NO REGARD FOR DEATH

While in Trenches, Facing the Enemy, Sing Lustily—Germans Reciprocate.

The spirit with which the Canadian boys go into the trenches to fight is typified by the breezy cheerfulness which permeates their letters home from the front. Such a letter has just been received by Miss Flora Mitchell, daughter of F. G. Mitchell, from Charlie Hill, who will be remembered in London sporting circles as a member last season of the London lacrosse team.

Hill came here from Montreal to play lacrosse, and remained in the city for upwards of a year, during which time he was employed in the office of the Stevely store. When war broke out he joined the 1st Battalion, but on arrival in Quebec transferred to the 5th Royal Highlanders of Montreal, and is now a corporal in that regiment.

Writing from "reserve billet," France, he speaks quite cheerfully of life in the trenches, and very ingeniously says: "This is a great war; lots of fun and excitement." He describes the food in the trenches as being very good, and declares that the fact that the men have to cook it themselves makes it taste all the better. His staple diet, he says, consists of hard biscuits soaked in water until they become soft and then mixed with what he says is "the purest turnip jam" and cooked into a pudding "fit for anyone to eat."

High Praise for British.
Hill speaks in terms of high praise of the British soldiers, who, he says, in spite of having had to go through hardships which could not be described on paper, are still just as happy as if nothing special were going on.

While in England, he says, the Canadians were called the "millionaire soldiers," presumably because their rate of pay is so much higher than that of the Imperial troops, but now their name has been changed to the "singing soldiers of the Comedian Contingent," because they are nearly always singing. On one occasion, when his regiment was in trenches only about fifty yards from those of the Germans, the men sang to their enemies at the latter's request and afterwards the Germans reciprocated with songs in their own language.

Football Under Shell Fire.
As an indication of the contempt bred of familiarity with German shell fire, Hill describes a football match played by some of the men when they had been relieved temporarily from duty in the trenches and which attracted the fire of the enemy. Although shells fell within a few yards of the players, he declares, the game proceeded without interruption.

That the Highlanders have carried themselves with honor is proved by the fact, which Hill relates, that the general, while inspecting them a week before the letter was written, declared he had never inspected a finer body of men in his life, and that the reason for the splendid work they had done.

His letter is included in one of the twenty-five envelopes, containing one of the reverse side a form of certificate to be signed by the soldier writing, pledging his honor that the missive contains no reference to anything but private and family matters.

ALLIED FORCES INVEST
TURKS' VITAL DEFENCES

[Canadian Press.]
LONDON, May 4.—A Tenebris dispatch to the Daily News under Monday's date, says:

"Fierce fighting continues day and night in the Dardanelles. The ships of the fleet are working in shifts and the bombardment is incessant. In spite of desperate resistance we have made steady progress both on land and sea. The most vital points of the enemy's defenses now are strongly invested."

A dispatch from Athens filed Sunday to the Daily News says it has been learned from reliable sources that 3,000 wounded Turks have been sent from Gallipoli to Constantinople, while four large transports loaded with German reinforcements have been sent to the Dardanelles.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

THE DIARY OF MARS

Italy has postponed again her decision concerning participation in the war. Rome dispatches say that new offers have been presented on behalf of Austria in an effort to satisfy King Victor Emmanuel's decision not to attend the unveiling of the Garibaldi monument is regarded as indicating that no warlike action will be taken in the immediate future; for it was his opinion in Rome that his presence on this occasion would have been equivalent to a declaration of war on Austria. Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador, is credited with having averted a crisis by presenting these offers.

Information from Vienna, which the Austrian military authorities are now willing to live known, shows that the sudden change on the Russians in Western Galia was the result of an elaborate plan made by the German and Austrian military chiefs several weeks ago. A large army of fresh Austrian and German troops was concentrated before Cracow for the attack.

sources assert the German claims of victory are exaggerated, although it is admitted the movement was an important one. The Russian war office has had little to say concerning this situation, further than to state that where fighting has taken place, the Austrian military chiefs several weeks ago. A large army of fresh Austrian and German troops was concentrated before Cracow for the attack.

Simultaneously with the new attack on the Russian front, Austria has resumed operations against Montenegro, after a lull over the greater part of the winter. An official Montenegro statement says Austrian attacks all along the front were repulsed. At Berlin it is said a new Austrian army has been prepared to resume the campaign against Serbia.

Little news comes from the Dardanelles. One unofficial dispatch says fierce fighting is proceeding day and night. It is reported the Turks have suffered heavily, and that their important defenses are now invested, but such reports as come from Constantinople continue to present an optimistic view of the situation.

AND THIS IS CANADA!

[Winnipeg Tribune (Ind.).]
[Local News.]

T. R. Deacon was asked yesterday whether work had been begun in any of the machine shops of the city, up to the present time in the manufacture of shells for the allied armies, and if not, what his prospects were for beginning this work in the near future. In reply, Mr. Deacon said that no work had been begun either by the Manitoba Iron Works, the Vulcan Iron Works, the Grand Trunk or the Canadian Northern. The delay was very expensive all round, and it was still known when active operations in machine shops could be begun.

There are four essential elements to be supplied from the start before anything can be done. These, Mr. Deacon stated to be the use of plugs, the official gauges, the use of the machine tools, and the use of the machine tools. No lack of activity at the front of this Dominion in attending to party politics. Rush orders for ballots have a personal supervision of the Cabinet. Who is on the job for rush orders for ballots? Why the delay referred to by Mr. Deacon? The time of the Ottawa Cabinet meeting was largely taken up discussing the pros and cons of a general election, the chances of victory or defeat.

CONSCRIPTION TALK
GETS KNOCKOUT BLOW

Sir John French Impressed With Great Value of Territorials.

LONDON, April 22.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The more he has seen of the Territorials, says Sir John French in his Neuve Chapelle dispatch, the more he has been impressed with their value. Sir John's words, "They acquitted themselves with the utmost credit," have taken all of the wind out of the campaign for fictitious conscription on Great Britain. Territorials in time of peace, enlisted for home service only. In the present war, over 80 per cent of the Territorials are known to have volunteered, and of these the larger part are already serving in France or Egypt. They enlist under the general volunteer act for three years or the end of the year.

One advantage of the territorial army over the regulars lies in the various kinds of skilled men in the ranks, who with little training can take up their arms or professions to the use of war. The territorial supply of doctors has been a needed help.

When a foreign service battalion is sent away a home battalion takes its place. It is curious to know that the territorial force has proved more attractive to recruits than Kitchener's army.

GERMANS FROM CANADA
FACE DOMINION TROOPS

John Kidman cables the Mail and Empire:
LONDON, May 3.—A reminder that Canada has sheltered aliens who are now fighting in the German trenches was revealed by an incident related today by a private of the Royal Montreal Rifles who is now wounded in the hospital at Cardiff. On one occasion he heard a guttural voice in the German trenches call out in good English: "Are any of you fellows from the Old Brewery Mission?" The reply was in the form of a few rounds from the rifles in the Canadian trenches. The same private says there seemed to be in the enemy

Ottawa, April 28.—Late last night, long after the door of the Parliament buildings had been closed to visitors, several express wagons drew up to the door and delivered some heavy freight; this morning, when the doors were opened, twenty heavy cases were seen piled in the corridors of the first floor. They measured about four feet by two, and they were addressed to the postmaster of the Canadian expeditionary force in France, to be distributed by him among the paymasters amongst the various battalions, who in turn will distribute them among the regimental officers who are to act as returning officers.

Tonight the express rigs were again busy, but this time with cases. Packed in boxes, the express rigs were again busy, but this time with cases. Packed in boxes, the express rigs were again busy, but this time with cases. Packed in boxes, the express rigs were again busy, but this time with cases.

Pointe d'Outarde, Que., May 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Joseph and Niblon Ross, both well-known residents of this place, have led in a statement as to the benefits they have received from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Joseph says: "I can tell you I am suffering with Dodd's Kidney Pills. I suffer from pains in my stomach and back, and I found a cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. Niblon says: "I suffered from a pain in my side. My brother persuaded me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and I am cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best tonic in the world."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a natural tonic because they cure the kidneys. Cured kidneys get rid of all impurities, all the seeds of disease out of the blood. That means pure blood, and pure blood means strength to every part of the body.

ABLE REPLY TO VOTE OF THANKS
FROM COUNCIL

Good Work of Civic Officials in Retaining Camp Here Appreciated.

LOCAL PAPER IS DERIDED

Its Uncalled-For Attack On Certain Civic Heads Brings Down Anathema.

In reply to the vote of thanks tendered by the council to Mayor H. A. Stevenson, Controller Moore, S. F. Glass, M. P., William Gray, M. P., and the London Board of Trade, for their splendid services in retaining the military camp for London, Controller Moore presented an explanation of the circumstances to the council last evening.

"I think that an explanation is due in this case," declared the controller, "in view of the statements that have been made that the council was lax in its duties and the questions that have been asked why we did not move earlier in the matter."

Controller Moore explained that the militia department had decided, and so advised us, that it was the intention to keep the troops in London. When a deputation from this council waited on the Minister of Militia some time ago, we were assured that the board of trade, have been able to have these matters straightened out, and we will shortly ask the council to pass by-laws for new roads on Elizabeth and Salisbury streets in order that the teaming from the ordnance stores to the camp can be facilitated."

Respectfully Paid to Paper.
Ald. W. A. Wilson paid his respects to the local paper that derided the council for its laxity in allowing the camp to get away from London in no uncertain manner.

"You were in Ottawa Thursday morning when this question?" he asked the Mayor.

"Yes," replied Mr. Stevenson.

"Well, on Thursday afternoon this paper (producing a copy of the paper in question) comes out and calls us a 'precious crew' and a few other things. In fact, everything that the managing editor could name us. I would like to inform that managing editor that this 'precious crew' is the one that is called to him any day in the week. He goes altogether too far in insulting you, your worship, and every other member of the council on the very day that you had the assurance that the camp would stay here. In spite of that he has the gall to call us 'wet nurses'."

"Pardon me," I would like to inform Ald. Wilson what 'wet nurses' really are," broke in Ald. Tancock. "They are a crew who come to the rescue and provide nourishment when all other means have failed. I think that we should consider ourselves complimented when this editor calls us that."

"This is the greatest paper the world ever saw," sarcastically declaimed the alderman. Yes, and Sam Hughes calls the editor, "my genial friend."

"Yes, but that was before he had received the telegrams from the gentleman," interjected Controller J. P. Moore with a smile.

"And if you could have heard what Sam Hughes said about him when we were there, you might think differently," supplemented his worship.

"That's right," corroborated Controller Moore.

Voice of the People

The Glauzibits Issue.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
A few evenings ago while perusing the columns of your valuable paper, I was delighted when I read of the grand stand the boys from the land of the maple leaf had made on the battlefields of France. But, on reading further on, I also felt a heartache for those who were killed and wounded, and felt as though I could almost feel the pulse beats within me of the fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, who at this very moment were looking carefully down the long list of names for an absent one and glad they did not see his name written there. And as I turned page after page, it was war and more war news.

Then, after looking over Cynthia Grey's page, I turned again, and what could I believe my own eyes? There, in large type I noticed that Mr. Glauzibits had resigned. I felt so surprised, I smiled aloud. I was so glad to think that the efforts of Dr. Stevenson, our mayor, and F. G. Mitchell had been successful. But as I read further on, I noticed how and when he was to give up office, and the quibbling of Mr. Pocock and Mr. Chapman (who have done every-thing in their power to denigrate this city) as to when his resignation would take place. It shows how small some men are. At the meeting where Mr. Glauzibits was elected, Mr. Pocock and our mayor believed, and so did the citizens of London believe, that he would quit the office on the 1st of May. But he must give 30 days' notice, according to Mr. Pocock and Mr. Chapman. Why he has had six months' notice to quit! And if he had any spirit he would have left the city months ago. But no, he must pull $15 a day for 30 days more from the city treasury. And on account of this war, brought on by the Von Doers, the Yon Kluks, the Yon Dergs, etc., myself and others have not earned a dollar in seven months. But we are asked to go down in our pockets for another $450. Is there any wonder workingmen trying to pay for their homes have grievances against such men as Mr. Pocock and Mr. Chapman? Let Mr. Pocock and Mr. Chapman go to Germany at the present time, and instead of $15 a day they would get 15 lashes per day. But there is a day of reckoning coming. In eight months more we will have our municipal elections on, and Messrs. McFarlane, Pocock, and Chapman will be left at home. We like men like the lines in Harry Lauder's song:

"I like a man that is a man;
A man that's straight and fair;
The sort of man that will and can
In all things do his share."

I will say this for Mr. Mitchell and Mayor Stevenson, although I do not know Mr. Mitchell. I give them credit for sagacity dealing in this Glauzibits matter. Mr. Mitchell calls a spade a spade, and he is carrying out his election pledges to the letter with the people of London. But then what can we expect from Mr. Glauzibits? A little matter like breaking his word or deceiving the people as to when he would resign is so Bernstein-like that it pleases him immensely.

I have just laid this down to pick up my Evening Advertiser, and on the front page I find an article on this very subject. If the three Glauzibits commissioners try any more German tricks at the 1st of June, Mr. Glauzibits should be taken by a policeman to the city limits and told to "beat it," the same way that P. M. Judd does with all other undesirable that come to our city. In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I am proud of our mayor and Commissioner Mitchell, and hope they will stand to their guns and show Mr. Glauzibits and his henchmen that German tyranny cannot hold sway in this fair city. But I fear that Messrs. Pocock, McFarlane, and Chapman have had so much advice from a limburger flavor that they dare not say "Go, Mr. Glauzibits."

Hoping I have not taken up too much of your valuable space, I remain, young gentlemen, your obedient servant,
FRAE SANDY.

WOULD PROTECT GAME
IN IVAN VICINITY

Association Is Formed, Headed by W. R. Campbell.

IVAN, May 2.—A game protective association has been organized at Ivan, and promises to be well supported. There are some good blocks of timber still left here, and the game should be quite plentiful if protected. W. R. Campbell, Ivan, is president. The farmers are busy getting ready for the corn and root crop. A large area of corn for silo purposes will be sown. The annual "rat home" and banquet of Doris Lodge, A. P. and A. M. Lodge, was visited by District Deputy W. R. Boughner, of London. The two men were out in full force, and many visitors from the city and other surrounding lodges were present. The work was well exemplified in the first degree by Doric officers, and Bro. Boughner gave some good illustrations of the work. Bro. R. McIntyre proved an excellent candidate for the first degree.

Ottawa, May 4.—The shipment of wheat, flour and a large number of other agricultural commodities has been prohibited to the United States except when for consumption in that country, and customs officers at ports of exit are required before allowing exportation to see that bills of lading for such shipments are made out to specified consignees and for consumption in the United States only. Exportation to certain foreign countries through the United States is also allowed, but a license of dispensation from the customs department must be delivered to the customs officer at the port of exit from Canada before exportation is permitted.
