, who was instrumental in saving 40 lives on the Saale, praised a World reporter, Reginald L. Foster, for his part in the notable scene. Bouchard had rowed with a companion to the burning ship. and noting that unless something could be done at once, the poor fellows below would be doomed, yelled to the skipper of the nearest tug, which hap-

"Besides helping to save these 40 men Foster kept alive a man who was doomed-kept him alive as long as he

A STRIKING SCENE. One of the striking scenes of the great horror was the benediction to the dying administered by Rev. John Brosnan, a Catholic priest. As a spectator he stood upon the Battery sea wall, horrified, when upon a fire boat he saw the forms of victims brought to shore. Remembering his duties, he bravely accepted the offer of a tug captain, who took him as near the burning wrecks as he could. Going from porthole to porthole he administered the last offices to the miserable victims, until there were no more to be seen, receiving for his courageous devotion the unspoken thanks of men who knew their doom.

A stewardess of the Saale, discovered at a port by a crew of life-savers, too late to rescue her, sent by them a message to her mother in Rothenberg, near Hanover, every word of which was fixed in the memory of those who heard it. It was her will, and by it she gave her little property to her mother, and sank back to certain death.

SUCCESS OF A RECONNOITERING PARTY.

Taku, June 29, via Shanghai, July 3, and London, July 4 .- A reconnoitering party, under Lieut.-Commander Keyes, of the Torpedo boat Fame, captured and destroyed the New City and the Port, 12 miles from Taku, June 28. There was little or no opposition. Two bluejackets were injured by an ex-Taku to Tien Tsin, with the exception of a few sunken towboats and light-

In the second attack on the east arsenal on June 27, the Russians had to retire for reinforcements. A force of British, one company of Germans and 80 Americans then engaged the enemy, who with four guns made a determined resistance until the whole allied force supported the artillery. The ailies advanced and stormed the west end of the arsenal. Fifty Chinese were killed. The remainder retired. Lack of cavalry prevented the capture of the whole force. As soon as the allies had occupied the arsena, 1,500 imperial troops made a flank attack from the The British and the Russian guns drove them back. The British casualties numbered 5 killed and 21 wounded. The Americans had only 1 wounded, while the Russians lost 17

The English M.P. Who Is the Founder of the 1,000,000 Guinea Fund for the Cause of Methodism.

Robert William Perk, member of parliament for the Louth division of Lincolnshire, is founder of the "1,-000,000 guinea" fund for the cause of Methodism. Subscriptions are limited to Methodists of England, Scotland and Wales, and the fund, after being raised, will be expended in that territory alone. The basic idea of the fund is that contributions of 1 gwinea shall be made by 1,000. 000 people, whose names shall be inscribed on the historic roll of Methodism's British army. The fund is to be raised by the end of the year. It is the purpose of Mr. Perk, who is one of the most radical Methodists the fund shall go into the educational training of preachers. For chapels, schools and mission halls $1,-350,000 is to be expended. The fund is of such magnitude that even the great Thanksgiving fund of the Wesleyans ($1,000,000) in 1860 sinks into insignificance.

BOER STAMP BOOM.

How the War Enhances the Value of These Pieces of Paper. There is a big boom in South African stamps. The war has enhanced their value and has enormously increased the demand for them. Several dealers whom a Daily Mail representative consulted yesterday agreed that there has never been such a rush on South African issues. Mr. F. R. Ginn of the Strand said: "The great demand just now is for Free State stamps, commandeered by Lord Roberts when he entered Bloemfontein, and converted with the letters 'V.R.I.' stamped upon them in black, They are rare at present, for the curious reason that most of them were lost in the Mexican. "The soldiers in Bloemfontein bought them up as soon as they were issued and were sending them to friends in England. There were all sorts, from halfpenny up to five-shilling stamps. I have sold one of the latter, unused, for £5. The 'Drie Pence Oranje Vrij Staat,' converted into a 'V.R.I,' 21/2d,' fetches 7s 6d. Possibly these stamps will soon be worth as many pounds. "So far no Mafeking stamps have got on to the market, but they will fetch high prices when they come here. The V.R.I. Free Staters are in huge demand, and so will the converted Transvaalers be when Lord

Roberts issues them. "A complete set of Transvaal stamps would cost over £1,000, for a great variety has been issued. Free State, on the other hand, has kept much in the same groove all along."

Some of the old Transvaal stamps, of the British regime of 1877-80, and of the First Republic, now fetch from £20 to £50 .- London Daily Mail,
